GIVE SMOKES TO YANKS! TRIBUNE SPONSORS DRIVE

Cheer for Boys on Foreign Duty!

"Smokes for Yanks!"

A package from home — cigarets for moments of leisure, tobacco for a comforting pipe when the cold is bitter and the going's tough. A package from home — "Smokes for Yanks!"

Under that slogan, Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., invites the readers of THE TRIBUNE to join with it in providing tobacco for men of the American armed forces patroling the Atlantic ocean and standing guard at American bases from Iceland to the Caribbean sea.

Tribune Starts Fund with $1,000.

THE TRIBUNE has made the first donation to the fund—$1,000.

There are several ways to help provide "Smokes for Yanks." Checks to buy cigarets and tobacco for these American soldiers may be sent. A carton of cigarets, a supply of tobacco, or even a single package of cigarets will receive as warm a welcome, for the sentiment is as important to these men as the gift.

Bundles from home brought joy to the American soldiers overseas in the World war. Those bundles said that America was behind her fighting men, thinking of them, determined that they should have every comfort and enjoyment possible in war. Bundles from home today, as every veteran of the AEF can tell you, will carry the same warmth to the soldiers and sailors of 1941, many of whom are suffering the rigors of extreme climates in an undeclared war.

Every Penny Will Buy Tobacco.

Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., will see that every penny contributed goes to buy cigarets and tobacco and that every package reaches the men.

Cash donations will be acknowledged in THE TRIBUNE. Donors of cigarets and tobacco may inclose self-addressed 1 cent government postal cards if they like, for the convenience of recipients who wish to send their thanks. Givers should understand, however, that the men on secret missions may not be able to answer for some time, lest their cards reveal the location of their command.

Checks and money orders should be mailed to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Tower, Chicago. Cash, cigarets, and tobacco may be brought to this newspaper's public service bureaus in Tribune Tower, 435 North Michigan avenue, or in the loop at 1 South Dearborn street. Other reception centers may be established later.

Their Range Is Wide.

Men of the army, the navy, the marines, and the coast guard are now on convoy and patrol duty in ships and planes on the Atlantic or serving at bases in Iceland, Newfoundland, and islands stretching thru the Caribbean. They are far from home and friends, far from the conveniences and opportunities for enjoyment that their brothers in training within the continental United States enjoy.

A package of cigarets or tobacco for their pipe will cheer them in the Atlantic's fog or in the loneliness of a strange and unknown land.

Chicago has given with a generous hand this year to the peoples of England and other foreign lands. American boys are serving their country in climates more intemperate than England's. They are serving on stormy seas, and winter is approaching. They are serving in desolate outposts in unfriendly lands.

They should not be forgotten, in the opinion of those who indorsed the "Smokes for Yanks!" movement yesterday, any more than the peoples of foreign lands for whom 58 separate organizations have asked Chicagoans to open their hearts and their pocketbooks in bundle and relief campaigns this year.

"Smokes for Yanks."

Windsors Back in Nassau After U. S.-Canada Trip

NASSAU, the Bahamas, Nov. 7 (AP).—The duke of Windsor, governor of the Bahamas, and the duchess arrived by plane from Miami, Fla., late today completing a six week holiday in Canada and the United States.

RUSSIANS DRIVE GERMANS BACK FROM MOSCOW

Russian armies defending Moscow were credited by British sources yesterday with developing a sustained counteroffensive which had driven the Germans back several miles west and northwest of the capital. The Reds were said to be achieving some success in an attempt to reopen Moscow's communications with besieged Leningrad.

The Germans admitted their drive on Moscow had been stopped by bad weather.

Apparently concentrating their attack in the Crimea, Nazi dive bombers and artillery hammered at the approaches to the Black sea port of Sevastopol. The German high command announced gains in fighting in the Crimean mountains, but acknowledged the Russians were putting up a stubborn defense.

REJECT 7½ PCT. PAY RAISE SET BY F. D. R. BOARD

Prepare to Call Out 350,000 Workers.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

A strike of approximately 350,000 operating employés of the railroads will be called shortly to enforce a demand for a 30 per cent wage increase, executives of the Big Five operating brotherhoods announced last night. No official date has been set, but it is expected the strike will be ordered for Dec. 5.

The strike plans were announced after general chairmen of the Big Five on the individual railroads had "flatly rejected" the recommendation of the Presidential fact finding board that the workers be given a temporary wage increase of 7½ per cent. The chairmen urged their chief executives to "execute the strike order authorized by their members Sept. 5."

Roads Accept Board Plan.

Meantime, the representatives of the railroads announced that they accept the recommendations of the President's board.

The situation facing the nation's major transportation system today is this:

1. The engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen, and switchmen—the operating employés—may walk out at any time after Dec. 5.

2. The approximately 900,000 nonoperating unionists [including maintenance of way employés, shop workers, clerks, mechanics, and many others] are sending their general chairmen to a meeting in Chicago on Wednesday to decide what to do about the fact finding board's recommendation. It is expected that this group, too, will decide to call a strike, which already has been authorized by the employés.

Peace Machinery Exhausted.

3. All the machinery set up by the railway labor act for the peaceful settlement of railroad labor disputes has been used in the current controversy. First, direct negotiations which took place late in July and early in August between the railroads and their workers failed. Second, the efforts of the National Mediation board to settle the compromise failed on Sept. 4. The third and final instrument—the fact finding board—was named by President Roosevelt on Sept. 10, with Dean Wayne L. Morse, school of law, University of Oregon, as chairman.

4. The hope exists that President Roosevelt may use his high office to intervene in the present controversy as he has in recent labor troubles. It has been suggested that the President ask the parties to the dispute to reach a compromise based on the fact finding board's recommendations. Opinions have been expressed in both official labor and railroad circles that there will be no strike.

Set Date Next Week.

Some confusion took place late yesterday when it was reported that the Big Five had named Dec. 5 as the date for the start of the strike. Actually, according to Alvanley Johnston, spokesman for the Big Five and the head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and C. J. Goff, vice president, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the official date will not be set before Monday or Tuesday.

Goff said that when the strike time is determined, it will become operative on three succeeding days. On the first date, one third of the operating employés on the western, southeastern, and eastern roads will walk out. The second third in each district will go out the second day and the strike will be made complete on the third day. Thus if the strike is started Dec. 5 it will not be complete until Dec. 7.

Dissatisfied with Report.

In their official announcement of the rejection of the fact finding board's recommendation, the Big Five said:

"The report to the chief executives from the general chairmen of the five operating brotherhoods evidences universal dissatisfaction with the board's conclusions, and expresses general dissatisfaction on the part of the membership to a degree never equaled in the memory of senior

Denied Police Guards After Goon Attacks

Orville Gabrielsen.

Helmuth Miske, a dairy employé who doesn't want to join a union, was attacked by labor goons yesterday and severely beaten. He was cut about the eyes and suffered a possible broken nose.

Miske works for Maywood Farms, Inc. The dairy is being picketed by the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, local 753 [AFL]. It has been trying to force five truck drivers of the dairy to join the union. Nearly 100 pickets milled about the dairy or sat in nearby automobiles during the day.

Despite the violence yesterday Sheriff O'Brien and Chief James B. Fleming of the county highway police last night notified the dairy officials that a police escort supplied for the dairy's trucks during the day would have to be withdrawn. They said that other duties tied up the policemen. Attorney William H. Sloan said the dairy would hire guards to protect deliveries.

Union Official Arrested.

Miske said that he and another employé of the dairy, Orville Gabrielsen, were returning from a restaurant when they were set upon by 10 or 15 pickets. He said that they were hit with brass knuckles and blackjacks. Gabrielsen was kicked when he fell and suffered several face and body bruises.

Gabrielsen charged that Peter Hoban, vice president of the drivers' union, was one of those who assaulted him. Hoban was arrested on a charge of assault and battery. Hoban then alleged that Gabrielsen had hit him with an iron bar and signed a complaint charging assault with a deadly weapon. Both men were released on bail of $100 apiece and a hearing was set for Nov. 14.

Other Violence During Day.

Other acts of violence incident to the attempt to unionize the dairy were:

1. Herman Wadler, owner of an independent milk store at 6520 South Cicero avenue, Stickney township, was fired upon by two men while he was driving his truck to the Maywood dairy for milk. He was curbed by two men who were in an automobile near 55th street and Central avenue. He backed away and the two fired six shots at him. One bullet lodged in the sun visor of his automobile.

2. Herman Pals, a farmer near Palatine, reported that two carloads of pickets boarded his truck near Higgins road and River road while he was en route to the Maywood dairy and started to dump cans of milk. Several others started hacking the truck with hatchets and an ax. The vandals jumped in their cars and sped away when a police squad car appeared. They left behind an ax and a revolver. Pals was able to drive his truck and the remains of the milk to the dairy.

Ask Contempt Hearing.

Attorneys Sloan and William B. Gemmill, representing the dairy, asked Judge John C. Lewe in the Superior court for a contempt of court hearing in connection with an injunction issued against the union. The hearing had been set for next Monday.

Attorney David Riskind, acting for the union, told Judge Lewe that the violence was not caused by union men and that he would have witnesses in court Monday.

Leslie G. Goudie, president of the Teamsters' Joint council, with which the milk drivers' union is affiliated, said Miske and Gabrielsen provoked the assault by calling the employés vile names.

NOTE TO SANTA CLAUS: OPM SAYS YOU MUST CUT OUT CELLOPHANE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Merchandisers received orders today to curb that impulse to swathe in cellophane everything on the shelf from perfume to shovels.

In ruthless disregard of the coming yuletide, the Office of Production Management forbade the further manufacture of gift wrapping, Christmas bells, sipping straws, and paper hats from cellophane and similar transparent materials. The order directed that no more be used in packaging a long list of items, including:

Razor blades, cosmetics, soaps, textiles, metal goods, sporting goods, paper products, wax articles, hardware, electrical appliances, decorations, novelties, and flowers.

The order was made effective immediately, but dealers will be permitted to use up existing stocks.

A shortage of chlorine, used in making smokeless powder and in chemical warfare, made the curtailment necessary, the OPM said.

Bandits Shoot Up 2 Taverns, Western Style

Two northwest side taverns were robbed in quick succession last night by three young bandits who wounded a man in each place and terrorized the customers with wild shots.

The first raid, apparently modelled after the tactics of the wild west, started a few minutes before midnight.

Fires Twice Into Floor.

One of the gunmen, armed with an automatic rifle, entered the tavern at 2624 Fullerton avenue. He climbed on a stepladder near the door, fired two shots into the floor and announced the stickup.

His two accomplices, one armed with a shotgun and the other with another rifle and a pistol, came in and forced Joseph Barsanti, the owner, and 30 customers to surrender $300.

At that point, Frank Mostardini, 47 years old, the cook, entered the barroom from the kitchen.

"What's going on?" he asked.

A fusillade of shots, directed at the back bar, was his answer. More than 20 bottles of whisky and wine were smashed.

One of the bullets ricocheted from a bottle and wounded Mostardini in the left leg. He was treated at a physician's office.

The next stop for the bandits was the tavern of Carl Anderson at 3019 Sheffield avenue. This time the robbers entered together, firing shots into the floor and ceiling.

Again one of them announced the holdup.

"You're kidding us; you don't mean it," Ambrose Wagner, 46, of 8041 Lincoln avenue, Skokie, replied.

Bullet Is Patron's Reply.

The robber with the pistol fired a bullet thru Wagner's left leg.

"I said this is a stickup," he yelled.

The 15 other customers in the bar and Anderson gave the robbers $100. Wagner was taken to Illinois Masonic hospital.

All of the gang were dressed in dark clothing, including black leather jackets. A fourth man served as chauffeur.

The gang had stolen the car from a garage at 1239 South Pulaski road after terrorizing three employés and three customers, whom they robbed of $26.

WAR SET FEASTS IN SPLENDOR AT SOVIET EMBASSY

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—There were sounds of revelry in the swank soviet embassy tonight as some 1,500 capital interventionists raised glasses of champagne and vodka in a toast to the Red revolution and Little Joe Stalin.

The hubbub of polite conversation and the lilt of gay laughter; the heady aroma of vodka and the salty tang of caviar floated out the former Pullman mansion to a Tribune reporter who stood at the curb as forlorn as the poor little match girl.

Past him streamed a parade of limousines bearing high ranking administration officials, members of congress, diplomats, capital society's great and journalistic colleagues to the foot of the red carpeted stairway to the reception line. Traffic was tied up for blocks in each direction.

Guests Are Handpicked.

Without exception, as far as curbstone observation could tell, the guests who received the white cardboard invitations bearing the gold embossed soviet seal of a hammer and sickle surmounting the globe were members of the interventionist set.

The Reds carefully handpicked the guests to make sure that not a single fish egg or a single drop of fiery vodka would go down the gullet of any one who believes that America has no place in Europe's quarrels.

The American representation at the reception, held in commemoration of the 24th anniversary of the soviet revolution, was headed by no less a figure than Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, who earlier in the day was disclosed as having administered a verbal spanking to Finland for warring on Russia.

They're Speaking Again.

The glacial features of the diplomat thawed into smiles to signal the return of the embassy to a complete social understanding with the New Deal after two years of as sound snubbing as has ever been delivered to an embassy.

Two years ago the administration ignored the 22d anniversary of the soviet's greatest day in protest against the conclusion by Stalin of the alliance with Hitler which gave the Nazi legions the green light for the start of war. Not a state department official, cabinet member or senator showed up at that time.

Again last year, in protest to Russia's attack on Finland, mountains of caviar and gallons of champagne and vodka went untouched. The soviets had to be satisfied with a handful of axis diplomats in whose company the Reds did not feel secure because the diplomats seemed to be eyeing the embassy as tho they expected to move in any day. Today, no invitations went to German hands.

Mrs. Hull Arrives Early.

Mrs. Cordell Hull along with Undersecretary and Mrs. Welles was among the first to arrive. Secretary of State Hull makes a practice of not attending parties so that the presence of Mrs. Hull signified that the Reds are in the best of standing at the White House.

Mrs. Constantin Oumansky, wife of the ambassador, received her guests. Acting as host was Andrei A. Gromyko, counselor and chargé d'affaires of the embassy. The hostess's joy was mingled with bitterness over the

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

MEASURE O.K.'D BY 50-37 VOTE; GOES TO HOUSE

Must Act on Vital Changes.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—The senate tonight passed the Roosevelt administration's neutrality repealer, which authorizes an undeclared air and naval war against Germany and Italy. The vote on passage was 50 to 37.

Bennett C. Clark.

A more representative test of opinion on the war issue than final roll call was the vote of 49 to 38 by which the senate rejected an amendment by Sen. Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.], to strip from the resolution provisions authorizing American ships and American citizens to enter combat zones and belligerent ports.

The resolution now goes back to the house of representatives for its consideration of those provisions which were added by the senate foreign relations committee.

House May Reject Amendment.

The resolution passed by the house of representatives authorized only the arming of American ships and the Clark amendment would have confined the senate measure to that authorization. Opponents of the legislation still are hopeful that the house will reject the senate amendments.

Voting for the resolution on final passage were 43 Democrats, 6 Republicans, and 1 Independent—George W. Norris, the Nebraska radical, who cast one of the six senate votes against the declaration of war against Germany in 1917. Voting against the neutrality repealer were 15 Democrats, 21 Republicans, and 1 Progressive, Robert M. La Follette Jr. of Wisconsin, whose father also voted against the war resolution in 1917.

Illinois senators divided on the issue, Wayland Brooks [R.] voting against the repealer and Scott Lucas [D.] voting for it.

Reflects Divided Nation.

The neutrality repealer passed the senate by the narrowest margin yet recorded on a major administration measure involving foreign policy. Administration leaders had appealed for an overwhelming vote as a reflection of national unity. Instead the vote reflected a greater division of national sentiment on the war issue than the country has known in any of its previous wars.

Significant was the vote of the members of the naval affairs committee on the neutrality repealer, as it is concerned immediately with a naval war. Members of the committee most intimately familiar with the condition of the navy voted 10 to 7 against the resolution.

Scene of Solemnity.

The scene in the senate as it approached a vote on the neutrality repealer, after 11 days of debate, was one of quiet solemnity. An ominous sense of impending catastrophe seemed to pervade the chamber. White haired Sen. Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.] compared it to the scene in the house of representatives 24 years ago when Woodrow Wilson asked a joint session of congress to declare war against Germany.

"I recall his first line," Sen. Johnson told the senate. "He said: 'It is terrible to take this great, peaceful country of ours into war.' His words had an effect upon me that I have never forgotten. I spent that night almost sleepless, thinking of war and of what war meant."

Then turning to the Democrats, Johnson said:

"If you people on this side can be cajoled or can be threatened or can in any way be induced to vote for war against your better instincts and your better manhood, then I say you do something unto your country that you can never undo. At 75 years of age I do not want upon my soul the infamy of taking this country into war when I believe fully that it ought not to be taken into war."

Smith Assails Opponents.

Sen. Ellison D. Smith [D., S. C.], dean of the senate, pronounced even more scorching animadversions on the consciences of the Democrats.

"If we had a secret ballot here there wouldn't be ten votes for this legislation," he said. "We ought to have a secret ballot to give these cowards a chance to speak their convictions."

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, who made an impassioned closing speech for the resolution, did not deny that it means war.

Barkley said he hated war, detested it, because he had seen it "in all its hideousness," in the hospitals, in the training camps and "on the battle-fronts." He did not say what battle-fronts, but presumably he referred to his junket to France as a member of a congressional committee during the World war.

Sensational Speech by Tydings.

Passage of the momentous legislation came after a sensational speech by Sen. Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.], ranking majority member of the naval affairs committee, who condemned the neutrality repealer as a measure to take an unprepared nation all the way into the European war, unconstitutionally and treasonably.

In an extraordinary philippic revealing his position on the resolution for the first time, the Maryland senator accused President Roosevelt of arrogating to himself the powers of a Hitler in ordering American naval forces to make war on axis submarines without authorization by congress.

He charged the President and his administration with deliberate attempts to deceive the American people by pretending that American destroyers were attacked first by German submarines. He said he had read the confidential reports to the navy department and they demonstrated that the American destroyers Greer, Kearny, and Reuben James were the aggressors in naval engagements with German submarines.

Calls Undeclared War Treason.

To take this country into war unprepared, Sen. Tydings said, "would be treason to God, treason to brotherhood, treason to our form of government, treason to the men who wear the uniforms of our country."

Yet this has been done, he said.

"We have twisted Hitler's tail on the floor of the senate and in the White House," he added. "We have started a shooting war without legal sanction, while our little army of a million and a half men walk up and down, up and down, with beer trucks for tanks, wooden clubs for machine guns, and with imaginary anti-aircraft guns to hold off the mightiest military force in the history of the world."

Modes of Warfare.

If the neutrality act is scrapped, Tydings said, "the United States will at once engage in three modes of warfare—on the sea, under the sea, and in the air. There is only one other way—on the land.

"Those who vote for the repeal of the neutrality act will, in my judgment, have voted to put the United States into the war in all four ways. And this will have been accomplished without a declaration of war on the part of congress.

"If the safety of the United States and the preservation of our institutions and our American way of life depend upon the survival of the Russians, English and Chinese, and the crushing of Hitler, then in God's name let us take our stand boldly, openly and fully, and thus make overwhelmingly certain that our side wins and that our institutions and our way of life are safe.

A Political Expedient.

"If, on the contrary, our institutions and our American way of life can survive without engaging in hostilities, then let us do that. Our present course is neither fish nor fowl—it is the usual politically expedient, hit-and-run action of a second rate, fourth class 'yes-but' government."

If congress votes to put this country into war without giving the men who will do the fighting and dying the support they should have, Tydings said, "then the biggest lynching party that ever descended on any capital should string our carcasses as ornaments on the telegraph poles of Washington."

Lists Needs for War.

Tydings listed seven indispensable prerequisites to the prosecution of a successful war by the United States:

"First—Henceforth there must be complete frankness by the President, his cabinet, and the congress with the American people.

"Second—Strikes must end and stay ended during this war.

"Third—There must be a drastic increase in all forms of taxation at once.

"Fourth—Every expenditure which is not essential to our national defense, which can possibly be eliminated, must be stopped.

"Fifth—There must be a price ceiling on everything—on profits, on wages, on farm products, and all other things.

"Sixth—We must immediately double the number of training camps in this country, for we will have need for them.

"Seventh—We must immediately commence to raise an additional army so that the total will be not less than 4 million men and may go as high possibly as 5 or 6 million men.

All Involved in Vote.

"These are all locked up in the vote which we are about to take. Unless we are willing to do all seven of these things, we will not only not keep faith with our allies or adequately safeguard our institutions and our American way of life, but we will break faith with those who will make the supreme sacrifice on the ocean's bosom and in foreign lands.

"There is no such thing as a half-way war, particularly against the might of the axis powers."

Tydings said the President and his cabinet had treated the American people as if they were children. They have had nothing but deception, misinformation, a withholding of facts and a vacillating leadership from the President all the way down, he declared.

U. S. Ships the Aggressors.

"We are told," Tydings continued, "after the battle between the U-boats and the destroyers, first the Greer, then the Kearny, then the Reuben James, that there has been no change in the situation. There has been a drastic change in the situation.

"A reading of the confidential reports of the navy department on these three encounters clearly shows that the United States, whether rightly or wrongly, was the aggressor in all three cases, yet when they first happened the public was led to believe that while they were proceeding innocently they were fired upon by an axis submarine.

"I do not criticize the navy at all. It was acting under orders from the President without any authorization of congress to make war upon these axis boats in the middle of the ocean. The so-called neutrality act was still on the statute books. Neither the constitution nor the congress authorized the President to start this war.

Says President Ignored Congress.

"Every man here knows that under our constitution congress has the sole and exclusive and absolute power of declaring war. The President, in the pure Hitlerian technique, arrogated to himself the complete power of the congress. War was declared by executive fiat and not by the chosen representatives of the people.

"The President did not come before the congress and ask for the authority to order our ships to shoot. He snapped his fingers at this body for he had learned long since that we no longer have a congress of 531 representatives and that he may do what he wishes whether the power be conferred upon him to take such action or not.

"Now we have an executive war, not a national war. Thus, while we are going to make the world safe for democracy elsewhere, we are proceeding rapidly to make it unsafe at home."

As a striking example of Presidential hypocrisy Sen. Tydings cited Mr. Roosevelt's campaign speech of Oct. 30, 1940, in which he gave his solemn pledge to the mothers and fathers of the country that their boys would not be "sent into any foreign wars."

"Of course," Tydings remarked sarcastically, "the men on the Reuben James were taking part in a purely domestic war! What a graphic picture the Reuben James made as she went down in the Mississippi just west of Natchez!

Tydings paid a gallant tribute to two of his colleagues who also were World war heroes, Brooks [R., Ill.] and Clark [D., Mo.], both leading anti-war senators.

"I have watched as we have approached this step," Tydings said. "I have seen my friend Brooks, the senator from Illinois, with a distinguished record on the battlefields of Europe; I have seen my friend Bennett Clark, with whom I have frequently disagreed and on foreign policies against whom I have frequently voted, who likewise has a fine war record, and there are others in this body.

"I know these men recall the stern days of 23 years ago when men with whom you shared a cigaret or a beef steak or a can of cold tomatoes were shortly thereafter killed or shot to pieces."

Recalls Own Experience.

Tydings then recalled some of the experiences of the machine gun companies he commanded in France as an example of the terrible cost of going to war unprepared. He said he commanded six companies of machine gunners, 72 guns and 1,200 men.

"In my command, the machine gun units of the six companies of the 57th brigade, there was heavy fighting," the senator said. "We left lots of those fellows over there in France. We would scour the fields at night and get in the bodies that we could not get in during the daytime.

"Of the 1,200 men in my unit, there were about 1,000 actually engaged in hostilities. The other 200 were bringing up ammunition, employed as cooks, and the like, but they saw service, too. Of the 1,000 men actually engaged, the record shows 256, or 25 per cent, were killed or wounded, fighting with British guns, with French artillery as support.

"Of course there was some balm in the fact that we captured more prisoners from the Germans than we had men killed and wounded, but the men who died never knew that.

"And then there were the horses of my unit. In these six companies, 56 of them were killed and 26 more were wounded. Of course while the horses did not know it, they died for a good cause, too. They helped to make the world safe for democracy."

MRS. BETSY CUSHING ROOSEVELT.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 7 (AP).—A modified property settlement under which Capt. James Roosevelt will pay his former wife, Betsy Cushing Roosevelt, $25,000 instead of the $50,000 originally agreed to, was approved today in Superior court. No reason was given for the reduction.

When the divorce was granted here March 8, 1940, Roosevelt agreed to pay the $50,000 within five years, with an alternative of $5,000 yearly for life.

Mrs. Roosevelt received $68,000 at the time of the divorce. Roosevelt later married Romelle Schneider, a nurse.

AMERICANS BACK FROM ICELAND RAP CENSORSHIP

Designed to Hamper War Foes' Drive, They Say.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 7.—American newsmen and other passengers who arrived here today on the Icelandic steamer Godafoss severely criticized the United States army's censorship in Iceland. They declared this censorship apparently is designed to smother news which might spur noninterventionist sentiment.

These passengers also told hitherto unrevealed details of the sinking of the American destroyer Reuben James, and of attacks on their convoy by packs of submarines.

Neil Sullivan, a newsreel cameraman returning from Iceland, said that Maj. Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, commanding American forces on the island, censored a dramatic Associated Press story of makeshift surgery performed on a member of the crew of the crippled United States destroyer Kearny.

"Kills" Unfavorable News.

Gen. Bonesteel called it "too gruesome," Sullivan said. "He seems to want to 'kill' anything that might be used by the noninterventionists."

The news cameraman added that the surgery story was moved over the AP wires only after much delay and argument.

The 31 passengers described their 16 day voyage from Reykjavik as a period of constant peril, punctuated by the heavy boom of exploding depth charges and the sight of distress flares sent up by the torpedoed American naval tanker Salinas.

U. S. Destroyers Relieve British.

On its way to the United States, the Godafoss and four American ships made a rendezvous south of Iceland with 38 ships from British ports. There American destroyers took over the job of protecting the convoy, and British warships turned back east, passengers related.

On Oct. 29 at 5 a. m., the Salinas was torpedoed. The convoy scattered and destroyers zigzagged among the ships, dropping depth charges. The next night the Reuben James was torpedoed and sunk as it helped the Salinas to port.

For five days the submarine pack followed the convoy, which went 1,000 miles out of its way. Passengers slept only in the daytime, and wore lifebelts at all times. One man said 240 depth charges were dropped.

A respite came when the convoy steamed into a Canadian port for water, passengers said. Not until then did they learn that the destroyer sunk was the Reuben James.

WE HAVE PASSED THRU DARKEST HOUR: CHURCHILL

HULL, England, Nov. 7 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill, praising the war rôles of the United States and Russia, today told the British people that "we have passed thru the darkest and most perilous period of this struggle and are once more the masters of our own destiny." He told war workers the improvement of Britain's position since Dunkirk.

After pointing out that Britain was not "any longer alone," the prime minister said "our own steadfast conduct and the crimes of the enemy have brought other great nations to our side."

"One," he said, "is struggling with Herculean vigor with results which are profoundly significant. The other, our kith and kin across the Atlantic ocean, are straining every nerve to equip us with all we need to carry on the struggle, regardless of the cost to them or the risk to their sailors and ships.

"They are driving forward with supplies across the ocean, aiding us to strike down and strangle the foe that molests passage of those supplies."

PRESS FREEDOM IS RULED BEYOND NLRB RESTRAINT

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 7 (AP).—The right of a newspaper editor to deliver his opinion of any labor leaders in an editorial was held to be unchallengeable today by James C. Batten, National Labor Relations board examiner hearing charges that the Birmingham Post engaged in unfair labor practices.

Batten ruled that any editorial attitude of the Post could not be construed as unfair to the American Newspaper Guild [CIO].

The remark came when James E. Mills, Post editor, was being questioned by Thomas J. Edwards, counsel for the paper, as to whether Mills ever had said anything derogatory about the guild and its leaders or any other labor leaders. Without hesitation, Mills answered:

"I might have in editorials written things that could be construed as derogatory—," but before he could complete his answer, Batten declared "That is a right that cannot be questioned here."

The newspaper, a Scripps-Howard afternoon daily, suspended publication Sept. 6 following a strike of guild members in connection with demands for a guild shop and varying salary increases.

167 in Elkhart Protest Neutrality Act Changes

Elkhart, Ind., Nov. 7 [Special].—A telegram bearing 167 signatures was drafted here today by the Elkhart America First committee to President Roosevelt protesting any change in the neutrality act and urging immediate steps toward mediation of the European war. The action followed a talk here in which the Rev. Father John O'Brien of Notre Dame university urged mass appeals to the President and to congress asking preservation of the neutrality act as the last barrier separating the United States from participation in the war.

Sues for Divorce

LILY DAMITA.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 7 (AP).—Screen Actor Errol Flynn and his French born actress wife, Lily Damita, have come to the parting of the matrimonial ways after six years. Charging cruelty, Miss Damita filed suit for divorce today, saying they had agreed on a property settlement and asking the custody of their 5 month old son. The couple was married in Yuma, Ariz., in 1935 and separated, the complaint said, last Aug. 1. Miss Damita retired from the films shortly after her marriage.

JAIL FRENCHMEN IN HUNT FOR NAZI OFFICER'S KILLERS

VICHY, France, Nov. 7 (AP).—Police today announced the arrest of a group of persons accused of being terrorist plotters responsible for the assassination of Lieut. Col. Paul Friedrich Hotz, German commandant at Nantes, on Oct. 20.

French and German police, who cooperated in the arrests, also were declared to be hot on the trail of another group which caused the assassination of Dr. Hans Gottfried Reimers, German military lawyer, at Bordeaux on Oct. 21.

The number held was not disclosed, but some of the arrests were reported to have been made in Paris after discovery of terrorist supplies during a house to house search. The Germans executed 50 hostages at Nantes and 50 at Bordeaux last month for the two assassinations. One hundred more hostages who were scheduled to face firing squads received indefinite stays.

At Nice, authorities announced the arrest of 30 more persons accused of being members of a De Gaullist ["Free French"] railway mens' organization. Five arrests have been announced previously.

BERLIN BOMBED BY RAF; NAZIS DOWN 6 PLANES

LONDON, Nov. 8 [Saturday] (AP).—The royal air force bombed Berlin and targets in the Rhineland during the night as German warplanes scattered bombs over a large area of Britain.

[The Germans acknowledged the RAF had attacked Berlin and other places in Germany, and reported six raiders were downed.]

At least six widely separated towns in Britain were attacked by German raiders overnight, and the government acknowledged some fatalities but said damage was limited mostly to residential quarters. One German plane was reported shot down off the coast.

The big port cities of Wilhelmshaven and Bremen in northwestern Germany and docks at the German used French port of Le Havre were bombed Thursday night, the air ministry said. British planes also laid mines along the German held coast despite unfavorable weather. One British bomber was missing.

CHICAGO TROOPS START FOR HOME TODAY IN TRUCKS

Regiment Will March in Armistice Parade.

BY JACK THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp Forrest, Tenn., Nov. 7.—Guidons flying and flags unfurled, the 33d division tomorrow will begin its first mass return to Illinois since the former National Guard troops arrived here for federal training last March.

Maj. Gen. E. T. Lawton.

At 7 a. m., 5,400 men of the Chicago contingent will start on a three day convoy in 724 motor vehicles, their destination being Michigan avenue for the Armistice day parade. Between 1,100 and 1,200 men on furloughs in the city also are expected to parade with their outfits Tuesday.

A second contingent of Illinoisans—3,315 troopers from downstate—will start their homeward trek Sunday morning in a convoy of 370 trucks and cars bound for Springfield. A third convoy, the 3d battalion of the 129th infantry [835 men], will leave Monday to join the Memphis, Tenn., Armistice day parade.

It's a Big Event.

Tonight officers and men were busy with their last minute button polishing and shoe shining. It's a big event in the eyes of the division, for the men will have a full day of liberty Wednesday, before starting back to camp. They will bivouac in armories while in Chicago.

Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, commanding the division, left for home today on furlough, his first visit to Chicago since he came here with the men in March. Accompanied by his staff, who will be in the Chicago convoy, Gen. Lawton will lead the division passing in review before Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, commander of the 2d army.

This mass movement of nearly 9,000 men to Illinois does not, of course, represent the entire strength of the division. Discharges because of the 28 year age limit or because of dependents have reduced the roster from 18,000 men to 16,800. Between 25 and 40 per cent of the remainder are on furlough.

Artillery Unit Coming.

When the troopers roll up Michigan avenue to show the home folks what kind of soldiers they are after eight months of training they will be joined by another unit, which always has marched with them on Armistice day. Half of the 184th Field Artillery, Chicago's colored regiment, formerly the old 8th infantry, will come over from Camp Custer, Mich., for this ceremony.

To judge from casual conversations with the men the morale of the division is high. There is a minimum of grumbling. If given a preference, to be sure, the men would rather be home working. But, for the most part, they are determined to make a good job of being in the army.

Prices Termed Reasonable.

They have good food and warm clothing, but complain about not being allowed to wear civilian clothes when visiting nearby Tullahoma or larger Tennessee towns. The men say Tullahoma prices are reasonable, and the townspeople, now that they are used to soldiers, are friendly and coöperative.

On the three day movement to Chicago the infantrymen, who will do their traditional foot slogging in the parade, will ride in style in the trucks of the field artillery, carrying new Garand rifles. Starting from here as a single column, the 5,400 soldiers will divide at Evansville, Ind., into two convoys.

One commanded by Brig. Gen. A. L. Cubertson of the 66th infantry brigade, will go by way of Champaign, where an overnight stop is scheduled Sunday. In this column will be the 132d infantry, the 1st battalion of the 123d field artillery, the 124th field artillery, the 108th engineers, and the 108th medical regiments. The 123d, only non-Chicago outfit, will display a full equipment of its big 155mm. guns.

The second column, led by Col. Robert Muhrman, will swing straight up thru Danville, Ill. In it will be the 122d field artillery, the 131st infantry regiments. The Springfield bound column also will divide at Cairo into two convoys, commanded respectively, by Brig. Diller S. Myers and Col. Robert W. Davis. On the trip to Chicago, the Danville convoy will cover 535 miles and the Champaign convoy 566 miles. Those going to Springfield will drive 520 miles in one column, by way of Salem and Decatur, and 481 miles in the other thru Murphysboro and Litchfield.

Welcome Days Designated.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 7 (AP).—Gov. Green issued a proclamation today urging an "enthusiastic and heart warming reception" for Illinois soldiers of the 33d division who will return from Camp Forrest for Armistice day parades. The governor designated Monday and Tuesday as "welcome days" for the returning soldiers.

DASHES ITALIAN JEWS' HOPES FOR 'ARYAN' STATUS

ROME, Nov. 7.—Hopes of thousands of Italian Jews were dealt a heavy blow today by the newspaper Popolo di Roma, which dismissed the idea of "Aryanizing" great numbers of them. Its editorial was seen as ending a controversy which began in July when it was proposed that families containing one non-Jew member in war or other undertakings be labeled as "Aryan." It was also proposed that Jews who did not fit into these classes be expelled.

Popolo di Roma declared that there must be "a clean division between Italians who have only one fatherland, and the Jews, all of whom have at least two fatherlands—their business interests and Zion."

SPEEDY WAR AID TO REDS ORDERED BY ROOSEVELT

Stettinius Told to Start Shipping Supplies.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—President Roosevelt tonight ordered Lend-Lease Administrator Edward R. Stettinius to draft immediate plans for the shipping of war supplies to Russia as rapidly as possible.

The orders were given in a letter made public at the White House shortly after Stettinius and one of his aids, Oscar Cox, conferred with the President on the billion dollar loan the chief executive extended yesterday to Russia in correspondence with Premier Josef Stalin.

Red Defense Called Vital.

In the letter Mr. Roosevelt said he had found defense of Russia vital to the defense of the United States. He also said he had promised the Reds aid and called on Stettinius to help him fill the promise.

The President's letter follows:

"On Nov. 7, 1941, I addressed a letter to his excellency, President Kalinin, in which I congratulated him upon the national anniversary of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and expressed the admiration of the people of the United States for the 'valiant and determined resistance of the army and people of the soviet union' and the determination of the United States that the 'sacrifices and sufferings of those who have the courage to struggle against aggression will not have been in vain.'

"In that letter I assured President Kalinin 'of the desire of the government and people of the United States to do everything possible to assist your country in this critical hour.'

Transfer Authorized.

"In accordance with that pledge and pursuant to the power conferred upon me by the lend-lease act, I have today found that the defense of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics is vital to the defense of the United States. I therefore authorize and direct you to take immediate action to transfer defense supplies to the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics under the lend-lease act and to carry out the terms of my letter of Oct. 30, 1941, to Premier Stalin.

"I should appreciate it if you would work out as quickly as possible details of this program with representatives of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics."

FOUR LIFE RAFTS FROM LOST SHIP FOUND IN BRAZIL

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 7 (AP).—Port authorities at Recife said today four life rafts had been washed up near there in the last few days but they were unable to identify the ship from which they came.

They denied reports that the rafts bore the markings "Yankee Mary" and said they could not explain how such rumors arose.

[No such ship is listed in Lloyd's registry of shipping, and there was no immediate suggestion of what may have happened to the Yankee Mary.]

Australians Hoist Soviet Banner for the First Time

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 7 (AP).—The soviet flag was flown officially thruout Australia for the first time today on the 24th anniversary of the soviet revolution. The British national anthem and the Internationale were sung at a luncheon in Sydney which was attended by the consuls of every nation allied with Britain and Russia.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY BARBARA QUEST

THE QUESTION.

What kind of noise irritates you the most?

WHERE ASKED.

Merchandise Mart.

THE ANSWERS.

Craig Suppiee, furniture salesman, 536 North Rush—Nothing is so irritating to my sensitive ear drums as the sudden ringing of an alarm clock. And, do you know, the earlier in the morning it is, the more irritating it seems to be? Some day I hope to have one that just whispers.

Mable Dyer, secretary, 6318 North Richmond avenue—To have to listen to a symphony of snoring in the middle of the night, especially when it's chilly and you don't quite know where your slippers are, is about the most irritating noise to me. There's just nothing to be done about it, either—except to get up and leave it!

Herb Jenkins, salesman, 3729 North Pennsylvania avenue, Indianapolis, Ind.—Just the plain, ordinary ringing of a telephone gets me. Every one I own wears a muffler, but I might get caught trying to muffle other people's phones. If some one doesn't do something about it soon, I hope we go back to the good old carrier pigeon days.

Oswald F. Jaeger, bakery superintendent, 2648 East Newton, Milwaukee, Wis.—A noise has to be pretty terrific to get me out of bed at 5 in the morning and rush me out of the house with a shotgun over my shoulder, but it's happened many a time. That flock of cawing crows in our back yard near the lake! Often I meet my neighbors there, too.

Dorothy Cassidy, sales representative, 7008 Merrill avenue—That quiet little sound that a finger nail file makes while in the process of filing is one that I can't stand. It sends shivers thru me! I don't know why, but it sounds even worse when the manicurist is at work. I think I prefer my nails long, anyway.

Stanley Brown, registrar, 706 South 6th avenue, Maywood—I can't stand to hear the scratching sound a needle sometimes makes on a phonograph record. If the needle's bad, I'm so prejudiced I can't even hear the music, so off it goes. It always sounds worse to me coming from a neighbor's phonograph—because there's nothing I can do about it.

Japs Arrest High Officials of Nanking Regime as Spies

SHANGHAI, China, Nov. 7 (AP).—Foreign reports today said Cheng Wen-Yuan, vice minister of war in the Japanese sponsored Nanking régime, had been arrested by Nanking agents and Japanese police on a charge of espionage in behalf of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. Other high officials of the war ministry were arrested simultaneously, it was said, after discovery of an alleged plot to supply information to Chungking.

U. S. WILL SPEND 75 BILLIONS TO BEAT NAZIS: HULL

Message to Finns, Soviet Peace Offer Revealed.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—The United States, still awaiting a reply to its urgent admonition that Finland cease hostilities with Russia, made public today memoranda saying a soviet peace offer was transmitted to the Finnish minister here Aug. 18.

[In Helsingfors the Finnish news agency had circulated a few hours earlier a blanket denial of reports that Finland had received Russia's terms for peace last Aug. 18.]

Ready to Pour Billions.

The memoranda disclosed also that Secretary of State Cordell Hull had told Hjalmar J. Procope, the Finnish minister, on Oct. 3 that the United States was prepared to spend 75 billion dollars if necessary to help suppress Hitler and his dreams of conquest.

At a press conference today Hull declined comment on a Finnish broadcast which said in effect that Finland's war with Russia would be ended as soon as the threat of renewed attack had been removed. The secretary then made public the memoranda, covering his Oct. 3 conversation with Minister Procope, and a talk Aug. 18 between Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, and the minister.

Hull's Statement to Envoy.

The state department's memorandum on the Hull-Procope talk follows:

"The minister of Finland called at my request. I proceeded at once to say that it was unnecessary to go over the pros and cons of the situation as the war relates to Finland and the United States or to the likes and dislikes of either government with respect to Stalin and Hitler or their respective countries.

"I said that as heretofore stated by me to the minister, I am glad to see Finland recover her lost territory. My government, and country and I have been loyal friends of Finland and would like very much to see our fine relations continue. But even this consideration was beside the governing question just now.

Looks to "Future Safety."

"That question, which is of the greatest importance to my country without contemplating the slightest injustice to Finland and her best interests, relates to the future safety of the United States and of all peaceful countries in the world; that this government, profoundly convinced as it is, that Hitler, practicing loathsome barbaric methods, is undertaking to conquer the earth; that in these circumstances my country is expending and is ready to expend 15 or 25 or 40 or 75 billions of dollars to aid in resisting and suppressing Hitler and Hitlerism.

"Therefore, the one question uppermost in the mind of my government with respect to Finland is whether Finland is going to be content to regain her lost territory and stop there, or whether she will undertake to go further, if she has not already done so, so that the logical effect of her course and action would be to project her on the side of Hitler into the general war between Germany and Russia and the other countries involved."

The memorandum on the Welles-Procope talk, read in part, as follows:

"I told the minister that I wished to inform him in the utmost confidence that this government had received information that should the government of Finland be so disposed, the soviet government was prepared to negotiate a new treaty of peace with Finland which would involve the making of territorial concessions by the soviet union to Finland.

Praises Russian Resistance.

"I said that I was communicating this information as a transmitting agent and was expressing no official opinion with regard thereto. I said that I wished to make it, however, completely clear that the information . . . implied in no sense whatever any weakening on the part of the soviet government.

"I said that, from the official statements made to us by the soviet union and from every other evidence available to this government, the soviet government is not only resisting magnificently German aggression against Russia but is likewise prepared to fight indefinitely against Germany. . . .

"The minister at once raised certain obvious questions. First, in view of the experience Finland had had with the soviet union in 1939, what guarantees would Great Britain and the United States offer Finland that any peace treaty which the soviet union might now be disposed to negotiate would be maintained? Second, what assurance would Finland be given that, in the event that Germany was defeated and the soviet union were to become the predominant military power, Russia would respect any promises which Great Britain or the United States might have made and would not again undertake to seize Finland and deprive the Finnish people of their independence?

Unprepared to Answer.

"I replied that these were questions which I was not prepared to discuss. I said it seemed to me, first of all, that it was necessary to determine what the attitude of Finland might be with regard to the possibilities which I had communicated to the minister. . . .

"I added that in view of the considerations the minister had advanced I wondered that guarantees or assurances Finland thought she would have of retaining her own independence and autonomy if Germany succeeded in winning and were then the overlord of all of Europe."

MRS. MARION GLOS.

Mrs. Marion Glos, 25 years old, 1124 Lathrop avenue, Forest Park, testified yesterday that she enjoyed a New Year's eve party Dec. 31, 1938, until she told her husband, Walter, 36, a machinist, that she would like to stay until the party ended.

He insisted on going home, she told Judge Rudolph Desort, and her enjoyment of the party ended when he struck her.

Her attorneys, Joseph H. and Norman Becker, added that Mrs. Glos' marriage had ended three months later, when she separated from her husband. The judge awarded her a divorce on the ground of cruelty. She waived alimony.

ASSERTS SWEDES CAUTION BRITISH: DON'T FIGHT FINNS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 8 [Saturday].—The Daily Telegraph, which has been cited consistently as giving the news the way the government likes to have it presented, this morning announced that the Swedish government has made "strong representations" against Britain accepting Russia's demand that she declare war on Finland.

The British government will "take into account the sympathies of Scandinavia in this matter before reaching a conclusion," said the newspaper's diplomatic correspondent.

He pointed out that since Russia is anxious to have Britain declare war on Finland it would be "in the German interest to defer any such declaration." It added that "a declaration of war on Finland by the British government would not make any practical difference as to the course of the war, as Finland already is fully blockaded by Britain."

HINT CHINA WILL LET U. S. CONTROL ITS BURMA ROAD

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 7 (AP).—Authoritative sources said today China would be disposed to accept any suggestion for placing the Burma road—China's lifeline for war supplies—entirely under United States direction and control.

A group of American experts returned recently after making a survey of the strategic highway and submitted a report to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Chinese quarters said that Japanese severance of the Burma road would not finish the war but would have a crippling effect on continued Chinese resistance.

F. D. R. ON INVASION OF FINLAND

President Roosevelt in an address to the American Youth Congress in Washington on Feb. 10, 1940, said:

"The soviet union, as a matter of practical fact, known to you and known to all the world, is a dictatorship as absolute as any other dictatorship in the world. It has allied itself with another dictatorship and it has invaded a neighbor (Finland) so infinitesimally small that it could do no injury to the soviet union, and seeks only to live in peace as a democracy, and a liberal and forward looking democracy at that."

HITLER'S SOCIAL REFORMS MATCH F.D.R.'S, SAY NAZIS

BERLIN, Nov. 7 (AP).—Authorized sources, commenting on President Roosevelt's speech before the International Labor Office yesterday, said today Germany was willing to match Adolf Hitler's social achievements against those of the United States.

The President said that labor had become a "slave of the military state" under the Nazi system and that Berlin was "the principal slave market of the world."

"Nobody is hungry in Germany," a spokesman said. "There are no multimillionaires but there is also no proletariat. We're glad to be slave if thereby an older slavery is broken and the reich is led into a period of liberty, comfort, and plenty. America's social order is catastrophical."

Turning to Josef Stalin's speech yesterday, the same sources said it "revealed the spiritual decay of an Asiatic village despot."

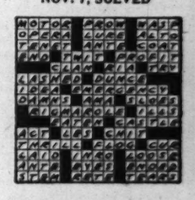
PUZZLE OF FRIDAY, NOV. 7, SOLVED



FINN PRESS SEES PEACE WITH REDS NOW AS 'SUICIDE'

Claims Hango Base Must Be Returned.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 7 (AP).—The Finnish press contended today that Finland sorely needs to repossess the Hango [Hanko] naval base and the islands in the gulf of Finland which Russia obtained by the treaty of March, 1940, and that to yield to British-American demands for immediate cessation of the war with Russia would be "military and national suicide."

These careful comments followed up a broadcast over the official Finnish radio last night which quoted this significant passage from a pamphlet of the Finnish Central Labor union:

"Finland's war is purely defensive and it will come to an end as soon as the threat of renewed attack has been removed and her frontier has been made secure."

Denies Red Peace Offer.

Last Monday United States Secretary of State Hull advised the Finns to get out of the war or risk forfeiting American friendship and said he had informed the Finnish minister last August that Russia was ready to discuss peace on a basis of territorial compensation for Finland.

The Finnish foreign office denied it ever had received a Russian peace offer, and newspapers all over Finland asserted today that the only agency thru which a peace proposal had been sent to Finland was a British radio broadcast two days ago.

They criticized this radio offer on the ground that it mentioned no provision for restoring to Finland the vital areas which Russia annexed earlier, particularly Hango, the gulf islands, and the Fischer peninsula in the Arctic.

Other Areas Reconquered.

With these exceptions Finland has reconquered practically all the territory she had to cede to Russia.

The paper Uuso Suomi, which made the "national suicide" comment, complained that Secretary Hull had implied only "territorial redress" for Finland and that this would involve only areas already won back by Finnish troops at heavy cost.

STALIN PREDICTS HITLER'S DOOM IN 'PERHAPS A YEAR'

MOSCOW, Nov. 7 (AP).—Josef Stalin told his countrymen today that, altho their situation is difficult now, they "can and must win victory over the German invaders," who he said "are facing disaster," perhaps within a few months, perhaps a year.

Speaking at a military review in Red square in celebration of the 24th anniversary of the bolshevik revolution, Stalin appealed to soviet citizens including those behind the German lines, to destroy "the brigand hordes" in a "war of liberation."

"The German invaders," he said, "are straining their last forces. There is no doubt Germany cannot sustain such a strain for any long time. Another few months, another half year, one year maybe, and Hitlerite Germany must burst under the weight of her own crimes. . . .

"Hunger and impoverishment are now reigning in Germany. In four months of war Germany lost 4,500,000 soldiers. Germany is bleeding to death; her resources are giving out."

SENDS MIDWAY ISLAND MAPS TO WIFE; CHEF HELD

HONOLULU, Hawaii, Nov. 7 (AP).—A 46 year old World war veteran who worked as a chef at Midway island for a year was held today for federal grand jury action on a charge of attempting to send maps showing vital defenses of the mid-Pacific outpost to his wife in San Francisco. The maps were found in his luggage when it arrived here two weeks ago. He was arrested upon his arrival Tuesday.

The man, Edward John Coquelle, testified before the United States commissioner yesterday that his nephew, Alfred Munson, had inadvertently put the maps in a suitcase while helping him pack.

Lieut. Wendell F. Brooks of the Midway base said the maps, issued to Coquelle as a member of the volunteer fire department, show complete details of the naval station as well as bomb sight locations, gasoline storage tanks, water wells, and other details.

ARMISTICE DAY SCHOOL BULLETIN DRAWS CENSURE

The Citizens Keep America Out of War committee adopted a resolution last night condemning Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools, for the Armistice day bulletin sent to the public schools over his signature. The bulletin included the statement that "the boys who lie in Flanders' fields would today approve and indorse the foreign policy of the President and the congress."

The committee met in the La Salle hotel. Capt. William J. Grace, chairman, presided. The bulletin, written by a teachers' committee, was sent to about 100 teachers in the school system and contained suggestions for Armistice day programs.

Chicago Hospital Unit Holds Reunion Tomorrow

Members of Base Hospital 12, a Chicago unit that served with the British army in the World war, will hold a reunion dinner tomorrow night in the Chicago Towers club. The unit was organized in 1917, went to France a month after the United States entered the war, and remained for 23 months. Twenty-five Chicago physicians and surgeons, two dentists, 60 nurses, and 147 enlisted men made up the organization in 1917. Wright Erwin of Evanston is chairman of the reunion this year.

Complains of Letters

MISS NORMA SAMPLE.

Attorney Sol R. Friedman yesterday asked Judge Rudolph Desort to halt what he termed a marriage brokerage racket preying on attractive Cook county divorcées.

The attorney showed the court correspondence which Miss Norma Sample, 22 years old, 7902 South Paulina street, received shortly after she won a divorce Oct. 29 from John R. Pink. Friedman, who represented Miss Sample in her suit, said similar correspondence had been sent many other divorcées.

The letter was a typical membership solicitation [fee $2] from a typical "lonely hearts" organization. Enclosed was a list of 23 men, giving the age and description of each. The men purported to be seeking wives thru the organization.

Friedman said the club would seek to collect an additional matchmaking fee if a marriage was arranged, and that such fees would be illegal. Judge Desort said in the absence of evidence of fraud he could take no action, but he urged Friedman to ask Attorney General Barrett to investigate.

WARNS U. S.: JAPS WON'T PAY ANY PRICE FOR PEACE

TOKIO, Nov. 7 (AP).—The future of Japanese relations with the United States and Russia pivoted tonight on what Russia will say to a protest over runaway mines in the sea of Japan and the outcome of Saburo Kurusu's "war or peace" mission to Washington, D. C.

The newspaper Asahi commented that "it should be made clear that Japan will not pay any price" at the expense of Japan's broad program of Asiatic leadership.

Kurusu, ace diplomatist, paused overnight at Manila on his Clipper flight and visited briefly with High Commissioner Francis B. Sayre and President Manuel Quezon. He expected to take off at dawn Saturday for San Francisco.

Russian Ambassador Constantin Smetanin said that he would have to get instructions from home before answering the protest over sinking of the steamer Kehi Maru by a mine with the possible loss of 131 lives.

GIGANTIC EFFORT NEEDED TO WIN WAR: GOEBBELS

BERLIN, Nov. 7 (AP).—Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels writes in the weekly Das Reich that the "axis powers are really fighting for bare existence, and the worries and distress which we all must bear in the war would pale in the face of the inferno which would await us if we were to lose."

The article tells the German people "not to ask when victory will come, but rather to see to it that it comes."

Victory, Goebbels wrote, would require a "gigantic national effort" from which no one could be excepted.

The article says Adolf Hitler's work "often enough hung on a silken thread," and that "the chance which the German nation possesses is indeed its greatest, but also its last."

GERMANS BOMB AND SHELL PATH TO SEVASTOPOL

Blame Bad Weather for Moscow Standstill.

BERLIN, Nov. 7 (AP).—Axis dive bombers and artillery hammered Sevastopol's approaches tonight, but military quarters reported a bristling Red mountain defense thruout the Crimea and a German standstill before Moscow.

The high command announced German and Rumanian gains in the Yaila mountains "despite impassable mountain terrain and the stubbornly fighting rear guards" of the Russians. It said dive bombers "crushed enemy positions in the Sevastopol fortress area and silenced several batteries."

But there was no hint as to how near the Germans were to the big soviet naval base in the southwest or to Kerch, the eastern bridgehead to the Caucasus.

Blames Bad Weather.

Referring to the Moscow front which he said was bogged down by bad weather, the military spokesman said:

"It is unnecessary to undertake anything under such circumstances and we aren't doing it. A little more frost soon and the going will be easier for motorized equipment."

German news dispatches told of the rugged Red defense in the 80 mile long Yaila mountains skirting the southern Crimean coast.

When the break-thru at Perekop occurred the Russians retired to these mountains, where steel and concrete casemates abound with artillery, heavy machine guns, and soviet flame thrower units.

These casemates are "being reduced systematically" by dive bombers, Nazi flame throwers, artillery, and engineers with special weapons designed to clear the way.

Drive Off Gunboats.

And while German commentators were speculating on the ability of the soviet Black sea fleet to protect a Russian evacuation from Sevastopol or Kerch, another dispatch told of two soviet gunboats suddenly appearing off Taganrog, 30 miles from Rostov, the northern gateway to the Caucasus, where German shore batteries were engaged. The gunboats, the Germans said, were forced back to sea.

In the Donetz basin, of which the Taganrog action is a part, the high command said German and Italian troops "made further headway," but no specific localities were mentioned.

Farther north, on the central sector, the war bulletin announced that an "infantry division broke thru strongly built enemy positions and made numerous prisoners and captured many guns." But here, too, no localities were named.

The Germans said that their batteries sank a Red freighter off Leninsk [Peterhof], west of Leningrad, and that heavy bombs again were dropped on long besieged Leningrad during the day.

HINTS AUSTRALIA ARMY MAY GO TO CAUCASIAN FRONT

Chief Predicts Early Fighting There.

CANBERRA, Australia, Nov. 7 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Albert Cecil Fewtrell, commander of the 1st division of the commonwealth military forces, tonight said Australian imperial troops soon might be fighting in the Caucasus.

Britain Bolsters Forces in Iran.

ANKARA, Turkey, Nov. 6 [Delayed] (AP).—Britain was reported today to be steadily augmenting her military power in Iran, bordering the Russian Caucasus, with a stream of fresh troops drawn from the empire, new tanks and planes, and the help of two United States military missions to the middle east.

The American delegations are expected to bolster the transportation organization and to manage the repair and supply of planes from the United States.

The transportation and ship unloading situations at the head of the Persian gulf, link in the conveyor belt to Iraq, Iran, and the Caucasus, were said to have been vastly improved but were still far from satisfactory.

Front Reaches to Caucasus.

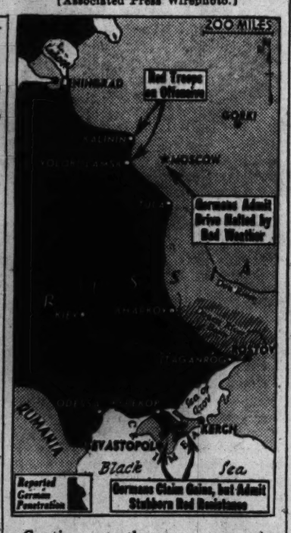
Britain also is building up her strength in Iraq, altho details are lacking here.

The British middle eastern front at present reaches to the Caucasus, now under direct German threat, but the British preparations may be pointed in other directions besides junction with the Russians. There is fresh word of German military preparations in Bulgaria, which is separated by Turkey from the British bastions in the middle east.

Quick Nazi Move Hinted.

The renewed reports that the Germans are preparing bases in Bulgaria were taken here to indicate the possibility of "a quick move in" if such a step were considered desirable for military or political purposes.

The Russian air force still has "pools" of planes far behind the lines, including one in the Caucasus containing upwards of 700 aircraft, according to a military observer from Kuisbyshev, provisional Russian capital.



Captions on the map summarize progress of the German invasion of Russia, according to latest dispatches.

British Agree to Consult Australia on War Steps

CANBERRA, Australia, Nov. 7 (AP).—Alfred Duff Cooper, British coordinator in the far east and the first British minister to take part in Australian war policy discussions, told the council today that no decisive steps would be taken without consideration being given Australia's views. Some ministers said Duff Cooper's participation vindicated the Labor party's claim that Australia should be given a stronger voice in British foreign policy.

Japs Lift Ban on Travel in China for Axis Diplomats

PEKING, China, Nov. 7 (AP).—Restrictions against travel by foreigners—one of the first orders by the occupying Japanese army—were lifted today for axis diplomats and their families while remaining in force for British, Americans and all other nationalities. The only requirement is that the axis diplomats present their credentials to the Japan-dominated Nanking regime.

Colombia Sets Guard Over Airports of German Firm

BOGOTA, Colombia, Nov. 7.—The government has contracted with the local Avianca Airline company to police all the airports in Colombia of the German Scadta company. The airport police will be armed and will be under the direction of a special commander, but expenses will be paid by the Avianca company, which is under Colombian and American management.

COLOMBIA TURNS DOWN ANTI-AXIS BLACKLIST OF U. S.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Nov. 7 (AP).—The Colombian senate tonight rejected the anti-axis blacklist issued by the United States against axis firms doing business in the western hemisphere. The action was the first of its kind since the blacklist was issued.

The senate unanimously approved a motion which said it was inacceptable that the blacklist of the United States should include names of "individuals and societies in the Ibero-American republics, without the respective govrenments having been consulted previously in accordance with the spirit and letter of the acts and conventions of inter-American solidarity subscribed to at Lima, Panama City, and Havana."

The motion also declared that the Union of American Republics was "indispensable in the present moments thru which the world is passing." However, it said, such a union could be obtained "only on a base of frank and reciprocal collaboration in the task of defending this continent from external dangers."

Building Owner Sues for $10,000 Subway Damages

Margaret O'Donnell, owner of two buildings at 1123 and 1125 Rush street, sued the city of Chicago and the Kenny Construction company, subway contractors, for $10,000 in Superior court yesterday. The complaint charges $1,000 has been spent on the buildings and $6,000 more will be required to keep them from collapsing because of subway construction.

U. S. JURY TO QUIZ AUCTION HOUSES, FRUIT EXCHANGES

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 8 (AP).—Harold Collins of the department of justice anti-trust division, said last night subpoenaes had been issued to 10 terminal auction houses and several coöperative fruit exchanges thruout the country to appear before a federal grand jury here next Wednesday. Collins said the inquiry involved the possibility of price pegging and other phases of the citrus and deciduous fruit industries thruout the country.

Collins and Thomas Clark of the local FBI office reported subpoenaes had been issued to terminal auction houses in New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Baltimore, Cleveland Cincinnati, and Detroit.

Others subpoenaed include the California Fruit exchange of Sacramento, and the Di Giorgi Fruit Co., and the Earl Fruit Co., both of San Francisco.

ARMY WILL FREE SOLDIER, 16, TO RESUME STUDIES

Earle F. Olson Jr., 16 years old, yesterday awaited his army discharge papers at the air corps replacement training center, Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and planned to return to his studies at Lane Technical High school. The young man is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle F. Olson of 7446 Addison street.

Shortly after he began his junior year at Lane this fall, young Olson decided to travel. He hitch-hiked to Phoenix, Ariz., and enlisted in the air corps, telling recruiting officials that he was an orphan and had forgotten the year of his birth.

When he was transferred to Jefferson Barracks he wrote his father. The elder Olson went there and informed officials his son was under age. Earle Jr. was reluctant to leave the army, but agreed it would be best to finish his schooling.

MOSCOW ARMIES PUSH NAZIS BACK, LONDON ASSERTS

Reds Seek to Reopen Lines with Leningrad.

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP).—General soviet attacks west and northwest of Moscow which appeared to be reaching the power of a sustained counter-offensive intended to reopen Moscow-Leningrad communications were reported tonight by informed persons here.

German forward positions in a 30 mile deep zone extending from the area of Volokolamsk, 65 miles west of Moscow, to Kalinin, 95 miles northwest of the capital, were under violent assault by mobile Red forces which in some areas appeared to have driven the invaders back several miles.

About Kalinin itself, a secondary railroad was said to have been put back in soviet control and operation—presumably a branch line which woud be of great importance in moving local Russian supplies in the northwestern sector.

Reds Use Every Weapon.

In action was nearly every soviet arm—infantry, cavalry, artillery, and planes. Authoritative quarters here declared that the reported withdrawal of the bulk of the German aerial squadrons for present and prospective service in the south had given the Red airforce an even position if not an effective superiority in the air.

This, together with the seizure of initiative by the soviet ground forces, reflected a material continuing improvement in the soviet position all about Moscow, and to some extent, apparently, about Leningrad as well.

The soviet information bureau's late communique merely said that fighting continued on all fronts. It declared that Russian air units had destroyed or damaged 70 German tanks, destroyed 250 trucks loaded with infantry and supplies, 15 cannon, five fuel tank cars, and many carts loaded with military equipment and supplies. It added that a regiment of German infantry was annihilated.

50 Nazi Planes Destroyed.

The Russians said 50 German aircraft were destroyed Thursday. They admitted the loss of 12 planes.

New successes for the RAF fighter wing in Russia were reported, the air ministry announcing that British pilots had destroyed 15 German airplanes, and possibly 10 more, losing only one British plane in the process.

SEEK TO SCUTTLE HITLER PEACE BID BEFORE IT COMES

British Press Against Nazi Armistice.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 8 [Saturday].—The newspapers today began preparing the British public for what they consider the necessity of rejecting a peace offensive from Adolf Hitler as soon as the Russian campaign appears to be nearing its conclusion.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the "Free French," speaking at the Foreign Press association luncheon yesterday, said peace feelers could be expected, and this morning the diplomatic correspondents of the News Chronicle, the Daily Herald, and the Daily Sketch pretend to have inside information on Hitler's plans.

The News Chronicle correspondent says "concrete peace proposals" may be expected from Germany before the end of this month. The proposals, he adds, will be "directed toward securing the adhesion of all European nations to a general peace plan and securing an armistice with the allies for at least the winter months."

Seeks to Put Onus on U. S.

Hitler, it is stated, will embark on his peace strategy regardless of success or failure in reaching objectives in Russia. His aims, political and military, are:

1. "To unite the restive peoples of Europe in a common cause with Germany" by placing the onus for continuing the war on the United States, Britain, and Russia.

2. To secure an armistice "which will give the German high command a few months in which to reorganize and requip the now badly battered German armies in preparation for the final offensive against Britain next year."

"Pick Von Ribbentrop for Job."

The task of organizing the "peace offensive" has been given to Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, according to the Daily Herald. "Ribbentrop seemingly still believes that there is a strong, influential group in high quarters here which hankers for appeasement and just loathes the soviet union," the writer adds. "He also believes the United States government would be only too glad to find some way out of the risk of getting fully involved in a shooting war."

The Daily Sketch, on the other hand, says that the German peace drive will be launched at a conference in Vienna to which Hitler is "summoning his vassals and inviting the few remaining neutrals." The German proposals, it is stated, "are expected to envisage a shifting of the industrial center of Europe away from the Rhine to eastern Germany . . . vast development of the east European resources, and linking of the Baltic and Black seas by a great water system of rivers and canals. There will be lavish promises of peace and prosperity for a united Europe under German control."

BRITISH DISCOVER 'SECRET' U. S. WAR MISSION IN MIDST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 8 [Saturday].—Seven members of a new United States mission, headed by Charles Whitney, have "secretly and with the knowledge of only a few high officials taken up their abode 'for special duties' in Britain for the duration of the war," the Daily Mirror says this morning. Their official title, it asserts, is "coördinators of war information," and their duties consist of reporting to Col. William J. Donovan, coördinator in chief in Washington, D. C., "relevant facts regarding Britain's military and civil position." The coördinators are located at key points thruout the country and some already have opened offices, it is stated. This move is described as "one of the most important steps yet taken for the speeding up of United States help to Britain."

British Silent on Stalin's Version of Hess' Mission

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 7.—British officials refused to comment today on the statement by Russian Premier Josef Stalin that Rudolf Hess, former German deputy fuehrer, flew to Britain on May 10 to try to persuade this country to join in a coalition against Russia. Diplomatic circles reiterated that the government would make no comment "until an appropriate moment." It was admitted, however, that there is no reason to suppose that Stalin, as a British ally, has not been acquainted with the facts.

TRIBUNE MEDALS AWARDED 6 ROTC CADETS AT U. OF I.

Honored as Outstanding Members of Brigade.

BY THOMAS MORROW.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 7.—The six best soldiers in a student body of 13,060 were honored today at the University of Illinois.

While 700 foremost members of the student brigade of 4,243 stood at attention, the six stepped forward smartly. They were greeted by Col. Leonard C. Sparks, commanding officer, former member of the army general staff and recently returned from a command in Hawaii. He gave each a handshake of congratulations.

Then, while the 1st regiment band played a military march, he pinned on the breast of each the Chicago Tribune Award for Military Merit.

Three Types of Medals.

Those honored are Cadet Maj. Ralph B. March, 22 years old, 376 Merritt street, Oshkosh, Wis., and Cadet Col. Gerald W. Homann, 22, Mattoon, Ill., gold medals; Cadet Second Lieut. Raymond H. Bohman, 20, Alpha, Ill., and Cadet Second Lieut. John D. Kraehenbuehl, 18, St. Joseph, Ill., silver medals; Cadet Second Lieut. John M. Hunter, 19, of 608 Pennsylvania avenue, Urbana, Ill., and Cadet First Sergt. Harold D. Swain, 19, of 601 Roosevelt street, Kewanee, Ill., bronze medals.

The medals are awarded on a basis of scholastic achievement, plus military knowledge and ability to put that knowledge to efficient use. A three man military board appointed by the commandant decides the winners.

The Chicago area is well represented in the university's military circles, with three cadet lieutenant colonels on the staff. They are Howard R. Schmidt, 226 West 112th street, field artillery; J. J. Larocco, 1501 Leamington avenue, infantry, and T. R. Wheeler, 1949 Lake street, Whiting, Ind., field artillery.

World War Training Ground.

Today's presentation, and the review which preceded it, took place in the mammoth University of Illinois armory, training ground for the Reserve Officers Training corps. Here, before the first World war, an earlier group of student soldiers trained to fight—some to die—on European battlefields.

The honor bestowed upon the six student leaders is far from an empty achievement in military circles. The University of Illinois, once called by Gen. John J. Pershing the "West Point of the west," boasts what university authorities say is the largest ROTC unit in the country.

Next June, the military department will send into a war conscious world 300 trained officers. This total, and the previous officer graduating classes which have averaged more than 200 since the unit was formed 20 years ago, compares favorably with the number of officers turned out yearly at the United States Military academy.

BRITISH SEASIDE TOWNS BUSTLE AS TOURIST BAN ENDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Cleaners, painters, and decorators today began preparing hotels, boarding houses, and shops for reopening in certain south and east coast towns. The government yesterday removed the ban on visitors in forbidden areas until Feb. 15.

The first visitors to reach the south coast resort of Brighton were some London girl workers. After looking at barbed wire entanglements and shuttered stores on the seafront, one of them remarked: "Why, you can't even get on the beach, or buy candy."

Brighton residents complained because the 10:30 p. m. curfew has not been relaxed. A hotel manager in Eastbourne said that the government move "comes at the wrong time of year. The summer would have been better." The public has been warned that no extra trains will be run from London, and that any increase in passenger traffic to the coast will make travel conditions worse.

ODDS AND ENDS OF NEUTRALITY ARE UNTOUCHED

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—If the senate-approved neutrality revision measure is enacted, these provisions of the existing neutrality law will remain on the statute books:

The President or congress may proclaim the existence of a state of war between foreign states.

American citizens may not travel on belligerent vessels except in accordance with Presidential regulations.

Americans may not deal in the securities of belligerents.

No person may solicit contributions in the United States for belligerent governments.

The President may prescribe regulations regarding the use of American ports by belligerent submarines or armed merchantmen.

The national munitions control board may regulate munitions exports.

Foreign vessels are forbidden to fly the American flag.

F. D. R. CONSIDERS MOVING MARINE UNITS FROM CHINA

Plan Stirs Speculation on Clash with Japan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—In a surprise announcement, which set off a train of capital speculation that the administration is preparing for a conflict with Japan, President Roosevelt today said the United States is considering the withdrawal of 970 marines stationed at Peking, Tientsin, and Shanghai.

Peking and Tientsin are occupied by Japanese forces invading China, and Shanghai is encircled, with the international settlement being nominally free of Japanese control.

Mr. Roosevelt made the announcement by reading a typewritten memorandum. He refused to elaborate on the statement or to give any hint when a decision will be reached.

Burma Move Reported.

The announcement was made as the capital buzzed with a report broadcast by the German controled Amsterdam radio that 3,000 American troops were replacing British forces in defense of the Burma road. This report was denied by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who labeled it another characteristic piece of German propaganda.

The denial was not accepted as final in all capital circles, because it was recalled the United States has set a precedent for such coöperation in its occupation of Iceland. Presence of American troops in Iceland was not admitted by the administration until the occupation had been revealed.

Capital circles have been aware of unusual activity in the war and navy departments such as preceded the occupation of Iceland.

African Step Expected.

It had been believed the administration was about to make some move in Africa to coöperate with British forces in British Africa possessions, move to gain a foothold in Portuguese African territory, or to establish a sustaining force in Liberia, American stepchild on the dark continent.

The President's announcement said: "The President said today that the government of the United States is giving consideration to the question of withdrawal of American marine detachments now maintained ashore in China at Peking, Tientsin, and Shanghai."

He suggested that no attempt be made to interpret this statement. He acknowledged the statement never had been a part of conversations between the governments of Japan and the United States. These conversations have been under way for weeks, but the administration has given no hint as to their subject matter, altho it generally had been accepted Japan has been seeking without success, to restore former amicable relations.

CLAIM MAN WHO LOOKS LIKE LOST AMUNDSEN LIVES WITH ESKIMOS

ROME, Nov. 7 (AP).—Stefani, the Italian news agency, carried a roundabout and wholly unconfirmed report from Stockholm today that a man resembling the long missing Norwegian explorer, Capt. Roald Amundsen, and bearing his surname had been seen living among Eskimos at Fort Bay, Greenland.

The Stefani account quoted the German edited Norwegian newspaper Deutsche Zeitung as saying information to this effect had come from "an officer of the North Alaska Trading corporation."

Amundsen, a veteran arctic explorer, disappeared in June, 1928, when he went in search of survivors of the Italian airship Italia, which was wrecked while returning from a flight over the north pole.

20 Missing as Japanese Steamer Sinks in Storm

TOKIO, Nov. 8 [Saturday] (AP).—The Japanese steamer Takuyen Maru, 3,275 tons, sank in a storm off Hokkaido and 20 of her 45 crewmen are missing, it was announced here today. The 25 survivors were reported already to have been landed.

DANIELS ASSERTS MEXICANS BREAK FEUDAL FETTERS

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 7.—At a farewell dinner given him by the American colony here tonight, Josephus Daniels, retiring ambassador, had a sympathetic word for the Mexican "revolution." He said the Mexican people, "encumbered for years by an imposed, outmoded system, are breaking the last fetters which long have chained them to feudalism."

He said the Mexicans' struggle had been made difficult by poverty and illiteracy, but that they had demonstrated their ability when given a fair chance.

Daniels said he regretted the impression that the "spirit of unity now prevailing" between Mexico and the United States will be forgotten when "these perilous times" had passed.

Canada Warned Gasoline Will Be Rationed Shortly

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 7 [Special].—Gasoline soon is to be rationed in Canada, but the allowance will be sufficient for everybody's "justified needs," Munitions Minister C. D. Howe announced today. He said there is no real shortage but that precautionary measures would be taken to prevent misuse on pleasure motoring of gasoline needed for war.

WAR SET FEASTS IN SPLENDOR AT RUSS EMBASSY

fact that her husband, who is now in Russia, is soon to be replaced by Maxim Litvinov, former foreign commissar, who negotiated American recognition of his country in 1933.

The Russian embassy staff beamed at the reception which was made additionally bright by President Roosevelt's loan yesterday of a billion dollars to Little Joe in the Kremlin.

Biggest Smile Is for Jesse Jones.

Madame Oumansky appeared in an amethyst velvet gown with green orchids on her shoulder and a glittering amethyst necklace at her throat. She beamed her biggest smile, one guest said later, on Jesse Jones and gave his hand an extra little squeeze. For Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce and head of the RFC, recently termed her husband's boss, Joe Stalin, a good credit risk and advanced Russia 100 million dollars long before Mr. Roosevelt came up with the billion.

Another guest, telling of her struggle to get near the hostess to say "good night," said it was like "Grand Central station on a football night."

Wallace and Jones There.

Among those who stayed away a year ago and two years ago but passed down the receiving line and on to the caviar were Vice President and Mrs. Henry A. Wallace, Undersecretary of the Navy James R. Forrestall, Lend-Lease Director Edward R. Stettinius, and Mrs. James Helm, social secretary of the White House.

Others present included Attorney General and Mrs. Francis Biddle; Leon Henderson, price dictator; Undersecretary of the Interior John J. Dempsey; Maj. Gen. Thomas Holcomb, commandant of the marine corps; Assistant Secretary of State Adolph Berle; Mrs. Claude Wickard, wife of the secretary of agriculture; Mrs. James Houghteling, wife of the assistant secretary of the treasury, and Mrs. Stanley Reed, wife of the Supreme court justice, and Justice Robert Jackson.

Senatorial representation at the party was cut down by the fact that the senate was in late session on the neutrality act, but it was learned that the soviets had passed over the noninterventionist bloc in distributing invitations.

No invitations were received by such senators as Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.], Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.], Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], Robert A. Taft [R., O.], Worth Clark [D., Idaho], Robert Reynolds [D., N. C.], and Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.].

Dies Is Snubbed, Too.

Nor did invitations go to Rep. Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the special house committee investigating un-American activities, or to Rep. Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], the President's own congressman, who is the ranking Republican member of the house foreign affairs committee and a leading house critic of the administration's foreign policy.

Heading the diplomatic representation was a delegation from the embassy staff of Russia's ally, Great Britain. In the van of this group was Sir Ronald Campbell and other title holders who clasped hands with the Red revolutionaires.

The Reds invited a large segment of the Washington press corps. In keeping with the general pattern of the reception, these also were representatives of the interventionist front.

Three truckloads of flowers were delivered to the embassy to decorate it for the reception. The caterer brought the assortment of canapes and other dainties to augment the caviar in a moving van, which made several trips.

Tables of special Russian dishes—shrimps, salads, cakes, and canapes of caviar—were set up off the dining room and in apartments occupied by the embassy staff on the third and fourth floors. Twice an hour waiters reset the tables with huge platters of foods.

Highballs were served to guests at bars on three floors.

WARN SHIPPING OF OBSTRUCTION IN MAINE SOUND

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Shipping was advised by the navy today to proceed with caution when navigating in the vicinity of Hussey sound near Overset Island, Casco Bay, Me.

A memorandum issued by the hydrographic office said that obstructions were being placed across the entrance of the sound in the vicinity of the island. Vessels entering or leaving the bay by way of the sound were advised to pass "between the vessel moored in the entrance and the south end of Overset Island."

Naval authorities declined to say whether there was any special significance in this warning or whether it might indicate that protective measures against submarines were being taken.

150 Members Attend

One hundred fifty members of the Illinois chapter, Rainbow division veterans met last night in Harry's New Yorker, 400 North Wabash avenue, for their annual Armistice reunion. Adolph Hammesfahr, chairman of the athletic committee of the Cook county council of the American Legion, spoke on conditions in army camps in the United States and her possessions. Hammesfahr visited the camps on a recent plane trip. Harmon Nixon, chapter president, said a number of members of the famous "Fighting 69th" were present.

WORD 'TAMMANY' MUST BE KILLED, PARTY WARNED

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—A Tammany Hall district leader, who was the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for mayor in 1937, called upon Christopher Sullivan today to resign as Tammany chieftain and declared the name Tammany must be expunged from politics.

Former State Supreme Court Justice Jeremiah T. Mahoney, in a letter to Sullivan, blamed him for the defeat Tuesday of the party's mayoral candidate, William O'Dwyer, by Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, and declared:

"They [the people] are sick and tired of hearing the name Tammany Hall applied to the Democracy of the City of New York. The word Tammany has defeated many a fine Democratic candidate. It has become a load that no one can carry. It has become a symbol for everything that is rotten and sordid in public life."

32 JUDGES AGREE TO HEAR HEAD OF BAR ASSOCIATION

A meeting of judges of the Circuit and Superior courts agreed yesterday to listen to Lloyd M. Heth, president of the Chicago Bar association, submit a proposal for the creation of a committee to effect cooperation between the bench and his association.

Thirty-two judges of the two courts met in the courtroom of Judge John Prystalski in the County building to discuss Heth's request for a hearing. It was decided to hold a second meeting next Thursday and to invite Heth to appear at that time.

During the meeting there was no discussion of the resignations from the bar association of Judges M. L. McKinley, Oscar Hebel, and E. I. Frankhauser, all of whom disapproved the conduct of the association before the election last Tuesday.

FRANCE ARRESTS FORMER SPANISH PREMIER AND AID

VICHY, France, Nov. 7.—Francisco Largo Caballero, Socialist premier of Spain during the civil war, and Federica Montseny, a woman member of his cabinet, have been arrested in France and taken to Limoges for hearing on an application by the Spanish government for their extradition, it was disclosed tonight.

The French courts so far have declined to grant extradition of political exiles.

Tonight the Mexican ambassador, Gen. Francisco V. Aguilar, who has interested himself with Spanish exiles in France, conferred with the minister of justice, Joseph Barthelemy. Gen. Aguilar has offered to retain defense counsel in behalf of Caballero and Senora Montseny.

President Asks $8 Million for New Airport Facilities

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—President Roosevelt asked congress today for $38,160,725, mostly for the development of airport facilities by the civil aeronautics administration. "The expansion of the air forces of the army and navy creates a need for additional airports for tactical units, strategic purposes and training with ground troops," the request to Speaker Sam Rayburn said. The projects to be developed, the President's memorandum added, already have been authorized.

HEADS OF LEGION BLAME F. D. R. FOR ARMAMENTS LAG

National Board Is Urged to End Confusion.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 7 [Special].—Blame for the bogging down of the national rearmament program was laid directly at the doorstep of President Roosevelt and congress today by the national executive committee of the American Legion in session here.

Charging that national sacrifice and effort are being wasted, the committee urged immediate creation of a national agency similar to the war industries board of the World war. It proposed that the agency be given full authority and responsibility for attaining national arms objectives.

The committee also approved a report of the Legion's national defense committee which asked that all strikes in arms industries be outlawed and that fomenting labor trouble be made a criminal offense.

Labor Racketeers Blasted.

"Labor racketeers and profiteers who place personal advantage above the welfare of the nation are crippling industry thru strikes and lockouts," the report said. "Loyal workers are intimidated, beaten, and prevented from working by goon squads who crush opposition by force."

The committee said the country's efforts are being wasted because "confusion and delay result from the failure of the President and congress to delegate authority and responsibility for defense production to a single agency."

In addition to creating a national arms agency to remedy this situation, the committee proposed that a temporary equitable plan be placed in effect to utilize the entire man power of the country in national preparedness.

The report also advised that the arms industry be drafted if selfish advantage is placed above the welfare of the nation; that prices, wages, and rent immediately be stabilized, and that state home guards be equipped as rapidly as possible.

Unprepared State Cited.

The committee further suggested that the American people are not aroused to the danger of war being forced upon the country in its unprepared state.

The section relating to strikes proposed that:

"All strikes in defense industry be outlawed for so long as the law of this land drafts men into the armed service of our nation and makes it a disloyal act and criminal offense to desert therefrom, and that it be made a disloyal act and criminal offense to incite strikes, to foment labor troubles, to strike, or to advocate slowdowns or sitdowns in defense industry or to otherwise wilfully obstruct defense production."

TWO PENNSYLVANIA OFFICIALS AGREE TO AUDIT; FUNDS MISSING

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 7 (AP).—An independent audit of the state treasury and auditor general's office was ordered today. The move follows charges of forgery and embezzlement of $13,000 against Clifford G. Baugher, resigned deputy state treasurer.

Gov. Arthur H. James, in a statement, said at least eight documents are missing from the files of the two offices, and that both Auditor General F. Clair Ross and State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner agreed to his proposal for an independent audit.

The governor asserted last night that an additional $17,000 may be involved in "various defalcations involving misuse of commonwealth checks."

SAYS PRIORITIES WILL FORCE MEN TO WALK STREETS

Short of Material, Firm Lays Off Workers.

Watertown, Conn., Nov. 7 (AP).—Joseph R. Neill, president of the Watertown Manufacturing company, announcing today that at least 50 of his 300 employés had been laid off because of a lack of materials, predicted that "people are going to be walking the streets this winter."

In addition to the layoffs of the last two weeks, Neill said, many other of his employés were working shorter hours.

The Office of Production Management, he asserted, "won't let us have the chemicals we use to manufacture plastics. It's ruining the whole plastics industry. People are going to be walking the streets this winter."

Only Beginning, He Says.

"These layoffs are only the beginning," he warned. "The situation is going to become steadily worse, not only in our industry but in dozens of other industries that depend on parts from plastics.

"I've been to Washington myself to see if there's anything that can be done about the situation. I've waited all day outside office doors. I had to come back home again without accomplishing anything."

"What I would like to know," Neill said, "is how the working man is going to pay his new income tax this year. He won't even be working."

Has Some Arms Orders.

The firm is working now only on armament orders, Neill said, producing plastics parts for navy use. In the past it made plastics parts for refrigerators, automobiles, radios, cameras, and pipes.

He said that the company might be ready within the next 60 days to begin production of plastic stocks for army rifles. In announcing the innovation some months ago, Neill asserted that plastics stocks would be stronger than even the finest woods.

COLONEL STICKS TO ORDER: SHUN AMERICA FIRST

Military Police Bar Way to Headquarters.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 7 [Special].—Denver offices of the America First committee remained under the watchful eyes of military police tonight as Col. Early E. W. Duncan, commandant of Lowry field, stood pat on his previous orders that the anti-war organization's headquarters are "out of bounds" for men of his command.

Col. Duncan has no intention of withdrawing his order, he said today, following confirmation in Washington, D. C., of a report that Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson had asked the air force officer to submit an official report on the incident.

Denies Church Order.

Col. Duncan's prohibition also forbids soldiers from Lowry field to distribute or circulate America First committee literature, but he denied reports that he had forbidden his men to attend church services addressed by peace advocating pastors. Protests from all over the nation were showered upon Col. Duncan when this version of the order was broadcast in the press.

An American First committee rally last night issued a statement concerning the colonel's order.

"If soldiers are to be prevented from going to America First headquarters, they likewise should be prohibited from visiting the headquarters of other political groups," said the statement. "The America First committee believes that the armed forces of the United States are not a proper subject of political persuasion by any group.

Decry Political Pressure.

"The America First committee is as interested in the integrity and strength of our armed forces as any other group of loyal citizens. The committee believes firmly that the army should not be subjected to political pressure from any source."

The Rev. Edgar M. Wallbero, pastor of Grace Community church, who addressed the rally, said: "I am wondering if this thing at Lowry field is not a trial balloon. If it works, the military may be used to force us all into line."

Judge Rebukes Col. Duncan.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 7 [Special].—Federal Judge George A. Welsh today told 150 persons to whom he had just administered the oath of citizenship in United States District court that any attempt by an army officer to deny men in uniform the right to worship as they please is "a sinister note which you as citizens must guard against."

Judge Welsh, without naming Col. Early E. W. Duncan, commander of Lowry field, made it clear that he referred to the report that Col. Duncan had threatened to place churches of "pacifist" ministers "out of bounds" for his men.

220 Pound Turtle Goes Into Restaurant Window

A deep sea turtle, 4 feet 2 inches long, 18 inches high, and weighing 220 pounds, was delivered yesterday to Eitel's restaurant at 130 South Clark street. Max Ludeke, the chef, and Mary Lee Johnson, who received the box containing the turtle from the express driver, were at a loss to know what to do with it immediately but solved the problem by putting it in the display window. The turtle is to be converted into steaks and soup.

KIWANIANS LIST AID TO CHILDREN AS MAJOR TASK

More than 1,800 of the 2,200 Kiwanis International club in the United States and Canada rank their services to the young as major activities, according to a report at the annual council meeting yesterday in the Chicago Towers club.

George A. Selke, chairman of the committee on boys' and girls' work, warned that industrial and economic problems during and immediately following the national crisis will bring about the gravest problems American youth has ever faced.

As president of the State Teachers' college in St. Cloud, Minn., he urged "education of children and young adults be adapted to the capabilities of each student and suited to the changing needs of society."

DEMOCRACY HITS ARMY ENGINEER OFFICER SCHOOL

Entrants No Longer Need to Be West Pointers.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Belvoir, Va., Nov. 7.—The army's engineering school here, which once catered to the military élite by accepting as students only West Point graduates, is now rushing thru shortened courses entrants from all parts of the country and numerous ranks of service.

The school is located 15 miles down the west bank of the Potomac river from Washington, D. C., and near historic Mount Vernon. In addition to the school, the reservation's 8,500 acres provide space for the engineer replacement training center which now has 10,500 men taking 13 week basic training courses.

On the opposite side of the reservation from the training center are permanent buildings which house the school for engineer officers. Also stationed there to work with the school is the 31st engineer demonstration company of 176 men.

What the Courses Include.

In this institution, which once offered only a two year course, a slashed curriculum for the last year has provided courses ranging from three weeks to three months long. These include an officers' candidate course, an officers' refresher course, the engineer school of service command for enlisted men, and special courses for officers.

The officers' candidate school has 220 students drawn from all parts of the nation. Half of them are conscripts and the others come from the ranks of enlisted men. Fifty-four per cent are college graduates.

This course is open to any enlisted man who has completed six months' service and has been properly recommended by his unit commander. Graduates are commissioned second lieutenants in the army engineer corps and remain on active service for the duration of the emergency or until such time as the President sees fit to terminate their commissions. The last class of 97 graduated 76.

2,000 Officers Refreshened.

The officers' refresher course is a condensed substitute for the former officers' postgraduate school. There are now 232 men taking this course, which lasts only five weeks. It is open to officers ranging in rank from second lieutenant to major. Approximately 2,000 have been jammed thru the course in a year.

Students in the refresher course are given a general review of all subjects likely to confront an army in the field. Important subjects include pontoon building, map making, and constructing outer tank defenses. Officers are not failed in the course, but their grades are entered in their efficiency records.

The largest unit of the school is that of the service command for enlisted men. This course has 1,000 members and is echeloned by the week, 75 entering and 75 others completing the three month course each seven days. About 2,000 men had passed thru this branch of the school since the first of the year.

Technical Subjects Taught.

Principal courses taught in this department include those pertaining to water purification, map reproduction, drafting, welding and maintenance of heavy equipment. Graduates are sent to various engineer units thruout the country and to foreign locations.

The special courses for officers are open to those of grades from second lieutenants to lieutenant colonels. These courses vary in length from three to four weeks, depending upon the subject being studied. Interpretations of aerial pictures, map making and research are some of the courses taught.

ORDERS OUSTED BOSS OF CLERKS' UNION TO COURT

Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington yesterday ordered Max Caldwell, ousted czar of local 1248 of the Retail Clerks' International Protective association, to appear in court Monday to give his reasons for refusing to answer certain questions pertaining to his income.

Caldwell, a former Indiana bootlegger, is defendant in a suit brought by former members of his union asking for an accounting of more than $910,000 in dues and fees collected between 1937 and 1941 by Caldwell and his associates.

Francis Heisler and Stanley Evans, attorneys for the former union members, with Attorney Harold Marovitz, representing Caldwell, appeared before Harrington yesterday. Heisler was prepared to contend that since Caldwell already had made some answers to questions about his income he should be compelled to answer others, which he has refused to do. Judge Harrington ordered Attorney Marovitz to bring his client to court at 2:30 p. m. Monday.

ROME, Nov. 7 (AP).—British planes yesterday bombed places in Sicily and the Campania region, in which Naples is situated, the Italian high command said today, but caused only slight damage.

Intense Italian artillery fire was reported in two North African zones, before besieged Tobruk, British held port in Libya, and at Sollum, Egypt, long the scene of frontier fighting.

CHIANG SEES WAR INITIATIVE NEAR FOR DEMOCRACIES

CHUNGKING, Nov. 7 (AP).—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek told foreign correspondents today that the initiative in wars against aggression lies almost within the grasp of the democracies. He predicted that events of the very near future would justify this belief.

"This is a very important time in our united struggle," Chiang averred. "Resistance now is wholly aroused in the east and the west, but at times it is still the aggressor who plans where to strike the next blow."

Of the United States, he said: "Behind us there stands a country with great leadership which is pledged to be the arsenal of the democracies and which has pledged itself to immense sacrifices to keep up the flow of supplies."

EUROPE TRAINED ANZAC AIRMEN GO TO MALAYA

SINGAPORE, Nov. 7 (AP).—A new Australian Airforce fighter squadron trained in Australia and over German occupied Europe for six months has been added to the defense of Malaya.

The flyers joined Air Vice Marshal C. W. H. Pulford's far eastern force, which also includes British and other Australian squadrons manning Blenheim, Lockheed, and Hudson bombers, and British and Australian and New Zealand units flying Brewster and Buffalo fighters.

Three classes of Malayan air cadets have been graduated from the Singapore primary air school and are now in Canada and Britain while another group is completing its basic course.

NAVY THREATENS TO TAKE OVER AT 3 STRUCK JOBS

Monday Work Deadline Is Set in California.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The navy became embroiled in sharp controversy yesterday with AFL building trades units over work stoppages at three military establishments in the San Diego, Cal., area and announced that unless work was resumed Monday on the $10,500,000 in armament projects it would take over the job.

Work was halted last Monday on a destroyer base graving dock because of what the navy said was a jurisdictional dispute. Subsequently, AFL workers left their jobs on projects at the naval training station and the marines' Camp Elliott, asking 12½ per cent increase in wages. The present scale was said to range from 75 cents an hour for laborers to $1.37½ for electricians. About 1,500 men altogether are idle.

Secretary's Plea Rejected.

The secretary of the navy appealed Thursday for a return to work. In reply, K. G. Bitter, secretary of the San Diego Building Trades council, charged the navy was trying to deny labor its rights of collective bargaining.

Other labor developments:

The CIO United Automobile Workers declared no more axles would be shipped from the Ford Motor company's River Rouge, Mich., plant to its Canadian plant at Windsor until the Ford Motor Company of Canada recognized the CIO-UAW's bargaining rights. Ford of Canada is turning out many vehicles for the British armed forces. Later, the axle plant was tied up by a walkout of 259 workers on undisclosed demands.

In the midst of this dispute, a strike by a small group of welders forced closing of some units of the River Rouge plant, making 20,000 idle. The welders said they were asking wage adjustments, but details were not disclosed.

Harry Bennett, Ford personnel director, charged that 15 machines were sabotaged in the shutdown of the two plants.

At Ravenna, O., the government's 57 million dollar arsenal, in operation three months, faced a threatened strike that would tie up loading and shipping of shells and bombs. President R. R. Walker of the National Arsenal Workers local said four unions voted to strike next Thursday because of the war department's "procrastination and refusal" to approve contracts between the unions and the Atlas Powder company, which operates the shell loading plant. About 1,500 employés will be called out, it was said.

Assembly Plant Tied Up.

The CIO-UAW struck the Linden, N. J., assembly plant of General Motors corporation, affecting 4,000 workers. Strikers said they were protesting discharge of older employés and replacement by new men.

A jurisdictional dispute threatened a work stoppage at the Nevada Consolidated Copper corporation, Ely, Nev., which has 6,000 employés. The labor department, certifying the threatened strike to the defense mediation board, said it arose from transfer to ore delivery crews certain work which the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers contended belonged to assembly yard workers and pit crews.

In Kearny, N. J., the CIO Shipbuilders' union was demanding discharge from the navy-operated Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company of union men behind with their dues. The navy referred the demand to the defense mediation board, which appointed a special investigator to inquire into it.

HOYT DENOUNCES WAR MONGERING AMONG TEACHERS

Charges Efforts to Pack State Convention.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 7.—The program for the annual convention of the Wisconsin Education association convention was planned by war mongering elements to build up war sentiment among Wisconsin's 14,000 school teachers, it was charged tonight by Lansing Hoyt, state chairman of the America First committee.

Hoyt pointed to H. R. Knickerbocker, foreign correspondent, who opened yesterday's session with a plea to get in the war now, and to Herbert Agar, editor of the Louisville [Ky.] Courier-Journal, chief speaker today, who argued that America should declare war "instead of expecting gallant foreigners to die for our civilization," as evidence of the influence of the war party attempt to build up support among those whose profession is guiding the minds and thoughts of Wisconsin's younger generation.

Mr. Hoyt tried today to have a place made for a speaker who would present arguments for keeping out of war. He said that he was unable to reach Fred L. Witter, president of the association, whose term expires with the present convention.

Receives Many Phone Calls.

The beating of the war drums in the teachers' annual meeting which usually is devoted entirely to the advancement of their professional background, met the general disapproval of the teachers, Hoyt said tonight. He received many telephone calls, he said, and a personal visit from a principal of a Milwaukee school who protested against the political and one-sided character of the program.

It was at the suggestion of the Milwaukee principal that Mr. Hoyt tried vainly to reach the executives of the association to get a place on their program for a speaker who would explain the position of those who want to keep American boys out of a foreign war.

"The educators in today's session showed their disapproval of the attempt to make a propaganda machine out of their profession," Hoyt said, "by their marked withholding of applause for the speech by Mr. Agar. I attended the meeting and his war-like speech did not even receive the courtesy applause such a gathering ordinarily would give the principal speaker of their convention. The teachers disapproved and showed it by their silence."

Packed with Speakers.

Hoyt said the program of the teachers' convention seemed to be a repetition of the recent American Legion convention where the formal program was packed with speakers advocating war and support of the President's program.

"I have never before heard of an attempt to make political use of the meeting of these men and women who play such an important part in directing the thoughts of the children in the school whose minds are in the formative stage," he said.

"The people of Wisconsin and of Milwaukee are at least 85 per cent opposed to the President's war program," Hoyt continued. "Further evidence of this was seen last night in the attendance of not more than 500 at the well advertised rally of the Milwaukee chapter to Defend America, Inc.

"The America First committee has held many meetings at Milwaukee auditorium and the attendance at the last of these was more than 4,000. At a meeting addressed by Senator Burton K. Wheeler there were 8,000 within the auditorium main hall and as many more outside to hear him."

Calls It Economic Piracy.

Agar described the order planned by the Axis powers as an economics of piracy, secret police politics, and a condition of life in which nothing constructive would be created.

"It is time America stops hiring other men to pour out their blood to meet the challenge to our country," Agar said. "We're sincerely hoping the support of gallant foreigners won't run out so that we won't have to be inconvenienced by the war. We have to make a decision; to be hot for war or cold. I can find no honor in a pusilanimous middle course."

BARRETT PRAISES REGISTRY LAW AS VOTE FRAUD CURB

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 7 [Special].—County clerks in downstate Illinois will have one of the most powerful weapons ever constructed to prevent vote thievery when the permananet registration law goes into effect in downstate counties next June, Attorney General George F. Barrett said today in an address to the Illinois Association of County Clerks.

George F. Barrett.

Barrett explained provisions of the law, which was enacted at the recent session of the legislature. It will go into effect in all counties except Cook, which has had its own permanent registration act since 1937.

"Stopping the vote thief is one of the most important tasks which we, as elected officials of Illinois and Illinois counties, must face," Barrett said. "We have had instances in which stolen votes in Cook county changed the result of an entire state election."

Under the new law downstate county clerks will have power to canvass precincts and to determine which citizens are qualified to vote.

TOWS WRECKED CAR AWAY; HELD TO GRAND JURY

A garage foreman who tried to collect a $32 towing bill was ordered held to the grand jury yesterday by Justice of the Peace George W. Harrison of Evanston on a charge of operating a vehicle without the owner's consent.

The foreman, Olaf A. Schmidt, of 3116 North Western avenue, employed by the Johnson Motors company, Glencoe, arived at Skokie highway and Tower road, west of Hubbard Woods, shortly after an accident occurred there Oct. 4. He said he had been authorized to tow away the wrecked auto which had been driven by Harry R. McDonald, a soldier in the medical corps at Chanute field, Rantoul. McDonald already had been taken to a hospital.

Later Schmidt presented a $32 towing bill to the Pascal Drive-It Yourself system, 4827 Broadway, from which McDonald had rented the car. Frank Pascal, president of the firm, got the car back on a writ of replevin. He then filed a complaint against Schmidt, who is at liberty on $400 bond.

MORE WET SNOW DUE TODAY; COOL UNTIL MONDAY

A damp and clinging snow that began Thursday fell intermittently on Chicago yesterday and is expected to continue this morning. The forecast indicated that it would be followed by partly cloudy and cool weather and that no return to more balmy temperatures is likely before Monday. During the snowfall there were no interruptions to traffic, the flakes melting almost as fast as they fell.

The forecast was for a maximum of 35 degrees and a minimum of 30 degrees early tomorrow.

Chicago's policemen were well equipped for the chilling weather. By order of Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed rank, they were in heavy winter uniform. Inspections of the winter garb, required by regulations, were completed yesterday.

Anyway, It Was a Grand Story, Roosevelt Admits

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 [Special].—President Roosevelt today characterized as a grand story a report that the United States naval patrol has already sunk 42 submarines. When questioned about it Mr. Roosevelt asked for the source of the story. Told that it came from a high naval authority, he said he thought it a grand story and that the question and reply should be included in his next set of state papers.

ROCKFORD SCHOOLS CLOSED UNTIL JAN. 1; MONEY EXHAUSTED

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 7 (AP).—For Rockford's 13,000 school children, today was the start of an unprecedented eight week vacation. For 475 teachers, it was the last pay day of 1941. For parents, there was the problem of what to do with children underfoot until after the Christmas holidays.

For the school board, there was relief that $35,000 had been scraped together to meet the Friday pay roll and there were plans for a referendum in hope that the voters would increase the tax rates and stop the long series of financial dilemmas that had caused the educational "blackout."

When grade and high schools reopen Jan. 5, it will be a new fiscal year for the 23 public schools which make up a $7,000,009 investment in steel, stone, and brick. The schools will stand idle until January because tax boosts have been defeated in the past and because the school board decided to take drastic action to stop the deficits.

WITNESS TRACES WPA STRIKE TO TROTSKY CLIQUE

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 7 [Special].—Jurors in the trial of 28 persons on charges of seditious conspiracy today heard testimony that the Socialist Workers party [Trotskyist] drged agitation in WPA ranks long before a WPA strike here in 1939, and that the Federal Workers' section of General Drivers' union No. 544 was strong enough at that time to "take over the town."

John Novak, a government witness, testified that he was on WPA at the time of the strike and was a member of the Federal Workers section of local No. 544.

Novak said Oscar Coover and Edward Palmquist, two defendants, urged him to agitate in the WPA and to sow discontent among the workers on various projects. Coover is local secretary of the Socialist Workers party.

The WPA strike came in July, 1939, after a reduction in hours and wages on projects. A number of strikers were tried before United States District Judge Matthew M. Joyce, who is presiding at the present trial.

The witness said Palmquist, who was active in the Federal Workers section of the union, told him: "Our organization is big enough now to take over Minneapolis."

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Interference in Politics.

Upon the subject of your letter, I have to say that it is beyond my province to interfere with New York City politics; that I am very grateful to Gen. Dix for the zealous and able military and quasi-civil support he has given the government during the war, and that if the people of New York should tender him the mayoralty, and he accept it, nothing on that subject could be more satisfactory to me. In this I must not be understood as saying aught against any one, or as attempting the least degree of dictation in the matter.

A. Lincoln

Astor Letter, Nov. 9, 1863.

THE BRIBE TAKERS AND THE BRIBE GIVERS.

George E. Browne and his sweet smelling confederate, Willie Bioff, have had their hash settled by a federal jury in New York. They are in jail waiting sentence for using the stagehands' union as an instrument to extort approximately half a million dollars from the Hollywood motion picture producers.

The bribe takers have been convicted. The bribe givers were not formally on trial. The jurors were properly warned that in the case before them it could not be held against Browne and Bioff that they had associated with men who would defraud their stockholders and doctor their books in order to bribe the representatives of their employés to sell out those employés. It was a practical as well as a legal point that even such characters as Browne and Bioff might have been unjustly subjected to prejud.ce in the eyes of the jury thru such associations.

The bribe givers have not yet been brought to trial, but it is not impossible that they may be yet. Some of their doctored financial statements may have been filed with the SEC or the stock exchange in connection with the marketing of their securities, in which event it would seem that grounds for prosecution exist. Stockholders have already started suits seeking restitution of the bribe money from the men who gave the bribes. In any event, the evidence given at the trial has been sufficient to stamp major producing and exhibiting elements in the motion picture industry as utterly rotten morally.

The Browne and Bioff trial has given the nation a chance to reappraise some remarks made in a radio speech four years ago by President Roosevelt. In an evident attempt to disparage the newspapers of the nation, he commended the radio and motion pictures for having "taken the whole nation to school in the nation's business." At the time that Mr. Roosevelt spoke the Hollywood schoolmasters whom he praised were already engaged in their corruption of labor leaders and the falsification of their books.

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER.

Dr. William H. Johnson, Chicago's superintendent of schools, has sent out an Armistice day bulletin to teachers which states: "The young men of 1917 had confidence in their President and the congress of the United States of their day. They left their homes, a life of peaceful serenity, to cross stormy and turbulent waters, to represent a nation unified—solidified in thought and deed. The boys who lie in Flanders fields would today approve and indorse the foreign policy of the President and the congress. They would urge all Americans to join in a united, whole hearted, and unswerving support of our government's foreign policy."

An impostor must be sleeping in Arlington. Dr. Johnson has identified himself as the Unknown Soldier.

WHY WE HAVE MILK RIOTS.

Two suburban dairy companies are being subjected to a campaign of terrorism. Their trucks are being attacked on the streets and their employés slugged.

The two companies are selling milk below the established price in the Chicago area. They say their delivery men are members of an independent union, asserting that they get average wages of $50 a week. The milk wagon drivers' union is seeking to organize the drivers, and the violence may be laid at its door, even tho its officers deny knowledge of it, as naturally they would. The dairy company officials charge that the only purpose of the organization drive is to force them to raise their prices. In view of the history of the Chicago milk industry this charge cannot be rejected out of hand.

That the violence should be suppressed goes without saying. The authorities should be called to account if they fail to do so, and the goons should be punished. The violence cannot be ignored, but the conditions that lead to the violence also deserve consideration.

The factors that go to make up the retail price of milk in Chicago have been distorted out of any semblance of reality. The delivery men have a wage scale which, regardless of the needs of their families, is obviously so high that it is destroying the home delivery system on which the bulk of their jobs depend. The farmer-producers have a price fixed on an artificial basis and further tortured by government operations in the supposedly free markets that are designed to control it. The distributors have heavy investments in urban real estate that may be threatened by the paper containers, which make it economical to bottle milk at country plants.

All three are standing on their self-proclaimed rights—labor's right to a living wage, the farmers' right to a fair price, the distributors' right to a fair profit. The attempt to satisfy all these claimants has pushed the price of milk so high that consumption has dropped seriously. Prof. Raleigh Stone, who warned at the University of Chicago's 50th anniversary ceremonies of the danger of piling up so many rights that the productivity of society is insufficient to satisfy all of them, could have found no better illustration of his thesis than the Chicago milk industry.

The violence on the highways is a by-product of too many feudal rights and is a symptom of the collapse that threatens any artificial economic structure when it is subjected to the forces of competition.

A BILLION FOR RUSSIA.

Mr. Roosevelt has just turned over a billion dollars of the taxpayers' money to communist Russia. No interest is to be charged. No repayments will be due until five years after the end of the war and the final payment will not be required until 10 years later.

Congress was not consulted as to the wisdom of making such a loan nor as to the terms on which it was made. The people had been led to believe that Russia was outside the lend-lease scheme. Thus we engage in the crusade for democracy and liberty by supporting the Russian tyranny and depriving the American people's representatives of the control of the public purse which is the cornerstone of liberty.

It is impossible to believe that even Mr. Roosevelt expects to get this money back. It is a cardinal principle of communist policy, formulated by Marx and Lenin and practiced by the soviet régime from the first, to repudiate its obligations to capitalist countries. Nobody knows that better than Mr. Roosevelt. Contrary to precedent and advice he granted recognition to the soviet régime back in 1933 on the understanding that arrangements would be made for repaying the outstanding debts of nearly half a billion dollars owed by Russia to American citizens and their government.

That was the understanding which Litvinov reached with Mr. Roosevelt but the soviets never honored it. They agreed at the same time to cease their revolutionary propaganda in this country. That agreement also was broken. So was the provision for religious freedom. There isn't much chance that Britain will repay her lend-lease borrowings but there is no reason at all to expect that Russia will make good. That isn't the way Stalin and his gang do business.

To call this transaction a loan, as Mr. Roosevelt does, is to invent a new meaning for the word. To call it a means of providing Russia with important quantities of fighting equipment is equally absurd. There are only four avenues for sending supplies to Russia. Of these, the most convenient, Murmansk, is cut off. Archangel, the next nearest, is ice-locked. The road thru Persia is unfinished and the quantity of goods which can be moved over this route is, therefore, narrowly limited. Vladivostok is in the Japanese sphere and in any event it is already congested. At best, no great quantity of supplies can be moved to the front over the long Trans-Siberian railroad.

A billion dollars will cover many times over the value of any shipments we make to Russia in the foreseeable future. How absurdly large the figure is may be judged by comparison with our lend-lease shipments to Britain. Access to Britain is relatively free. Huge convoys sail from our shores for Britain at frequent intervals, yet as recently as Sept. 15, Mr. Roosevelt reported to congress that in six months the total value of equipment for land and air fighting which had been sent to Britain, the near east, and Africa on lend-lease account was less than 70 million dollars. This included 35½ million dollars' worth of ordnance and ordnance stores, 6 millions worth of airplanes and airplane parts, and 26¼ millions worth of tanks and other vehicles.

Russia has only a negligible merchant marine and much of ours is already engaged in war trade. Even if the neutrality act is repealed, we shall have few ships to spare for Russia. The British have been saying they haven't enough ships to supply their own needs. Where are the scores of vessels needed to transport the billion dollars' worth of goods to come from?

The billion dollars for Russia bears no relation to the quantity of military supplies we have available for export and no relation to the quantity which we could send if the ships and the ports to receive them were ready. When Russia has received everything we can send there will still be many hundreds of millions to her credit here. On the basis of past experience there can be little doubt of how it will be used.

The communists in this country are going to have hundreds of millions to spend in this country in furthering their revolutionary designs. Much of the small change they and the fellow travelers collected in previous years by pretending it was going to Spain and for other such purposes was used to advance the communist cause in this country. There is no reason to expect a different result this time.

The communists have no scruples. They are double-crossers by training and choice. Mr. Litvinov, whose previous understanding with our government was broken, is coming back as ambassador in time to get his hands on stupendous sums of money and it cannot be doubted that he will use them to further revolution.

Editorial of the Day

A SORRY CHAPTER.

[Fargo Forum.]

Secretary Morgenthau, at a recent press conference, said that the government was considering a new plan for financing which would centralize all borrowing in its own hands, and such a move, tho late, would be very much worth while. If this should go into effect, it would bring about the end of the double budget, and that has been a sorry chapter in the government's financial record of the last few years.

Our financing method hasn't been forthright. It hasn't given the people a clear picture of what has been going on.

In discussing the Morgenthau statement the Baltimore Sun says: "The double budget was set up when the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the Commodity Credit corporation, and other agencies of like nature, were authorized to borrow whatever funds they needed independently of the treasury and to spend without reporting their expenditures thru the regular federal accounts. In the 12 months which ended last June, for example, the autonomous corporations borrowed $1,126,000,000 in the open market, which did not count under the debt limit. They spent or obligated this money mostly for defense production, but it did not show under the head of national defense in the treasury statements, and it did not figure in the deficit."

In short, treasury statements have not been showing the government's financial status. "By the devious and unnatural process of permitting these public agencies to finance themselves," says the New York Herald Tribune, "nearly $11,000,000,000 in debt has been created which—because it consisted of contingent instead of direct liabilities—was not included in the government debt, and so was not covered by the debt limit provisions of the law."

It is to be hoped that Mr. Morgenthau was speaking with the certain knowledge that the change will be made.

MR. PEPYS TODDLES AROUND.

8th Nov.—Will go to my customary place on the football field today to cheer for the side I have adopted, and if they do not win there will be groaning and gnashing of teeth. Then downtown to dinner with the Chicago press veterans, who have a habit of assembling once a year, and if I can sneak away early I may drop into the Cliff Dwellers club, where the annual rites of harvest home dinner are to be celebrated, and no doubt I shall get home practically exhausted, altho this is supposed to be a day of rest for me. But I must keep up my reputation as a gadabout, I suppose, as long as possible.

Have done nothing of note this week, for whenever I have planned to bustle about it has rained and I have fled to the nearest refuge, which is the Tavern club. There I have sat in the new green dining room in solitary splendor, taking my dinner and reading my paper according to the ancient clubman custom. Did meet a lady there who said, "This green light is so cold," and I answered, "Yes, this is not intended to be a hot spot," and she said, "It makes you look terrible," and I answered, "Aren't we all?"

Will see a new play tomorrow night, and when I get my new clothes I may go to the opera, and the Historical society has invited me to a tea, and so I shall keep on doing this and that and looking on the brighter side of things to prevent myself from brooding over the fantastic and dangerous dreams that haunt the minds of this nation's leaders.

HOW THE FOOTBALL GOT ITS SHAPE.

Footballs in the Stone Age days
Were solid granite spheres.
And best of all the back field men
Was Saber-Tooth McSmears.

McSmears could lug the rounded rock
Thru enemies gigantic;
His passes were like meteors,
His plunges drove them frantic.

But this great hero had a wife,
A girl of gentle bearing;
One day she told McSmears to take
The baby for an airing.

Instead McSmears went out to play
Against the Missing Links.
His little woman thought the thoughts
An angry woman thinks.

She trailed him to the Piltdown Bowl,
And with a flying tackle
Threw great McSmears for such a loss
That all his bones did crackle.

She seized the ball. "I'll fix your game,
You pasty little shrimp!"
She took the sphere in both her hands
And squeezed it to a blimp.

And since the day McSmears declined
To push the baby carriage,
All footballs have been oval and
Most full backs have shunned marriage.

A Holdup at the Auditorium.

I have been surprised that in all the paragraphs which have appeared about the Auditorium there has been no mention of the oratorio concerts given three or four times a year by the Apollo Musical club under the direction of William L. Tomlins, unequaled trainer and leader of great choruses. There were always one or two performances of the "Messiah" at Christmas time and two other single concerts in the spring and fall.

We had four great soloists for each concert. In the season of 1897-'98 we engaged Pol Plançon, the French opera basso, thru an agency, for $300 or $400. Shortly before the concert the agency failed and Plançon sent word that he did not feel obliged to fulfill the contract, but would do so for $1,000. Our directors decided not to break faith with our public, and at the intermission I went backstage to hand Plançon $1,000 in currency.

I do not swim or ski or skate athletics are the things I hate the cigarets I smoke would pay for hit parades broadcast each day and people marvel as they watch me mixing beer and wine and scotch what with the friends and hours I keep
I seldom get a full night's sleep the pace I travel's much too fast
it can't keep up—I just won't last
I know I really should be dead but my physician says instead my dear, you're healthy, strong and fit to what do you attribute it?

Magnolias in the Museum.

One Sunday afternoon I visited the Field museum to spend an hour or two. While looking at an exhibit of magnolia in bloom I noticed an elderly, gray-haired Negro couple approaching.

I'll step aside, I thought, so they, too, can see the exhibit. They came to the case and for a moment were silent. Presently she placed her hand in his and said, "O, Tom! Magnolias!"

Their countenances seemed to reflect the old symbolism of the magnolia: High-souled, love of nature, and benevolence. They lingered for a while in silence and then, smiling, moved away.

THE HEROIC RESCUE OF PREMATURE INFANTS.

ABOUT seven and one-half years ago the world was startled by the advent of the five Dionne babies. Altho quintuplets occur once in every 57,000,000 births, only 60 cases thus far have been reported. Only one infant of five born in Portugal, in 1866, lived for as long as 50 days. But all the Dionne girls survived and are enjoying superb health.

As we know, these youngsters are not only of the same sex but of the same blood group. They are identical in color of the eyes, the pattern of the features, the hair, and the skin. The brilliant success of Dr. Allan Ray Dafoe has stimulated medical men to use greater efforts to save these tiny patients who appear before they are quite ready to take up the battle of existence.

Modern management of prematures demands that ample warmth be provided. These puny bodies cool quickly and a temperature of at least 80 degrees F. must be maintained constantly. As soon as heat is lost, vitality may sink so low that recovery will become impossible.

Next in importance is feeding. The best nourishment is mother's milk. Later, cod liver oil, orange juice, and egg yolk may be administered.

Infection, of course, can be fatal rapidly. This explains why these infants must be protected against friends and relatives who may unwittingly—thru handling—transplant organisms against which the child is not immune. Thus complete isolation [other than professional nurses] must be insisted upon. All who enter the nursery wear sterile gowns, caps, and masks. In addition hands must be washed thoroly before touching anything within the room.

Because the breathing of these tots is below par, oxygen may be called for. Should blueness be observed, 95 per cent oxygen—with or without carbon dioxide—must be employed without delay. Many hours elapsed before this vital gas reached Callander. When it came it proved to be indispensable.

Viewing the whole matter in retrospect, Dr. Dafoe described his little charges as resembling plucked, wrinkled chickens. At the hour of arrival, naturally, there was much confusion. The room was but dimly lighted with an oil lamp and the mother needed much attention, as she was in a dangerous condition. An old market basket was first utilized for the babies. It was lined with blankets which were warmed. The top layers were changed frequently, thus keeping up a constant supply of artificial heat. It was not until the second day that hot water bottles were located so that the temperature could be maintained at a proper level.

On the third day, with the coming of an incubator—which was only large enough to accommodate three of the babes—the weakest were placed therein. A week later a second apparatus was received. Before long there was one for each. The readings were kept between 87 degrees F. and 90. This was lowered to 84 gradually.

No one of these mites was allowed out of the device until a weight of six pounds had been attained. No food was given for the first 24 hours with the exception of a few drops of water every two hours. Thereafter mother's milk, which was boiled, constituted the diet. No artificial mixture was resorted to.

We should recall that these children were born about the seventh month of pregnancy and their combined weight totaled 13 pounds 6 ounces. A week later all five tipped the scales at but 10 pounds. The two heaviest were slightly over 2 pounds each and the smallest 1 pound 8½ ounces.

Pictures of these young ladies at the age of 7 convey no adequate conception of the wisdom and zeal of this faithful Canadian physician. Their step by step development will continue to be watched by mothers everywhere with an interest almost equal to that accorded their own offspring.

STUDENTS HAVE A BONFIRE.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—My son, a student in Wright college, brought home a circular distributed extensively by the American Student union of 30 North Clark street, which invites all students at Wright college to participate in a bonfire in which Charles A. Lindbergh's writings and speeches were to furnish the material for the bonfire.

It is hardly imaginable that these adolescents and immature students can put a true value on Col. Lindbergh's unselfish purpose to keep this country out of war. The elements so accurately described by Lindbergh as mostly interested in getting this country into the war seem to be in high places at the Wright college and probably are the prime movers if not the actual instigators of this particular event.

THE SCOTCH CONVERTS HIM.

Davenport, Ia., Nov. 6.—Up to now I have been an uncompromising opponent of any proposal to impress our battle fleet into convoy duty. But I read your editorial, "Navy Censorship," and I quote: "The Kearny was assuring the arrival of Scotch Whisky" [capitalize, please, suh. I respect good whisky], and my opposition wilted like a vanilla wafer dunked in the morning java. I inspected my rapidly diminishing private stock. No more, I rejoiced, shall I be forced to hurl myself against the five deep impregnable feminine cordon besieging my favorite bar.

I solemnly faced the east and reverently paid silent tribute to the man who has not only promulgated the four freedoms to an adulating world, but has added a vastly more important one, fizz: The freedom of the booze.

COURAGE IN CHILDREN.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—The Inquiring Camera Girl column has been gratifying, and the queries most arresting, particularly the answers by nurses in a recent issue. "What was your most interesting case?" Four of the answers registered pointed to the courage of children.

The doctors and nurses have a wonderful chance to help our youth of today. Many are meager in their praise of children—our future hope as citizens. Parents and teachers should stress every outstanding thing children do. We as adults know the loss of praise.

A BRIGHTER SIDE.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—The reëlection of La Guardia for another term has its brighter side. Had he been defeated he might have been appointed to a more prominent job where he could make more noise and do more damage than now. Who would appoint him? Aw, you know who. G. L.

JIMMY'S JUKE BOXES.

Canton, Miss., Oct. 24.—Some months ago Fred Mills, president of the Mills Novelty company, manufacturing Jimmy Roosevelt's juke boxes, declared he had applied for priorities on the materials needed, and expected to get them. The reason for the Mills optimism was because "the government wants the machines for educational purposes."

Back last February the censors got busy with these same juke boxes "for educational purposes," and I quote from a Brooklyn [N. Y.] daily:

"As a producer the President's son took the stand that his films were not to be shown to children, and that a measure of latitude should be granted. They are, he explained, for the barroom trade where customers have a habit of becoming shock proof after the first couple of jolts.

"The state movie censors, however, took a different attitude. Altho the Rooseveltian three minute movies may be intended only for adults, the censors have a solemn duty to protect the morals of the old as well as the young. In other words, they argued, movies should be above reproach, even when they come out of a juke box."

Edifying, isn't it?

A TRIBUNE FAN.

DEATH OF A SPARROW.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—This morning in a tree in front of a window I saw an unusual sight. Three sparrows were close together on a branch, the two on the outside apparently trying to keep the one in the middle warm. The central one had its head under its wing. It was small, probably one of the late hatched babies. One or the other of the attending birds flitted away for a while and came back. Several others hovered around in the tree and there was subdued excitement and an occasional encouraging chirp at the motionless one. The bad weather has come and the poor little thing couldn't take it. Finally he dropped.

If every one would save the bit of bread or roll left over and put it near a tree or bush or on the edge of a walk, especially when the snow comes, thousands of birds would be spared starvation.

GERTRUDE CHARNY.

DANGER IS WITHIN.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 3.—All who have not fallen victims to the blah blah of the war mongers know that Albert Jay Nock spoke the truth when he said:

"No living American has ever been, or is now, in the slightest danger from any government in the world except his own."

How can we square that self-evident truth with all the "defense" ballyhoo?

It is quite easy. Whenever you read any "defense" ballyhoo, just substitute the word "offense" for the word "defense" and the word "offensive" for the word "defensive."

Try it and see; you will find that it works. H. W. NOREN.

A NEGLECTED MAIN ARTERY.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Being a west sider, naturally I am interested in that part of the city. It is sad to see how Madison street, our main artery, is neglected. This great street should be shining and clean and there should be no stores for rent. Why should this ideally located street have vacant stores and buildings so badly in need of paint?

It might be a good idea to give some of those poor men standing around Madison street a few pennies to fix and paint up fronts of buildings. I have heard people from out of town remark that they dislike to see these men greet them as they come in at a railroad station. It is the first sight to greet them at the North Western and Union stations, and some of them get the wrong impression of our fair city.

Let's doll up our main artery—Madison street. It is pretty much neglected from Canal street almost to Garfield park.

[South Wales Echo.]

GRAND JURY TOLD HOW SYNDICATE SPLITS PROFITS

20 Tavern Keepers Say They Get 40 Pct.

How the syndicate which controls gambling in Cook county areas outside Chicago operates its slot machine racket was described to the grand jury yesterday by more than 20 tavern keepers, most of them from the village of Lyons. The grand jury is making a sweeping investigation of gambling and the accompanying corruption of police and other law enforcing officials.

The tavern keepers were reported to have admitted they had slot machines at times in their resorts, and received what they were assured by collectors for the machine owners was a 40 per cent split of the profits. Only the first names of the collectors were known to them, the witnesses said; they added that they had never been informed of the names of the owners, and had not tried to find out.

Collectors Did the Counting.

In general, it was reported, the collectors did all the computations of profits themselves and the wise saloonkeepers never questioned the figures. A few of the tavern men were said to have demanded and received a 50-50 split.

Among those questioned were Walter Tomczyk and his wife, Estelle, of 3014 Allen avenue, who filed a suit on Tuesday asking that the Rock Garden club, a syndicate gambling house in Cicero, be forced to repay $2,650 which Tomczyk allegedly lost in the club's dice games between February and September of 1941.

Crowley Presents Evidence.

The operations of the syndicate, headed by Jack Guzik and Frank Nitti, old Capone gang members, were exposed recently in THE TRIBUNE, which published the gang's July ledger sheets showing the amount of bribes paid and the huge profits that were divided by four men. The evidence is being presented to the grand jurors by Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney.

The police made a few raids in the loop area. The gambling and morals division under Capt. Martin McCormick made arrests at 343 South Clark street and 128 West Lake street. Capt. Thomas Duffy of the central district raided at 223 North Clark street, 24 North Wells street, and 359 West Madison street. One man was taken into custody at each of the five places.

In the South State street court Judge Oscar Caplan assessed fines yesterday against 20 men, arrested as gambling house keepers by the Chicago police on Thursday. The individual fines were $5 or $10.

N.Y.'S HEADACHE: ELECT OFFICIALS, ABOLISH OFFICES

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—New York City voters elected some candidates Tuesday to certain offices and simultaneously voted the offices out of existence, thus leaving the city today with a legal hangover. It appeared that the courts would be called upon to cure it.

It is more than a question of whether the egg came before the chicken, whether the offices were abolished and candidates then elected to them, or of whether the candidates were elected and their offices immediately taken away.

Apparently it is a question of what the people wanted done, officials said.

This municipal paradox occurred when voters in four of the city's five counties—there was no election for the offices in the fifth—chose their county sheriffs and registers.

Then, on the same voting machine and with the same yank, they approved a proposition to abolish the offices and establish instead one city-wide sheriff and one city-wide register, both to be appointed by the mayor from civil service lists.

LANGER TARGET OF PERSECUTION, WITNESSES SAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—Witnesses on behalf of Sen. William Langer [R., N. D.], who is being investigated by a senate committee on a petition for unseating, testified today he has been persecuted by political enemies. Langer is expected to testify Monday.

Rep. Usher L. Burdick [R., N. D.] told the senate privileges and elections committee that principals in the 1934 conspiracy trial against Langer, on charges Langer had collected political donations from federal government employés in North Dakota, were "out to get him."

He referred to Federal Judge Andrew Miller, the United States marshal, and other court attendants. Miller presided at the trial and sentenced Langer to 18 months in prison and a $10,000 fine. The conviction was reversed and Langer was acquitted after two retrials before another judge.

TAVERNKEEPER ROBBED OF $875.

Joseph Stasiek stepped off a street car at 47th street and Sacramento avenue yesterday with $875 in his pocket, intending to cash pay checks for patrons of his tavern at 3000 West 47th street. Two men wearing dark glasses forced him into a parked car which a third man drove several blocks. They got the $875.

KANKAKEE POLICE GET THEIR MAN—LODGER IN CELL

Find Auto Thief After Six Hour Search of City.

Kankakee police searched their city for six hours early yesterday for the thief who had abandoned a stolen car. They found him resting comfortably in the police lockup—which he had entered voluntarily to spend the night.

Chief of Police L. B. Rogers said that Raymond Royce, 17 years old, had confessed the theft. The chief said the boy, a ward of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, told the following story:

After walking out of the society's receiving home at 326 Ridge avenue, Evanston, Thursday night, he stole the car, owned by Charles W. Lemke of 1129 Dewey avenue, Evanston, in front of Lemke's home.

Asks Sergeant for Lodging.

He drove to Herscher, Kankakee county, where he had previously lived in a foster home. In Hersher he broke a window in a hardware store and stole a 12 gauge shotgun, a .22 caliber rifle, and several boxes of shells. In Kankakee he ran out of gasoline, abandoned the car, and walked six blocks to the police station, where he asked Desk Sergt. Bert White where he could spend the night.

"Just grab an empty cell," Sergt. White said. The boy did, automatically locking himself in when he closed the cell door. While he slept police discovered the abandoned car, previously reported by radio to have been stolen and began their search for the thief. That was about midnight Thursday.

It was not until 6 a. m. yesterday that Sergt. White, talking to Royce, learned he was the thief.

To Be Quizzed on Other Thefts.

"I intended to drive to Burlington, Ia., to see my mother, Mrs. Nellie Royce," the boy told Chief Rogers.

Officials at the home in Evanston said they had approved the boy's plan to visit his mother, but understood he intended to hitch hike. Royce has been the society's ward since 1930, they said.

Royce was taken back to Evanston last night. To the police there he confessed that he had stolen five other cars, taken rides of 100 miles or so in each, and abandoned them near the home. He said he "just liked to ride" and took nothing but new cars.

The youth named another ward of the home, Robert Walker, 15 years old, as an accomplice in some of the joy rides, and he was also taken into custody.

BURGLARS LOOT HOME.

Clothing and silverware valued at $350 and $25 cash were taken by burglars from the home of Wendell H. Reis, 350 West 74th street, a salesman, he reported to police yesterday.

FURRIER DENIED RETRIAL OF SUIT AGAINST POLICE

Theodore Dalpe, Chicago furrier, yesterday was denied a motion for a new trial in his $50,000 false arrest suit against John McWhorter, former postal inspector in Chicago; Capt. Dan Gilbert, Lieut. Thomas Kelly, and three other policemen of the state's attorney's staff.

Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady at Woodstock entered the judgment returned by a jury on Wednesday, assessing damages of $1 against McWhorter, who did not appear at the trial, and finding Gilbert and his aids not guilty. Dalpe accused the policemen and McWhorter of falsely arresting him in 1938 on a charge of receiving stolen property.

Dalpe was convicted in Criminal court on the charge, but the Illinois Supreme court later reversed the conviction on the ground of unlawful search.

Municipal Judge Asks Help for Information Bureau

Municipal Judge John Gutknecht urged yesterday that the staff of the bureau of criminal information and statistics be increased so that records necessary to efficient court procedure can be kept up to date. He had been told by Capt. William Stapleton, bureau head, that the bureau was two months behind. Judge Gutknecht discovered that a defendant had been arrested five times on speeding charges but this information was not available at his trial.

$60,000 BOND SET FOR PAROLEE IN POLICE SHOOTING

Judge John V. McCormick in Felony court yesterday ordered George Baker, a paroled convict, held in bonds of $60,000 and continued until Dec. 2 hearing on two charges of assault to kill. Last Sunday Baker shot and seriously wounded two policemen who had come to arrest him for a tavern brawl. The policemen are Peter McGuire and William Sullivan of the Town Hall station. James A. Brown, assistant state's attorney, asked for a delay in the hearing of the assault charges pending the outcome of the policemen's wounds. They are in Ravenswood hospital.

'BIG 5' RAILMEN REJECT TERMS, ORDER A STRIKE

chairmen who have been in the service from 20 to 30 years."

The railroads were brief in announcing their acceptance of the board's recommendation "despite the very heavy burden it imposes upon the railroads." Their statement read:

"A full and fair hearing was held before the President's Emergency board as provided by law and the committees feel that in this time of national emergency, in the interest of national defense, and in keeping with the President's address to the delegates to the International labor office, the board's recommendations should be accepted."

Demands of Other Unions.

In addition to the demand of the operating brotherhoods for a 30 per cent wage increase, the nonoperating unions asked an increase of 30 cents an hour, and a two weeks' vacation with pay. The railroads asked revision of the rules covering working arrangements. The carriers estimated it would cost them $900,000,000 annually to grant the demands.

The fact finding board recommended a 7½ per cent wage boost for the operating brotherhoods, a 9 cents an hour increase—equal to an average of 13½ per cent—for the nonoperating groups and a week's vacation with pay and other minor adjustments for express and other workers. It was estimated the added cost to railroad operation from the recommendations would be $270,000,000 annually.

President Names Board.

In Washington, President Roosevelt announced that he had appointed a three man board to investigate a dispute between the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, whose difficulties over jurisdiction have shut down operations in Detroit of the Railway Express agency. The personnel of the board was not made public.

The President sent to Daniel J. Tobin, the teamster's president, a request that he send his men back to work by 10 a. m. today, as the strike of the teamsters was holding up armament production.

Tobin, in Detroit, said he was willing to submit the issues between the unions to the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, "the only impartial arbitration board there is." [Tobin is a member of the executive council.] The clerks recently won a national railway board election and claimed to represent the agency's teamsters also. The teamsters went on strike Oct. 31.

SENTENCES STRIP CITY IN N. Y. OF ITS OFFICIALDOM

Lackawanna, N. Y., Nov. 7 (AP).—The 25,000 inhabitants of this city were without a local administration tonight, their mayor and six other officials having resigned shortly before being sentenced for conspiracy to defraud the city by padding WPA pay rolls. Citizens looked to Gov. Herbert H. Lehman to appoint a new city government. The governor, in New York City, gave no indication when he would act.

Convicted June 30, Mayor John F. Aszkler, three councilmen, a city clerk, and the city projects manager got suspended prison terms from Supreme Court Justice Almon W. Lytle in Buffalo and were fined $500 each. A fourth councilman was fined $250. The sentences and the resignations had been deferred until after Tuesday's election to permit payment of salary checks to municipal employés. The next pay rolls, however, are due Nov. 15.

There is no provision in the city charter for successors. Political observers expected Mayor Elect Michael J. Hughes, Democrat, and the newly elected councilmen would be appointed to fill the vacancies until Dec. 31. They assume office Jan. 1.

GOVERNOR'S WIFE SIGNS PLEDGE TO 'SAVE, SIMPLIFY'

Mrs. Dwight Green, wife of the governor, yesterday became the first Illinois housewife to sign the "war against waste" pledge which the housewives of America will be asked to sign next Wednesday.

The pledge, which first will be circulated on Wednesday as part of the national observance of Civilian Defense week, was devised by the consumers' division of the Office of Price Administration. It carries the slogan, "Save, simplify, substitute."

Housewives will be asked to pledge themselves against waste in the home, a spokesman for the Illinois Defense council said. "This means all kinds of waste," he said. Asked what substitutes were to be pledged for what foods, he said Washington has not yet decided.

Klarman of New York said today. Klarman, president of the Star Engineering company, said that he already had a contract for the first 30 ships. They will be 10,000 ton tankers costing between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000 each.

ROB CURRENCY EXCHANGE NEAR FACTORY OF $6,350

A carefully planned holdup netted two gunmen $6,350 yesterday at a currency exchange opposite a factory at 1014 South Kildare avenue. The money had just been delivered to the exchange in an armored truck. It was ready to be used in cashing employé checks of the Dryden Rubber company, when the robbers pushed open the door, breaking off a previously sawed lock.

The bandits scooped up the currency, fastened a new padlock on the outside of the door, locking in Carl Hatterman and Irwin Smid, cashiers, and fled east on foot. The cashiers were released by a factory employé who witnessed the robbery.

Smid told Sergt. Timothy O'Connell of the detective bureau that he noticed the lock had been tampered with just before the two gunmen entered. Police said some one gained access to the exchange, housed in a steel shack, some night during the week, then sawed the bolt covering nearly thru. The exchange is open only on pay days at the plant. It is a branch of the Check agency, 4003 Roosevelt road.

PRESSURE TO BUY TICKETS AROUSES CITY'S TEACHERS

The method used by Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson to increase the sale of tickets to the annual public-parochial school championship football game was objected to yesterday by many teachers.

In a bulletin sent to principals and teachers Johnson explained that the entire proceeds of the game, to be held Nov. 29 in Soldiers' field, will go to Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit fund. The fund is used to buy clothes for needy children, he explained. The clothes are distributed by Democratic precinct captains.

"I know you will wish to do your share by purchasing at least one ticket to this football game," Johnson's bulletin said.

Kermit Eby, executive secretary of the Chicago Teachers' union, said the union members already have been urged not to buy the tickets. He said that at a meeting Thursday night 500 delegates of the union pledged that they will not buy a ticket or sell one.

LIVING COSTS BONUS OF 140,000 CANADIAN RAIL WORKERS RAISED

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 7 (AP).—The general conference committee of 18 international railway labor organizations tonight announced a settlement with the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways, increasing from $1.93 to $3.20 a week the cost-of-living bonus to employés.

The agreement affects about 140,000 Canadian rail workers. The new rate will be retroactive to Sept. 1.

The increase was made under a bonus agreement providing for adjustments when the cost of living index rises.

RISKS LAW SUIT TO HELP WOMAN HE CAN'T MARRY

A letter written by Leo Rosner of Miami, Fla., and read yesterday in the court of Judge Rudolph Desort, may win $35 a month for Mrs. Rae Levin, 33 years old, former wife of Dr. Carl S. Levin, 1022 Argyle street. And, if Mrs. Levin chooses to name him in a breach of promise suit, which is permissible under Florida law, the missive might prove expensive for Leo.

On Sept. 3 Mrs. Levin asked the judge to reduce her alimony from the doctor, a dentist, as she intended to marry Rosner. The reduction was to be from $105 to $70. The court granted the request. On Sept. 19 Mrs. Levin's attorneys asked for restoration of the $105 rate, stating that the marriage to Rosner would not take place.

Judge Desort asked that Rosner tell his story. His letter expressed admiration for Mrs. Rosner. He said, however, that relatives from Czecho-Slovakia, refugees, had created financial problems that made marriage inadvisable. The judge ordered that the case be continued and that Mrs. Levin come back from Florida for additional questioning.

1 CENT DAMAGES TURNED DOWN IN JOSLYN CASE

Counsel for George R. Joslyn, son of a wealthy manufacturer, wouldn't settle for 1 cent yesterday, altho Thomas Hart Fisher, counsel for Mrs. Charlotte C. Joslyn, his former wife, agreed with Municipal Judge Joseph B. Hermes that the 1 cent should satisfy her damage suit.

The Joslyn case played in the divorce courts for a year before the wife obtained a divorce and custody of their two children in 1938. Joslyn then married Miss Ethel Urban. He posted a $50,000 bond to guarantee return of the children when they were permitted to visit him.

Mrs. Joslyn sued in September, 1939, to recover damages under the bond, charging that Joslyn had been a day late in returning the children. When the case came up for the 12th time yesterday Judge Hermes expressed hope that it could be settled and opined that damages of 1 cent would be about right. Fisher agreed.

"But it is not all right with me," snapped Alvin C. Hubbard, Joslyn's lawyer. "My client must be vindicated!"

The case was continued for two weeks.

KING OF POLICY? NO, SAYS MARTIN; TELLS OF HOLDUP

James C. [Big Jim] Martin, colored, who has been called the policy king of the west side, testified yesterday in the court of Judge John A. Sbarbaro that he had no connection with policy gambling.

He was a witness against Harvey Rogers, a former convict, on trial for robbery. He identified Rogers as one of three men who held him up last May and took $300 and a $300 ring from him and then demanded $100,000 as the price of his release. He was released, along with his wife and his chauffeur, after the demand had been reduced to $7,000, he said. The trial will continue Monday.

Martin lives at 155 South 15th avenue, Maywood, and owns a tavern at 1900 Lake street.

10 MILLION VALUE PUT ON HOLDINGS BY BUS COMPANY

Witnesses presented by the Chicago Motor Coach company testified yesterday that its properties are worth between $9,900,000 and $10,310,000. Testimony was given by Maynard M. Cook and Francis S. Haberly, valuation engineers, in hearings before the Illinois Commerce commission which is investigating the reasonableness of the 10 cent bus fare.

Cook said the $9,900,000 figure represents the original cost of the property, less depreciation, and the higher figure the cost to reproduce the properties now, minus depreciation. Both figures include $1,100,000 in intangibles which the witnesses labeled "going value, including cost of developing business and property."

Haberly submitted charts showing that the average of 784 commodities has increased 19 per cent since 1939. The hearing was continued to Nov. 24.

KIP RHINELANDER'S DIVORCED WIFE WINS $300 MONTH FOR LIFE

Mineola, N. Y., Nov. 7 (AP).—A sequel to the Leonard Kip Rhinelander annulment trial was written today by a court ruling that the estate must pay his former wife, Alice Jones, $300 a month for life.

The daughter of a Negro cab driver, she was divorced in 1930 by Rhinelander in Reno after he lost the annulment battle in one of the famous jury trials of the '20s. They were married in 1924. At the time of the Nevada decree he settled $31,500 on her and set up the $3,600 annuity.

Rhinelander died in 1936 and the $300 monthly was paid by the family until the death last year of the father, Philip Rhinelander. Payments then lapsed, with Leonard's sister, Mrs. Adelaide R. Thomas, contending the agreement was illegal.

Surrogate Leone D. Howell upheld Alice Jones' claim that the obligation should be binding upon heirs, executors, and administrators. Miss Jones still lives in New Rochelle, next door to the house where she was courted. The Rhinelander riches once were estimated at 50 million dollars.

Fashion Steps Out Tonight for Opera Opening

BY JUDITH CASS.

IF SOME genie could pick up several hundred of the men and women who will assemble in the Fourth Presbyterian church this afternoon to attend a service in memory of Harold Fowler McCormick, change their daytime clothes to formal evening garb and put them down in the Civic Opera house at 8 o'clock tonight, we would have an audience such as used to be seen in the old Auditorium. But times have changed—as they must, of course—and the audience that will tonight crowd thru the drafty entrance of the great opera house on the river bank will not be representative of Society with a capital S. There is some doubt as to whether there is any such group today, but we will not enter into a discussion of that.

Audience Tonight Will Be Stylish if Not So Ultra.

Tonight's audience will be fashionable, however, if the adjective is used as a synonym for modish or stylish, for the gowns, jewels, and furs that will be seen will be the finest that money can buy. There will be some scattered in the boxes and on the main floor whose names are tops socially, but the list of boxholders does not read like the Social Register. All of which sounds snobbish but it isn't meant that way. It's really a criticism of those fashionable ones who used to attend the opera when it was supported by the late Harold McCormick and Edith Rockefeller McCormick, and who now leave this art severely alone.

Those who go to the Fourth Presbyterian church today for the 2 o'clock memorial service will not all be persons whose names make social news, however, for Mr. McCormick counted among his friends people in all walks of life. He made no distinction between the high and the low. So it is certain that those who gather in the large church at Michigan avenue and Delaware place to honor his memory will not all be persons who used to add brilliance and smartness to the opera audiences.

Here Are Boxholders for Opening Performance.

Those who have boxes at the opera tonight are Mrs. James G. McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. Hill Blackett, Mrs. Ruth Staley Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Barnett Faroll, A. T. Dietrich, Nathan E. Goldblatt, Robert Hall McCormick, Mrs. Ernest R. Graham, Mrs. James Hirschfield, Mayor Kelly, Fred A. Poor, Mrs. Hugo Dalmar, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Shakman, Mrs. George B. Everett, Mrs. Ewald H. Siebel, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Harry I. Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Millard B. Kennedy, P. J. Healy, F. C. Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Leverone, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent P. Reilly, Mr. and Mrs. Sigurd Olsen, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. James B. McCahey, J. Bradley-Griffin, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Monroe Wynne.

Mr. and Mrs. Wynne have taken two boxes, 11 and 11A [really 13, but no one ever wants to sit in a box of that number], in which to entertain their Casino club dinner guests. The special guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Hawkes of Montclair, N. J. and Pasadena, Cal., who will spend the week-end in Winnetka with Mr. and Mrs. Wynne.

The McMillans are entertaining at dinner at the Casino before the opera, also, and Mrs. Baur is giving a dinner party at her Astor street home. Mrs. Graham and Mr. McCormick are taking their dinner guests to the Electric club.

Social Register Shows Marriages on Increase.

The Social Register association in its latest statistics reports that the Chicago Register for 1942 shows 235 persons as having been married this year, as compared with 180 in the 1941 edition. Deaths have fallen off slightly, the current edition listing 29 women and 39 men. The new register is making its appearance shortly.

The John S. Millers and the Alan C. Dixons are planning a dinner party for debutante Miss Barbara McNulty for Sunday, Dec. 28. They will take their young guests on to Sonja Henie's ice show afterwards. Miss McNulty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. McNulty, will make her debut at a tea-dance at the Racquet club on Monday, Dec. 22.

Miss Nancy Scribner, daughter of the Gilbert H. Scribners of Winnetka, will make her bow at a tea-dance at the Indian Hill club on Wednesday, Dec. 24. There will be few older people at this party for only Miss Nancy's friends are being invited.

Formal dress is in order for the Dinner Dance club's first party of the year tonight at the Saddle and Cycle, but the young people who belong to the club have a costume party and a skating spree to look forward to later in the year. Dinner Dance club members are sophomores, juniors, and seniors in high school.

President and Mrs. Snyder Hosts at Football Game.

President and Mrs. Franklyn B. Snyder have invited a number of friends and several army and navy officers and their wives to share the president's box during the Northwestern-Indiana football game today. Among their guests will be Adm. and Mrs. John Downes, who will head a naval delegation for the annual observance of Armistice day between the halves of the game.

The engagement of Miss Rachel Dole Lilystrand to G. Fabian Brewer, announced last week in Tulsa, Okla., at a party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lilystrand, is of interest to Chicagoans because young Mr. Brewer has made his home here for the past eight years. He is the son of Mrs. Fabian Seckel Brewer of Greenport, N. Y., and the late Mr. Brewer, and the grandson of Mrs. Robert Todd Brewer of East Elm street and of the late Adolph Seckel. The wedding is planned for Dec. 27 and will take place in Tulsa.

Preview of Furs to Be Seen at Opera Opening

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Coats such as Mrs. Charles N. Fuller and Mrs. Winfield Durbin (right) were wearing when this picture was taken will be seen in large numbers tonight, for this is the opening night of the opera season in the Civic Opera house, and every woman who is present on this gala occasion will be wearing her handsomest evening wrap. Mrs. Fuller's coat was a full-length one of mink and Mrs. Durbin's was a three-quarter one of white fox. This picture was taken at the St. Luke's fashion show.

Good Morning!

Relax, Astaire fans!

In "You'll Never Get Rich" Fred proves that he was never on the way out and that he is in no way dependent on Ginger Rogers as a dancing partner. . . . He and lovely Rita Hayworth put over with a bang one of the best pictures the screen's top dancing comedian has ever had.

It's one of those films that we say "has everything." Interesting story, fine direction, clever acting, laughs by the barrel full, fascinating dance numbers—solo and ensemble—and Cole Porter songs—"Dream Dancing," "So Near and Yet So Far," "Since I Kissed My Baby Good-by" among them.

The opening scenes show Mr. Astaire as a dance director. . . . But he's not that way for long. . . . Fell circumstance in the form of a philandering producer with a jealous wife, who insists on making Director Curtis goat when a goat is needed, goad him into joining the army. . . . Away to camp he goes. There for one reason and another he spends most of his time in the guardhouse.

But his producer catches up with him and the producer's current girl friend AND the producer's wife. . . . And Robert just all "that way" about beauteous Sheila Winthrop, who had danced in his show and who is next door to camp with her auntie, visiting Capt. Tom Barton, who wants her to become engaged to him!

Complications are amusing and unexpected and nobody is going to mind a bit the gentle ribbing accorded army life.

Beside your keen enjoyment of the stars' performances, you will find much to your liking the double talk of Cliff Nazarro, the grim sweetness of Frieda Inescort as Mrs. Cortland, and the devious ways of Robert Benchley as Cortland. . . . Bright bits by Marjorie Gateson, Ann Shoemaker, John Hubbard, and Guinn Williams.

I hope I've sold you on "You'll Never Get Rich."

See you tomorrow.

Cycle.

It was armistice night, 1923. He was the leader of a well-known dance orchestra that played nightly at what then was the largest theater restaurant in the country. He broadcast nightly, playing his banjo and singing his comic ditties. That night, as Jonas Perlberg tells the tale, while he was broadcasting, the boss decided to distribute noisemakers and balloons to the tables. The bursting of the balloons and the sound of the noisemakers created so much disturbance it interfered with the broadcast, and when it was over, the orchestra leader walked over to the boss and told him what he thought of distributing them during his number. One word lead to another and the boss gave the band leader his notice. Since then the boss has died, and the night club has changed hands many times.

Recently it opened again for another try. The day before the opening a man walked in with a brief case under his arm. It was the former band leader.

"I'd like to talk with you a minute," he said to the owner. The owner recognized him. "Sorry, old man, but I've booked my bands for two months," he said.

"O, I don't play the banjo anymore," answered the man with the brief case. "I'm selling balloons and noisemakers. I want to sell you some for your Armistice day celebration."

* THRU THE LOOKING GLASS *

One of our favorite perfumes in all the world—a special for those occasions when you want a perfume sophisticated as all get-out—is now available in a bubble bath preparation. It's whoosey as anything. There's nothing quite like a luxurious bath glorified with this. You feel like a cherished little orchid.

As bubble preparations go, this is one of the nicest. It makes billions of bubbles, lighter than air and twice as beautifully perfumed and whether you find your luxury bath relaxing or refreshing depends entirely on how long you loll in the tub. If you want to relax make your bath a leisurely one. If you're dog tired and depressed, make it a little snappier; and finish off with cooler water and a rubdown with cologne.

The perfume is superlative, we think. It's rather a rich, stirring kind of a scent, with distinctly amberish undertones. It's synonymous with luxury and sophistication — exactly what you need when you wish you had another face, another wardrobe and perhaps a million dollars. A few scoopfuls of the bath stuff under the running water will produce a tubfull of bubbly glamor, will perfume the room, and scent your skin for hours.

This is packaged pretty neatly in a cunning miniature of a bath hamper decorated with gay ribbons.

Chicago Opera Starts Its 1941 Season Tonight

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Chicago Opera company hopefully throws open the doors of the Civic Opera house tonight for the first performance of the 1941 season. The opera to be sung is Verdi's "A Masked Ball," one of the few European operas with an American setting [Boston in colonial times].

"A Masked Ball" has not been heard in Chicago for 11 years. The cast which will take part in tonight's revival is headed by the German soprano, Elisabeth Rethberg; the Italian tenor, Giovanni Martinelli, and the American baritone, John Charles Thomas. The brilliant young American soprano, Josephine Antoine, is to have a comparatively small but important part. Emile Cooper, Russian conductor, who is returning to the Chicago company this year after nearly a decade's absence, will be in charge of the performance.

Yesterday the Civic Opera house, which for months has been the scene of plannings and plottings and sectional rehearsals, burst into brilliant life with a dress rehearsal of "A Masked Ball." Principals, orchestra, and chorus went thru the strange story of conspiracy and witchcraft and death in old Boston and endeavored to iron out all kinks in production in preparation for tonight's performance.

The opera season will run five weeks this year and will consist of 26 performances. Opera nights are Monday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday. There will be Saturday afternoon performances beginning on Nov. 15. The Friday series is sponsored by the board of education, and tickets are sold at lower prices than on other days.

The season promises a revival not only of "A Masked Ball" but of the Donizetti opera, "The Daughter of the Regiment." Lily Pons will sing the principal part in the latter work one week from tonight. The rest of the répertoire will be drawn from the same list of standard operas that has been used in the last few years.

As to personnel, the company has signed numerous favorites of other years, such as Helen Jepson, Ezio Pinza, and the four already mentioned, and in addition will bring in a generous number of newcomers to add zest to the season.

The general director of the opera company this year is Fortune Gallo, and the artistic director is Giovanni Martinelli. The stage director is William Wymetal. The dance group is the Littlefield ballet.

Seven Gifts Totaling $36,000 Are Reported by Community Fund

Seven subscriptions totaling $36,000 for the Community Fund drive were reported yesterday by Bryan S. Reid, chairman of the Sponsors' division. These gifts are all separate from donations from the companies' employés which have not yet been reported.

The largest, $12,000 each, came from Marshall Field & Co., and the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company; $5,000 from Morton Salt company, $3,500 from Universal Oil Products company; $2,750 from American National Bank and Trust company; $1,500 from the Columbia Broadcasting company, and $1,250 from the Liquor Dealers Supply company.

The fund has received $2,564,031 at the close of the fifth week in its drive for $3,583,000 to be distributed among Chicago's 185 leading charities and social agencies. This represents 72 per cent of the goal and is slightly ahead of the corresponding period in the 1940 campaign, said Robert A. Gardner, president.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 7.—Just back from Washington on army business, Darryl Zanuck has decided that a film should be made called "Atlantic Patrol," in which Linda Darnell and George Montgomery will protect our sea lanes to Iceland. Mr. Z.'s decision to create a new starring team resulted from his having seen Miss Darnell in "Rise and Shine" and Mr. Montgomery in rushes of the Ginger Rogers picture, "Roxie Hart." . . . There's a report going around that Hal Wallis will move from Warners' to RKO. If true, a good trade paper item. . . . The last fortnight has witnessed an epidemic of naming new babies after Gloria Jean. Miss Jean's studio, Universal, knows of six such cases in that time. The most recent case is of a Japanese infant now known as Gloria Jean Yusoki.

Linda Darnell.

The new Abbott-Costello picture, "Keep 'Em Flying," will be world premiered in Detroit on the 19th. Mr. A., Mr. C., Carol Bruce, and Dick Foran will visit New York on their way to Detroit. A bit of a detour. . . . Janet Blair lands the feminine lead in Columbia's "Trinidad." This is the rôle for which Claire Trevor and then Rita Hayworth were named. Miss Blair, who was discovered singing in the Hal Kemp orchestra, will sing.

Rex Beach has again proved he is no chump. When he sells something he never quite sells all of it, so he is always in a position to collect some more on it. Take his novel, "The Spoilers." Goodness knows how many times it has been filmed. The first "Spoilers" was historic because William Farnum and Tom Santschi fit a fight that has, according to common consent, never been equaled. [Since then every director who ever had a fight sequence has announced that he and his actors are going to spare no pains or wounds to make the scrap even better than the one in "The Spoilers."] . . . Well, the Beach yarn is up for production again, this time at Universal with Marlene Dietrich as the incitement and John Wayne and Randolph Scott as the battlers. And once again the novelist collects, for his screen rights are never sold—just leased for a stated period, after which they revert to the author.

Lon Chaney Jr., whose father's fame has always dogged him and whose memory he reveres above all else, now seems set to follow his parent's path. In "Destiny" he's playing a "wolf man." It takes four hours to put on his horrible makeup and he can't eat lunch. But a local gagster observes that Lon will have a tough time getting anywhere as half man, half wolf, when so many in Hollywood are all-wolf and not a yard wide.

It's not impossible that Jimmy Stewart will be sprung from the army in a month. He will have served a year, which was the original schedule for a draftee. Being over 28, he could have got out some time ago but has insisted on staying.

Hollywood's probing of the musical history of America continues. Twentieth-Fox will soon turn cameras—technicolor cameras—on "My Gal Sal," which is Theodore Dreiser's chronicle of his song-writing brother, Paul Dresser. Don Ameche has been announced as the Wabash Mozart; Rita Hayworth has been announced as Rita Hayworth, and now Carole Landis and John Sheppard have been added to the cast. . . . This is the last time I shall explain that John Shepperd is the former Shepperd Strudwick. From now on he's on his own with the new name. . . . Gabriel Pascal is trying to persuade Bernard Shaw to fly here and help prepare "Arms and the Man" for screening. . . . Joe Penner's widow is readying a musical, "Glamour Girl Creations."

Rita Hayworth.

Sam Wood's "Kings Row" may be the dark horse in this year's academy award contest. . . . Virginia O'Brien, known at MGM as the dead pan thrush, won't sing dead pan in "I'll Take Manila." . . . George Murphy, who recently bought 207 acres in the Rogue river, Ore., country, not far from Ginger Rogers, will convert the place from its present agricultural status to the production of hawgs. . . . Paramount has borrowed Norman Taurog from MGM to direct "Mr. and Mrs. Cugat." . . . Sy Bartlett, who writes comedies, goes to Washington as a captain on the staff of the secretary of war. . . . Warners plan a new series of two-reelers about Penrod and another about Torchy. Same studio is making a hullaballoo about Walter Huston singing on the screen for the first time in "Always in My Heart," and states with some awe that Huston sang years ago on the vaudeville circuit. Well, shucks, he also did all right in Broadway's "Knickerbocker Holiday" not so long ago. His "September" song became, and still is, a must. . . . Fresh back at Yale after having finished "The Man Who Came to Dinner" with Bette Davis, Monty Wolley has plunged into the staging of Aristophanes' "The Frogs." A man of contrasts!

Plug, for a gal I don't know: Ida Zeitlin's funny description of this town, "Thumbs Down on Hollywood," in Modern Screen. Samples: "For eight months it's one lovely lousy day after another. . . . You always thought of palm trees as something poetic in a travelogue, till you came to Holloywood and found they were up-ended brooms to catch the dust of the ages. . . . You buy stationery at a typewriteria."

And, ma'am, the whole darn town looks as tho it were just waiting around between camera setups.

W-G-N, W59C to Put Chicago Operas on Air

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Performances of the Chicago Opera company are to be broadcast over W-G-N, its FM station, W59C, and the Mutual Broadcasting system beginning Monday evening. This will be the second consecutive year that W-G-N and Mutual have obtained exclusive broadcast rights from the Chicago Opera company, Frank P. Schreiber, manager of W-G-N and W59C, said yesterday.

The five Monday evening productions are to be broadcast starting with "Carmen," with Gladys Swarthout, Licia Albanese, Raoul Jobin, and Richard Bonelli in the leading rôles. The broadcasts will start at 10 p. m. and continue to 11:15 on the network. If they run beyond 11:15 the remainder also will be aired by W-G-N and W59C.

Broadcasts of opera over W59C will be a notable addition to the musical programs of the frequency modulated station, which already include the Saturday evening Theater of the Air operettas, the Thursday evening Pageant of Melody, and the Friday afternoon concerts of the Philadelphia orchestra.

So far as is known this will be the first regular series of broadcasts by a major opera company over an FM station. W-G-N technical experts are working out a transmission technique designed to give both listeners to standard radios and to FM the best possible reception.

Lou Jackobson, W-G-N producer, will have charge of the broadcasts. Bob Venables, formerly assistant stage manager of the Chicago opera, will give the commentary based on notes by Edward Barry, music critic of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

On Monday, Nov. 17, Verdi's "Otello" is to be broadcast, with Lawrence Tibbett, world famous baritone, singing the rôle of Iago. He will be supported by Giovanni Martinelli and Vivian della Chiesa.

Fortune Gallo, general director of the opera company, said that operas and stars for subsequent Monday evening performances would be announced as soon as engagements have been definitely arranged.

Charity Expenditure of $4,962,273 in 1941 Reported by Masons

A total of $4,962,273 was spent last year by state Masonic organizations to maintain their charitable institutions, Frank L. Smith of Buffalo, N. Y., secretary of the Masonic Relief association, reported yesterday. More than $40,000,000 is invested in these institutions, he added.

The association, which aids in the care of all dependent Masons in the United States and Canada, closed its meeting in the Hotel Sherman with the election of D. Rufus Cheney of Portland, Ore., as president. Richard C. Davenport, Harrisburg, Ill., is first vice president; Jewel P. Lightfoot, Fort Worth, Tex., second vice president, and Lewis E. Smith, Omaha, Neb., treasurer.

The grand lodge of Ontario reported that it was donating $10,000 monthly for war relief for the duration. A group of 120 representatives attended the two day meeting. The association will hold its 25th biennial conclave in Louisville, Ky.

Vitamins and Their Meaning Are Analyzed in Handy Little Book

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

It is rumored that the American people spent 100 million dollars on vitamin preparations last year, which is a lot of money and a lot of vitamins.

We all have a hazy idea of what vitamins are and what they do. Vitamins A, B, and C are best known by the layman. Where and how we get these vitamins may or may not be known by most of us, but as the food we eat and its vitamin content have so much effect on our health and looks, it is thought that a little book called "We Need Vitamins" [Rheimhold Publishing company], by Walter H. Eddy, Ph. D., and Gessner G. Hawley should be on your "must" read and study shelf.

It's a grand little book, straightening out for you every little vitamin question. It is, in reality, a primer of the nature and functions of all the known vitamins. We recommend it particularly to the housewife and mother, into whose care is entrusted the family feeding for the betterment of hair, eyes, teeth, bodies, and general health.

You learn that vitamin A, for instance, found in the liver oils of salt water fish [cod, halibut, tuna, and shark], in butterfat, egg yolk, and liver, is essential to clear vision, to the proper formation of tooth enamel, and necessary for growth, among other things. Vitamin B is essential to proper nerve function, stimulates appetite and normal intestinal functions, among other virtues. Vitamin C, whose richest sources are citrus fruits, tomatoes, and vegetable greens, is required for the formation of the dentine of teeth and bone.

There Is Style and Color in Rainy Day Garb

BY REA SEEGER.

Puddle jumping or well spotted ankles cease to be fun after record breaking rainfall. Even tho you are definitely against such protectors as rubbers, slickers, umbrellas, and galoshes, your resistance wears out and you'll clump around in rubber boots just for the grand feeling, after a day in the rain, of making home base with dry feet.

Much has been accomplished by the boot designers. Boots no longer give the fastidious soul the shudders. They're no longer depressing looking objects, thick, bulky, and preposterously outsize in outline.

If you need color to see you thru a rainy spell of weather, try the bright red affairs, or the traffic cop whites; the grays and blues also offer color harmony for your footlines. All these rubber boot finds are neat and streamlined. Some look like dress parade boots of the cavalrymen, others like the boots of some country squire.

White and red boots are easily matched to slickers and raincoats if you must completely cover yourself with waterproof protection. You'll find capes, fitted coats, and the trench coat models in both white and red.

Boots of this year's crop are much easier to wear than formerly. Many of them are lined in soft fuzzy materials, some in contrast of either color or pattern. There are very shiny high boots that zip up the sides in military tan or black, shiny enough to be seen for blocks. Colors, styles, and trimming devices, plus the comfortable linings and the super streamlining, all combine to make the boots something snug dry and smart.

INSTALMENT LIV.

MISERLY EMOTIONS.

"It was a bad police blunder letting Borosh sneak off and get killed," Miles said, "but don't imagine your freedom of movement was due to similar carelessness. Bouige tells me that after the necklace was replaced there was little following of potential murder suspects.

"What the police were watching for was some demand for hush money. Borosh, they believed, had supplied the drugs, and if they hadn't lost track of him at the crucial moment it would have meant a short cut to the truth.

"Manx did see you go into Estrella's building, but only because he was watching in hope of waylaying Alixe. She had been doing some work for Estrella, and this was Manx's sole clew to her whereabouts."

"Was it? But Hortense had her Montrouge address."

"No. The bit of writing found on Hortense's table is now branded as a neat forgery, planted there by Horace for the police to discover. It was one time when Horace couldn't leave things alone. He had tried to find the bottle of A. T. 10 Hortense had been using. Failing, he rightly assumed it had been placed in some safe and unreachable spot where it would presently come to light.

"By directing attention to a discharged lady's maid he hoped to show a connection between her and the dead cook, leading on eventually to the Hungarian doctor who had taken a mole off the maid's face and for whose sister she had been working.

"Manx, tho. While watching in the Rue de Sevres he was attacked by more of the giddiness which had come on earlier that afternoon as result of his letting fly at Hortense. That is why he was forced to give up his vigil. So, altho Alixe did come along, it was after he had gone.

"Yes, we can't blame Bouige for getting things twisted. He hadn't the benefit of Manx's hunches, or, in a humbler degree, of mine."

"Yours!" I drew a deep breath. "Now we're coming to it. Will you kindly explain what put you on the right track?"

"O, that! Let me see. . . . First, just an odd notion, the night Hortense met her death. Any one would have argued that the obvious suspect, if any, was the butler. Wasn't it a bit queer for Rentrew to be drawing so much attention to a service lift? A door had been heard to close. Which door? Neither of you could say. I now know it was the bathroom door. Manx stuck his head out on hearing the crash, heard the pair of you come running, and beat a prudent retreat. Well, one way or another it struck me that Rentrew was hell bent on ignoring Manx altogether. That was distinctly rum, for he had been told that a few hours before this Manx had violently assaulted the woman now dead. He assured the police that some one had shut the service lift door. He harped on the incident till the lift was tested for fingerprints. It could mean only this: That Rentrew strongly wished to suggest an outside person had got into the apartment—that if Hortense hadn't committed suicide only an intruder had a hand in her death!

"Now why? There had to be some reason. I thought of one, but it was too wild sounding to broadcast. Rentrew, after all, was my client. The odds were overwhelmingly against a marriage having been performed between Mrs. Rentrew and de Chabenil. I didn't see how such a thing could fail to be made known. Still, wasn't it a bit of coincidence a certain lady's maid had disappeared? She possessed information of a startling nature. It emanated from Saint Christophe, and according to you it had been a great shock to Estrella.

"There was nothing much to do except catch a night train for the Riviera, look up Mrs. Rentrew's caretaker, and see what news he had written to Alixe. Even when I learned what the news was it didn't inform me whether or not Alixe had passed the bombshell on to Rentrew between the Tuesday evening when Mrs. Rentrew died and the Wednesday morning when to all our astonishment Rentrew started his hue and cry over malpractice. I was left very much where I was."

"So that's why you came back looking as tho you'd failed!"

"I had failed. At the same time I'd made a most illuminating discovery. Some days before de Chabenil appeared on the scene Mrs. Rentrew had suffered a slight attack which the local doctor assured me had been due to high blood pressure! Couple this with the fact that the following week de Chabenil privately sounded the doctor on the nature of his hostess' recent illness, and what does it show?"

"O!" I gasped it. "Go on!"

"Exactly. I never believed de Chabenil was a killer. He might slug a man or a woman in the heat of passion, but I didn't see him setting coldly and patiently to work with a delayed action drug—or even a quick one. On the other hand, making sure a woman hasn't long to survive and then besieging her to marry him would be just his own cup of tea.

"At Goncourt, with the marriage certificate actually in my hands, I had no choice but to ring thru to Bouige; but what did this precipitate? The arrest of the wrong man. It is true my first action when I got back to Paris was to look up my own English doctor and get his opinion on possible means to bring about artificial hardening of the arteries.

"I even found he knew something about this Dyhydro Tachsterin; only in his view not less than six months of dosage would be required to achieve a condition such as our victim had shown. You see the snag? No one's ever deliberately tried the thing out—or if it has been done previously, there's been no way of calling the death foul play. Medical wranglings—one man's belief against another's. I doubted if it would sway the balance in a court of justice.

"De Chabenil. . . . Naturally you didn't think I was in any danger from him. It was Horace, all the time."

"Only if you strayed on forbidden territory. In other words, got in contact with Alixe."

My thoughts went back to the awful vision of Horace, sweating here in a deathly still apartment. Waiting for it to be dark. Running the dumb waiter down, lugging his two near corpses in separate rug bundles out to his car . . . and then?

"Montrouge?" I hinted. "His own workshop? He could have staged one hell of a fire with all that turpentine and varnish."

"That's quite enough." Miles was looking sick. "Well, have I cleared up the bits and pieces?"

"Not all. I suppose," I ventured, "Horace was broke and no one knew?"

"Broke? Good God, what gave you that notion?"

"Wasn't he? I know you and Geoffrey thought his finances were sound, but——"

"Sound as most shareholders' are in these wobbly days. Make sure he put no obstacle in the way of letting the police look into his position. I see, it's the motive that's bothering you, isn't it? I can only postulate some old pathological kink. I've heard you say that Rentrew is stingy. So he is, it's well known. Did you ever hear of an alleged connection between miserliness and murder?

"No. Is there supposed to be one?"

"There is. And I fancy psychologists would say it is the direct outcome of fear. Well, I know this if you don't: Rentrew has had an insane, hysterical terror of one day becoming a pauper. It's been his constant moan that friends of his in America, men of substance, have lost everything and descended to actual want. Some years back he sold his holdings in his brother's company and has never stopped cursing his stupidity.

"After a short panic, the furniture business boomed, shares soaring almost overnight to prices he dared not pay. I imagine he came to think no investment so solid as Rentrew Furniture, Ltd. The vision of all that gold block passing into the pockets of a foreign spendthrift must have been of late a constant nightmare. Whether or not he rather liked his sister-in-law will remain a riddle to us. I do say, and the facts bear me out, that nothing weighed against his morbid mania for preserving his own status quo."

"We'd have, I supposed, to leave it at that. . . ."

The American artichoke is a tuber of the sunflower family, and is cooked and served as are potatoes. It is nothing like the globe or "French" artichoke. Rich in minerals and non-starchy, it is a good food which isn't seen frequently enough in our menus.

Now artichoke growers are manufacturing all sorts of edible products in which the vegetable is used. Spaghetti, plain and spinach noodles, bread sticks, rusks are among them. I've tried all these foods recently and can recommend them. They are available in health food stores.

Several readers have asked for a "repeat" on the Maywood fruit cake recipe which appeared in this column last November. "It's the best fruit cake I ever made," they tell us. We think it's good, too.

Maywood Fruit Cake.
[About 7 pounds.]
1 pound mixed candied fruit
½ pound candied cherries
½ pound candied pineapple, sliced
1 pound white raisins
1 cup any kind of wine
1 pound butter
¾ pound powdered sugar
7 egg yolks
1 pound pecans
4 cups flour [scant]
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
7 egg whites, beaten until stiff

Mix fruits and cover with wine. Let stand overnight, or for several hours. Cream butter and sugar together, add egg yolks, and whip until light. Add fruit and nut meats, and mix well. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon, and add gradually to mixture. Stir lightly to mix. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and fill greased fruit cake or loaf pans about two-thirds full. Bake in a 250 degree oven for 3 hours.

ABOUT WAFFLES: When you serve waffles with a sweet sirup, put something tart elsewhere in the menu, grapefruit juice, if it's at breakfast, perhaps a grapefruit or tomato salad, if it's at lunch. Try caramel sirup some time. Make it by melting sugar to golden sirup in a heavy skillet over low heat, then pouring in boiling water and stirring until the lumps have dissolved. Try waffles at lunch with crushed fresh or frozen strawberries and strips of bacon. For a late evening snack serve waffles with crabmeat Newburg over them.

Numerology
By Evelyn Holmes

Nov. 8, 1941.

Universal day—Not a day for the big push. Take it easy.

November—There have been indications that eight is not very fortunate when combined with four, so if this is a four month or a four year for you, don't go ahead with quite the abandon that you might ordinarily feel inclined to do with the universal vibration of an eight. You shouldn't go beyond the strictest limitations anyway in a four month or in a four year, and so be extra careful this month if you are having any four vibrations around you. This is why four has been considered a hard luck number when found where eight dominates. And it is why when you have a 22 birthdate or are in that higher number, you should keep your activities up to the scale the 22 requires and not let them drop to the plodding, prosaic four.

Cooking Lure, It Seems, Is No Aid to Cupid

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

When a girl takes a special cooking course at night school, and operates on the theory that the road to a man's heart is a sound domestic science course, it's pretty disappointing when the fellow doesn't arrive for the meals she so carefully prepares for him. Or, are the men fearful of being so beguiled into matrimony? Is a home cooked dinner an invitation to our modern Romeos to run like everything in the opposite direction, for fear of matrimonial complications? We don't know. We are just asking in the name of Helen, a perplexed correspondent.

Helen's first, beautifully prepared dinner, to which Frank was extended an invitation, waited long past the deadline for a guest's appearance. A very special cake had been prepared as dessert, a chocolate cake which Frank had volunteered was his favorite. Night closed in. No Frank. That was Thursday night. He came Saturday, instead.

"I asked why he didn't show up Thursday," Helen confides. "He said he fell asleep and nobody awakened him. Well, I forgave him and Saturday night he made a date for Sunday night supper and to take in a movie. Sunday came, I again baked a cake, and again my man didn't show up. But he came Monday night. I asked him what happened Sunday evening and he said he had had a flat tire. I was angry and told him what I thought. The days I didn't expect him, naturally I wasn't dressed in my best, nor did I have anything good to serve him. He told me I was mean, getting mad, and I should forget those two broken dates."

Helen asks, of course, if she should keep on with a fellow like that.

His friendship might be worth continuing, but on a new platform. Let him buy the cake. Let him order the dinner. That may be what he wants to do. Anyway, try him out. He may be one of those chaps who feel the rope tightening when asked to the girl's home for a meal.

DORIS BLAKE'S LETTER BOX

Have you a perplexing problem on which you need friendly counsel? Write to Doris Blake in care of the Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill. If you wish a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

She's a Poor Sport.

"Dear Miss Blake: My best girl friend parted from me, over the love of a boy. We both liked the same boy and he asked me out. Ever since then she doesn't bother with me. How can I regain her friendship and keep the love of the boy? KITTY."

She should have been a good loser. There's nothing much you can do with such a poor sport, Kitty, except to act toward her as you've always acted, and continue to be friends with the boy.

Tardy on Dates.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love him. He loves me. Yet every time we have a date he is late and his excuse is he was tired and fell asleep. Do you think if he loved me he would be late for our dates?

THE CAT AND THE CANARY."

Being late doesn't mean he loves you the less. If he works hard he probably is tired. If you can make him feel ashamed of always keeping you waiting, it would work better than nagging him.

Bear No Ill Feelings.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have liked a girl for three years. Often we have gone to parties and have enjoyed them. She had a chance to invite me to a party, but she invited a good friend of mine instead. What should I do? BOB."

Naturally you feel hurt, Bob, but try to get over it, with no ill feelings. It was a gesture that shows she doesn't want to go with you only, so why don't you go out with other girls?

Men's Hand Crocheted Tie

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

One of the nicest hand crocheted ties, enjoying wide popularity because of the stitch and stability, is this good looking bit of neckwear crocheted in a "crazy stitch." It is easy to create, it does not stretch, and will not lose its shape when crocheted from No. 10 mercerized crochet cotton. There are numerous silk and mercerized twists which may be used instead of the cotton, of course.

For instructions in crocheting the tie done in "crazy stitch," No. 468, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 320 Fifth avenue, New York City.

LAST SATURDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 16: Rubber bridge; North-South vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

East	South	West	North
3 diamonds	?

You are South, and hold:
♠ K Q J 10 7 4 3 ♥ Q J 9 ♦ — ♣ A K 2
What call do you make?

Answer: Four spades. This is a very easy question. South has an excellent chance for game in his own hand, hence any weaker bid is pointless and a stronger one is dangerous. To make a slam, North would have to supply precisely the right cards, and an effort to discover whether or not he held them probably would prove disastrous. Hence, a four diamond cue bid, altho not heavily penalized, is distinctly a second choice. North might have to answer such a cue bid with five clubs, and South might then be over his depth at five spades. [Fifteen points demerit for 4 diamonds; 30 points demerit for 3 or 5 spades; 40 points demerit for any other call, including a double.]

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 25: East-West vulnerable, the bidding has been:

East	South	West	North
1 diamond	1 heart	1 no trump	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

You are West, declarer at three no trump. Your hand and dummy are as follows:

WEST, declarer	EAST, dummy
♠ A 7 5	♠ K 4
♥ A J 10	♥ 5 4 2
♦ 9 6 3	♦ K Q J 10
♣ J 9 8 3	♣ A Q 10 7

North opens the heart seven; South plays the queen. What are your plays to the first and second tricks?

TODAY'S HAND.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

NORTH
♠ J 10 9 8
♥ 10 7
♦ A 8 6 5

WEST
♠ None
♥ Q J 6 4 3
♦ K Q J 2

EAST
♥ A K 5 2
♦ 9 7 4 3

SOUTH
♠ A K Q 6 5 3 2
♦ 10
♣ A Q 7

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the diamond king. The ace won and a diamond was ruffed. A low spade was lead to dummy and another diamond was ruffed with the spade queen. Another spade lead to dummy was followed by the ruff of the last diamond. Now declarer merely exited with a heart and the defenders were in a hopeless position. It did not matter which of them won the heart trick because a club lead from either would be fatal.

As it happened, West won with the heart jack, and returned a heart. East, now on lead, could only return a club which, allowed to ride to the jack, meant no club losers for the declarer. Had East returned a heart the result would have been the same. Dummy could have ruffed while declarer was discarding his low club, and a club finesse then would have accounted for the remaining tricks. The extra trick at match-point duplicate gave North-South a good score on the board.

If you want the 1941 National Bridge Examination questions and answers in permanent form after it is completed, send your name and address and 10 cents in coin to Ely Culbertson, 16 E. 62d street, New York City.

Katharine Cornell to Be Guest of Tavern Club

Miss Katherine Cornell, star of "The Doctor's Dilemma," will be the specail guest at the Tavern club's first Sunday breakfast of the year tomorrow. The breakfasts are a traditional Sunday celebration at the Tavern from the first snowfall until spring. This year they will have a new setting, for the club's dining rooms recently were redecorated.

Surgeon Tells of Job Finding for Crippled

It is not fair to encourage a cripple, perhaps operate and improve his condition, train him to support himself, and then have no job for him, Dr. Fred H. Albee, orthopedic surgeon and director of the New Jersey rehabilitation commission, said yesterday. He addressed 250 members and friends of the Illinois Association for the Crippled, Inc., at its fifth annual meeting in the Palmer House.

"We must study the market and be opportunists," he said. "Twenty years ago we found in New Jersey that radio men were needed. We set to work and filled these jobs. Recently we approached the problem from another angle. We made a movie showing cripples doing certain types of work efficiently and ran this picture for captains of industry who could use these men."

Dr. Albee lauded the association's program to "see every crippled child thru" by finding crippled youngsters and providing scientific treatment, education, vocational training, and employment.

In his annual message Dr. Edward L. Compere, president, pointed out that "our current project on employment opportunities is revealing interesting facts which, when translated into action, should make the crippled worker more acceptable to industry in the years to come."

During the last six months, 1,000 handicapped persons have been placed monthly, according to James B. Hamlin, supervisor of special services for the Illinois state employment service. This is 7 per cent of all handicapped persons registered and 4 per cent of all placements.

But still more work is being done for the crippled worker, Mrs. Frances Karlsteen, director of the association's employment project, reported. Training is begun in high school. Then the cripple may obtain specialized training thru the division of rehabilitation, a federal service, or he may seek vocational counsel from the association.

The newest technique in placement is based on the physical demands studies, Mrs. Karlsteen said. During the last three months, she explained, the employer-relation division of the Illinois employment service has analyzed jobs in candy factories, a dental laboratory, and clerical work in a mail order house. On the basis of these studies, for instance, an employer can be convinced that a man with injured legs can do a job requiring only strong arms and nimble fingers.

After their return from a plane trip to Cuba Mr. Weidert and his bride will make their home at 1734 East 72d street. Miss Knehr attended Ohio State university and Mr. Weidert was graduated from the University of Iowa.

The marriage of Miss Marian Hatton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Wentworth Hatton of Des Moines, Ia., to Willard M. Cramer will take place in Columbus, O., today. Mr. Cramer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cramer of Chicago. Both Miss Hatton and Mr. Cramer are graduates of the University of Illinois.

Family Must Make Provision for Homework

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

In talking about children and school, frequently the sum of an article is this column may be that educational systems are at fault, with our suggestions as to what to do about it. At other times, when we are dealing wtih school and children, it's the parents we write for, and largely in connection with how they may help their children to meet each day at school and be on their toes by guarding their rest, their digestion, their nervous system, and their relaxation, in short, their physical well-being. For, certainly, we know that the child who is well and rested can enjoy and gain more from his school work.

Today, however, it is another angle I would like to have parents think about, and that is whether they do their share toward helping their son or daughter toward success, or as a minimum, honest effort to learn.

There's William, who never had his history notebook up to date. His teacher found that in the small apartment in which his family lived no provision was made for William's study hour, radio blaring, constant talking, and no table or proper light in his little bedroom. Apparently nobody cared what happened to William's lessons until his repor t card had to be signed. The family of William's pal, Sam, were quite different. They knew what Sam was studying, they looked over his work, they saw that he had reasonable quiet and some businesslike arrangement for his home study.

Each of these boys is typical of two different groups of children teachers find in their classes: One group slides thru school, doing as little work as possible, and the other group makes every effort to work faithfully.

How much of the responsibility for this grouping rests on their parents' shoulders? To which group does your son or daughter belong? Naturally I know all the "buts" that may pop up at the question: The man of the family may have had a hard day at the office, orders were not carried out, contracts were lost, employés irritating. He comes home for a good dinner and a peaceful pipe. Mother, on the other hand, has put in a hard day at home, the baby was fretful, the butcher sent the wrong meat, son came in with a suspiciously dark eye. Mother and father are both tired. Homework appears on the domestic horizon right after dinner. Isn't it all too often the case that, at the end of a long day, school worries offer the last straw?

Yet, on the whole, parents must arrange their time and their child's so that his work seems important to them, and so that they can show a real interest in what he is studying and how well he is doing it.

Do you mistake playfulness in a small child as disobedience? What can be done with the child who constantly trails his mother? The answers to these questions and many others are given in the new book, "You and Your Child," by Gladys Huntington Bevans, Tribune child training editor. On sale at Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn street, and Tribune Tower, 435 No. Michigan avenue. Price, 15 cents. Postpaid, 18 cents.

Game time—1:30 p. m.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Northwestern Wildcats, who still think they're tough despite the bits of hide gouged out of them by the Wolverines and Gophers, will return to work today at Dyche stadium with the idea of seeing what can be done about Bill Hillenbrand, the one man flea circus in the Indiana back field. A crowd of 35,000 is expected to be in readiness when the sophomore starts skipping around at 1:30 p. m.

There'll be no title urge in the Wildcats' répertoire. The Wolverines and Gophers took care of that. But in its stead the Northwestern pack will have a keen desire to get back on the winning side and this probably will be intensified merely by the sight of those black Hoosier working clothes. The Wildcats haven't forgotten that Bo McMillin's troops had them whipped a year ago until a last quarter surged changed a 6 to 7 setting into a 20 to 7 finale.

Fear and More Fear.

Coach Lynn Waldorf has been preaching fear to his football students all week and it's true that some of them may have to limit their exercising for the day because of ailments, but the Wildcats have a big ace in the hole. It's their line, a rugged setup that nobody has pushed around to any extent—yet. On the other hand the Hoosier wall has faded most of the time before the assaults of forwards less formidable than the Purple.

For Hillenbrand it will be a day long sought. He's going to meet his football hero, Bill De Correvont. As a prep the Evansville, Ind., youth figured it would be swell if he could get to college in time to help furnish opposition for the Wildcats' leg man and passer. So if Northwestern's Bill gets away on any of his running specialties this afternoon he can be quite sure that his speedy admirer will be right on his heels, possibly close enough to make a grab.

Five I. U. Sophs to Start.

No fewer than five sophomores will occupy jobs in the Hoosiers' starting eleven. The fifth was added yesterday when Coach McMillin decided to bench Jack Nash and fill the left end berth with Ted Hasapes, a youngster who has been ascending by leaps and bounds. Another soph will be the fast stepping right half, Chuck Jacoby, the St. Ignatius High alumnus to whom Hillenbrand likes to pitch. Others in the same yearling class are Quarter Back Lou Saban from La Grange, Ill., who doesn't have to call signals—Hillenbrand takes care of that—and Right Tackle Fred Huff. All the other linemen are seniors.

Two of the Purple starting jobs were still open last night. Floyd Chambers' Minnesota wounds hadn't cleared up, making it probable that his understudy, Ike Kepford, would be at right half most of the time. Gene Mundy may have to take over center in behalf of Don Johnson, also a Gopher casualty. It was definite that Don Clawson will stand in at full back for the ailing George Benson.

Chicago and North Western railway football specials will leave the North Western station at 12:30 and 12:50 and run directly to Central street, Evanston. They will leave Evanston shortly after the game.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—Thirty-five football players from Notre Dame, undefeated in this campaign, drilled briefly this afternoon here in Griffith stadium in final preparation for tomorrow's all-important battle with the Navy eleven in Baltimore. Navy also has not lost a game this season and the attraction of the impending gridiron clash has Washington, Baltimore, and the eastern seaboard running a temperature.

Steve Juzwik.

Sixty-six thousand now have tickets. Some say the maximum attendance will be 68,000 depending on the bleacher accommodations. Regardless of the actual count—Baltimore's Municipal stadium is big enough to take care of several additional bleacher sections—the largest crowd in the history of the series will attend.

Field Is Not So Bad.

The resodding job on the stadium gridiron, requested by the Navy to cover bare spots in midfield, was completed last night and C. Marland Kelly, the stadium chairman, announced in Baltimore today that barring more rain the field should be in good condition.

Tomorrow's engagement was preceded tonight by an official reception sponsored by the Notre Dame Club of Washington. Cabinet members, officers of all branches of the service, and just plain followers of the Irish mingled in one of Washington's largest hotels.

Notre Dame's workout this afternoon was secret, altho no unusual formations were on exhibit as the boys ran thru their plays. Coach Frank Leahy naturally is concerned over the outcome of tomorrow's game, but he apparently is no more worried than he was when Notre Dame met Indiana in the second game of the season. In all, the Irish now have compiled five victories and last week's scoreless tie with Army, a result most critics concede was a victory for Generals Mud and Rain.

Irish Have Quite a Back Field.

Notre Dame will start the lineup tomorrow against Navy that has started all preceding games. Practically all of these men, except Angelo Bertelli, sophomore left half back, played in this game a year ago, when Notre Dame's drive with seven minutes to play sent Bob Saggau across from Navy's 4 yard line for the 13 to 7 victory. Navy previously had taken the lead in the same quarter, 7 to 6.

Harry Wright, quarter back; Bertelli, Steve Juzwik, right half, and Dippy Evans form a splendid starting back field under fair weather conditions. Even Washington has made Notre Dame a 13 to 10 choice if it doesn't rain. Navy, however, is expected to win in adverse weather.

With the exception of Jack Warner, left half, and Creighton Miller, full back, Notre Dame cannot counter Navy's back field substitutions. Today, the Middies announced that the second back field, which has been dividing time with the varsity, will be composed of Bill Chip, quarter back; Howie Clark, left half; Sherwood Werner, right half, and Bob Woods, full back. Woods is the only man who has not won a Navy letter.

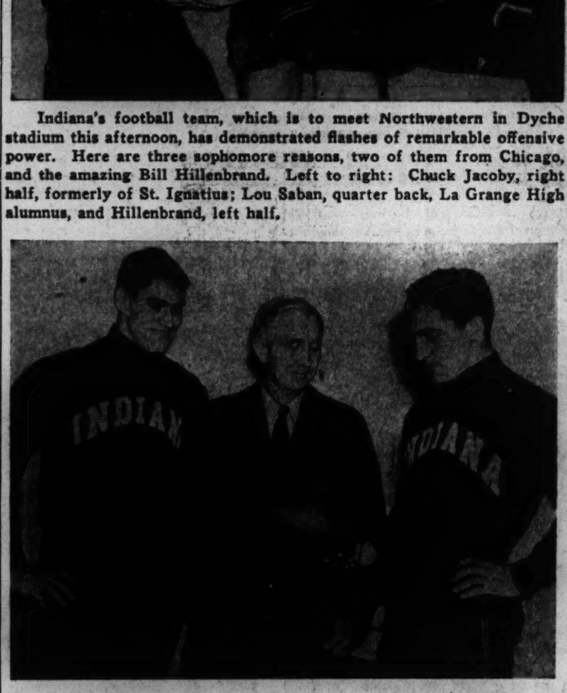
Both Middy Teams Are Good.

Against Cornell university, beaten in the Baltimore stadium three weeks ago by Navy in its fourth game, two teams shared the playing time and the credit for the 14 to 0 victory.

Baltimore undoubtedly will be the nation's capital when the regiment of midshipmen parade tomorrow afternoon. Only Princeton and Army remain to be played. Last fall Navy won six games, lost two, and played a scoreless tie with Columbia. Pennsylvania and Notre Dame whipped the Navy. Penn was paid off last Saturday. Tomorrow the Irish step up to the pay window.

Hoosiers Are Here to See N. U.

Indiana's football team, which is to meet Northwestern in Dyche stadium this afternoon, has demonstrated flashes of remarkable offensive power. Here are three sophomore reasons, two of them from Chicago, and the amazing Bill Hillenbrand. Left to right: Chuck Jacoby, right half, formerly of St. Ignatius; Lou Saban, quarter back, La Grange High alumnus, and Hillenbrand, left half.



Coach Bo McMillin talks it over with the Hoosier guards who probably will lead the way for the attack. Left to right: Charles Steele, McMillin, and Capt. Gene White. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Columbus, O., Nov. 7.—Homecomings. . . . Dad's days. . . . And now comes a new one in Big Nine football—Stark County day, to be celebrated tomorrow before 65,000 in Ohio State's stadium. And for good reason, too.

Ohio State's Buckeyes, coached by Paul Brown, Massillon [Stark county] High school '24, tomorrow will play Wisconsin's Badgers, coached by Harry Stuhldreher, Massillon High '20. Of course, boys from here and there will do the actual playing tomorrow, but you can't blame Massillon and vicinity for getting excited because two former Massillon quarter backs are pitting their big league teams before such a big crowd—more than twice the population of Massillon. The Massillon High school band will represent Wisconsin musically at tomorrow's show.

It's a Fine County.

We have been in Stark county many times and it's a fine county, even tho there is a tough speed trap around North Canton. But we didn't come clear down here to write too much about a couple of gents who come from the same high school. So onward to the dope on tomorrow's contest.

In view of the way things have been going, perhaps one of the biggest items about the game is that it is to be played under favorable weather conditions.

The outlook for a cold, clear day is welcomed by both teams and nobody will be surprised if there are a half dozen touchdowns or so. Neither team figures to have much of an edge over the other and you can toss up a coin to decide which to pick as the winner.

Let's Forget the Opener.

The Badgers have not failed to score at least two touchdowns in a game since their shocking 28 to 7 upset at the hands of Marquette in their opener, 'way back on Oct. 4.

The Badgers and Buckeyes have had one common foe, Northwestern. The Wildcats whipped the Badgers, 41 to 14, while the latter still were punchy from that Marquette tragedy. The Wildcats topped Ohio State two weeks ago, 14 to 7. Wisconsin has beaten Iowa, 23 to 0, and Indiana, 27 to 25. In their Big Nine competition, the Buckeyes have been triumphant over Purdue, 16 to 14.

Don't Believe the Injury Stories.

Both teams are said to be in good shape, despite the communiques of the week, which were more bearish than usual. The Badgers got here at 8 o'clock this morning, breakfasted in a Columbus hotel, went out to take a look at the big stadium, in which none of the boys has played, then went by bus to Magnetic Springs, a spa some 20 miles north of here, where they worked out this afternoon.

Wisconsin and Ohio State have not met since 1933 in a series which began in 1913 and which has seen the playing of 13 games. Two of the games have been ties and Wisconsin has won four, including the first three, 12 to 0 in 1913, 7 to 6 in 1914, and 21 to 0 in 1915.

Huskers Look Easy to Great Gopher Eleven

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 7.—University of Nebraska's thrice beaten football team, en route from the Rose bowl to the soup bowl without detours, was given a chilly reception upon its arrival this morning for tomorrow's game against undefeated Minnesota. The temperature was in the 30's and a light blanket of snow, the edge of a blizzard which struck south of here a few days ago, covered the ground. Most of the snow vanished, however, under the morning sun and groundskeepers at Memorial stadium predict a dry field for the 23d game between the two universities.

Almost every one except Nebraska players and coaches has conceded victory to Minnesota. Bernie Bierman, coach of the Gophers, is worried about the bugaboo of all winning athletic teams—overconfidence—but its adherents say Minnesota can let down a bit and still whip the Cornhuskers, who already have fallen before Missouri, Indiana and Kansas State.

Coach Jones Is Hopeful.

"I think we'll play our best game of the season," said Maj. Biff Jones, Nebraska's head coach, when the squad detrained in St. Paul. "I hope the mistakes which cost us three games are out of our systems and that from now on we'll play the kind of ball of which we are capable."

Jones' optimism was surprising, in view of the fact that Vike Francis, regular full back, yesterday was ruled ineligible because of scholastic difficulties. However, Francis probably will attract more headline attention to his alma mater off the gridiron than he did on, because no prominent player at a major university in this part of the country has been tossed for a loss by textbooks in midseason since memory of man runneth not to the contrary.

The jaded city dweller loves
An unexpected treat,
He gets a thrill when firemen go
A-charging down the street.
Now and then the motor cop
Corrals some bird that's speeding,
And in a jiffy there's a crowd
To watch the whole proceeding.
The big steam shovel is a beaut
And really packs 'em in,
And when the bascule bridge goes up
We gather with a grin.
There's bound to be excitement when
We have a windy day,
I mean, it's fun to help folks chase
The hats that blow away.
Such things add sparkle, change, and zest,
And some one should invent
More entertainment of the kind
That doesn't cost a cent.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 7.—Col. Austin A. Harding tonight reported his men in excellent shape and Commander Bruce Mahin issued a last minute statement to the effect that his lads are on edge, eager to toot their loudest.

The above is the manner in which smart alecks and snide citizens would have you introduce tomorrow's football game between the Universities of Illinois and Iowa in Memorial stadium. The Messrs. Harding and Mahin are the respective generalissimos of the Illini and Hawkeye bands, whose musical vendetta is expected to be such that the half time intermission between the gridiron doings is being extended to 20 minutes.

Dads Are on Hand.

The fact still remains, however, that the Illinois and Iowa football artists are still going to devote 60 minutes to their favorite diversion. Granting the spectacular promise of the bandsmen's clash, there are 4,000 Dad's day visitors and an estimated 16,000 others who hope to see the Illini come back to the big league victory ledger.

The home folks feel that this might be the chance to win a conference game. But they still are wondering about the formula that helped Iowa almost to run Michigan out of its own stadium, not to mention the one-point loss to Purdue and the comeback against Indiana last Saturday. There were the Hawkeyes on the verge of being pushed right into the Iowa river for the whole first half. Came the second half, and the stands couldn't recognize those same teetering Hawkeyes as they smashed their way to a 13 to 7 triumph.

Line Is Chief Worry.

Illinois, which at the outset of the season, was presumed to have one of the best back fields in the whole conference, still has it, all of the foursome of Liz Astroth, Don Griffin, Jimmy Smith, and Myron Preifer being fit and ready to go.

The line is another story. Able Elmer Engel, a tackle, who has been out of action for two weeks, may return to duty, and there is a possibility that Bob Wilson, left guard, also will see a spot of work. Jim McCarthy, the Lockport redhead who plays a deal of golf, has been down with a bad ankle, and, even tho James may get in, Wes Tregoning, La Salle sophomore, will be the starting replacement at right end.

Illini Lead in Series.

The Iowans spent the night in Chicago and will not appear in these parts until shortly before game time tomorrow. Bill Diehl, the Hawkeye captain, is not expected to work at center, an injury forcing the admission of George Frye, the senior center who jumped into the Indiana game in time enough to convince onlookers that he is quite a pivot man.

The series between the Illini and Hawkeyes stands at 11 victories, eight defeats, and two ties in favor of Illinoise since the feud began in 1899.

Pastor Hands Booker Beckwith 10 Round Surprise Beating

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Bob Pastor, supposedly coming down the hill, met Booker Beckwith, going up, in Chicago Stadium last night, and the result surprised the 9,881 spectators, who contributed to a gross gate of $25,315.24.

Pastor, New York heavyweight trial horse, defeated his rangy Negro opponent from Gary in 10 rounds to the satisfaction of every one, including the officials—Referee Davey Miller and Judges Romain Goudie and Rube Metz—who voted unanimously for Bob.

It Was Pastor All the Way.

It was Beckwith's first defeat as a professional fighter and snapped a chain of 17 consecutive triumphs. The match also marked Booker's first visit to the canvas during his two year campaign when a right to the chin dropped him for a nine count in the sixth round.

However, the result was a foregone conclusion long before Beckwith suffered the embarrassment of a knockdown. Despite his impressive record, Booker indicated he was worried about the match when he weighed in at 168½ pounds in the Illinois Athletic commission office yesterday afternoon, the lightest he has been in nearly two years. Pastor scaled 182 pounds.

Bob Stops a Rally.

Beckwith's only chance for victory came in the first round, when he scored with a right to the chin which almost floored Bob. This and the third were the only rounds Booker won. The others went to Pastor. Beckwith's failure to open up after the third was responsible for his poor showing. He seemed content to remain on the defensive, to the disappointment of his followers.

As as result, the 1938 International Golden Gloves middleweight champion absorbed an artistic beating. In the fifth he appeared to be snapping out of his lethargy, but this rally was stopped by two rights to the chin which caused him to hold on for the balance of the round.

Big Boy Hogue Wins.

There is only one explanation for Beckwith's defeat: He was awed by the fact his opponent had met Joe Louis twice. Perhaps his handlers, Duke Calloway and Harry Green, neglected to remind Booker that Louis had won both matches, the second by a knockout.

Willard [Big Boy] Hogue, San Diego, Cal., middleweight, scored an eighth round technical knockout over George Mitchell of South Chicago in a preliminary match. In other contests Marcellino [K. O.] Borrado, Louisville lightweight, knocked out Joe Pirrone of Cleveland in the third round; Matt Daugherty, Milwaukee 136 pounder, beat Jimmy Joyce in six, and Jo Jo Passante, Houston, 134 pound boxer, defeated Joe Law in four rounds.

RAMS ARE LAST IN LEAGUE, FIRST IN BEAR BAITING

Champions Always Given Trouble by Cleveland.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Now, the Cleveland Rams don't figure to give the Chicago Bears too much trouble in Wrigley field tomorrow. But don't make this statement within earshot of George Halas, who isn't in any too good humor as it is, what with what happened to him and his champions last Sunday.

The Rams didn't figure to give the Bears any embarrassing moments, either, in 1938. This was the season the Ohioans won only 4 of their 11 games. Two of their victories were over the Bears and these upsets wrecked the title chances of Mr. Halas and his athletes.

Cleveland comes to Chicago shackled with six straight defeats, but National Football league teams with worse records than the Rams would try to forget, have a habit of bouncing up when least expected.

Give Bears Trouble.

Since 1938, which was their second season in the league, the Rams have forced the Bears to put on their fanciest offensives to win. In the five games between the rivals since the Rams scored their double in '38, high scores have developed. Tho they have been beaten in all five of the contests, the Rams scored the following points: 21, 21, 14, 25, 21. This is the best offensive record against the Bears in a like span.

So the Bears had this to think about yesterday as they worked in the snow on the lake front on the north side. They have vowed to wipe out last week's 16 to 14 loss to Green Bay by winning their five remaining league games, then getting even with the Packers in a playoff for the western division title.

That's why tomorrow's game, even tho against a cellar eleven, has an added interesting angle. Can the Bears bounce back? Great teams come back after being defeated. The Bears have yet to prove they can regain that fine edge which swept them to five high scoring victories.

Famiglietti at Full Back.

Gary Famiglietti will start at full back tomorrow. The big, pleasant Italian from Boston has been pleading for more work all season. Other than giving Gary a chance to get back into his old time line crashing form, Halas plans no change.

The Packers, meanwhile, will make an exhibition appearance tomorrow in Kenosha against Johnny Blood's Cardinals. The Kenosha team has played several National league teams this year, their most notable effort having been a 21 to 21 tie with the Chicago Cardinals.

LAKE FOREST TO FACE AUGUSTANA ELEVEN TODAY

Moline, Ill., Nov. 7 [Special].—Don Allison, senior back, will not be in the Augustana lineup tomorrow when the Vikings meet Lake Forest in an Illinois College conference contest in Rock Island.

Allison injured his foot against Monmouth. Capt. Bill Carlstrom, guard, is also lost to Augustana for the season.

NORTH PARK AND ST. PROCOPIUS TO MEET TODAY

North Park college will seek to better its .500 rating in the Illinois Junior College conference today when it meets St. Procopius in Lisle, Ill. Last week North Park lost to Morton, conference leader. It has also been beaten by Mission House and Wilson, while recording triumphs over Morgan Park, La Salle-Peru, and Aurora.

Tilden + Schumacher = 7; Phillips + Wet Ball = 0

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

A big, line smashing full back is a mighty handy fellow to have around a football team, particularly when the weather man gets his hand on the wrong lever. Tilden Tech learned about the capabilities of Ray Schumacher yesterday when the Yellow Jackets won their fifth central section championship in the Public School league since 1927, conquering a combination of snow, mud and a strong Wendell Phillips eleven, 7 to 0, in Shewbridge field before 6,000 fans who had considerable difficulty locating their heroes on the gridiron.

The goo, loads and loads of it, prevented Phillips from employing its aerial artistry and turning loose Ranis Thomas, 145 pound right half back, whose wide end runs and shiftiness had led the colored squad to six consecutive victories. There were few passes in the game and numerous fumbles, one costing Phillips a scoring opportunity on the Tilden Tech 12 yard line late in the fourth quarter.

Eight Play Full Game.

Schumacher, who a few weeks ago lost 14 pounds due to a stomach ailment, was one of the eight Tilden Tech regulars playing the entire game. Eddie Uvodich, left half back and Tilden's touchdown specialist, who like Thomas found the mud difficult to master, also played all 48 minutes of the contest along with Ends Bill Fencl and John Protopas, Tackles Don Peterson and Casper Kovach, Guard Tom Hard and Right Half Back Ed Bartkiewicz.

It appeared at the start, however, that Uvodich would not be stopped by the sloppy going. He took the opening kickoff and splashed for forty yards before he finally was brought down. However, Phillips held, took possession and then punted, the ball going to the Phillips 40 yard line. Tilden Tech started its touchdown march, reaching the Phillips 9 yard line. Schumacher drove to the 2 yard line on the first play and plunged over on the second. Schumacher added the extra point with another plunge over the line.

Watch Crane Today.

Coach Charles Harvey and his Tilden Tech players will visit Key-Branch stadium, Central avenue and Roosevelt road, this afternoon to watch the Crane Tech-Kelvyn Park game. A victory or a tie will give Crane Tech the west section championship and the right to meet Tilden Tech in the semi-final round next Saturday. Fenger, south zone representative, and Senn, north division winner, already have qualified for the title playoffs.

Fenger and Senn, however, will conclude their sectional schedules this afternoon. The defending city co-champions will meet Calumet in Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets, while Senn engages Waller in Lane Tech field, Western avenue and Addison street. The day's biggest crowd is expected in Maywood, where Oak Park and Proviso High will meet for the Suburban league championship. The Tilden-Phillips lineup:

Blackhawks Play Tonight in Montreal

Pro Hockey

GAMES TONIGHT.
National Hockey League.
Chicago at Montreal Canadiens.
Boston at Toronto.

The Blackhawks, happy over their 1 to 0 victory in the season's National Hockey league opener against the New York Americans Thursday, left for Canada yesterday to meet the Montreal Canadiens tonight.

The injury jinx which hit every team in the league early this season, dealt its severest blows to the Canadiens, who will be forced to play without Elmer Lach, one of the league's best centers, and Kenny Reardon, regular defense man.

Lach sustained, a fractured elbow in the Canadien-Red Wings opener in Montreal last Saturday. Reardon suffered a minor cut over the eye while training and was taken to a hospital where it was discovered he was suffering from a streptococcus infection. Both will be out for several weeks.

After tonight's game the Chicago team will journey to New York for a clash Thursday with the Americans, who proved in the Chicago opener, that they are a happy squad which will bear watching this season. Then the Hawks return to Chicago for their first Sunday game, a week from tomorrow against the Detroit Red Wings.

Chicago Skaters Win, 10-8; Lead Series, 6-4

Chicago's skaters took a 6 to 4 lead over California in the roller Derby in the Coliseum by winning last night's races, 10 to 8. The Chicagoans scored their decisive points in the final sprints.

SUSPENSION OF FENGER LIFTED BY STATE GROUP

I.H.S.A. Rejects 19 Year Age Limit for Athletes.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 7 [Special].—Chicago public high schools were admitted to allied memberships in the Illinois High School association today. The decision automatically lifts the suspension of Fenger High, which played a post-season game in Florida last year against association rules.

A proposal to lower the age limit on high school athletics to 19 was defeated by a vote of 274 to 118. The association adopted more liberal rules on football, allowing fall practice to start Aug. 25, a week earlier than usual, and defeating a motion to abolish spring football practice. A motion to require each school to practice three weeks in the fall before playing its first game carried.

Laughlin Favors Amendment.

All high schools which are under the Chicago board of education are now allied members of the I. H. S. A. A fee of $5 for each school must be paid in lump sum to the association before Jan. 1, 1942. Chicago schools must comply with I. H. S. A. rules in contests with downstate schools or with schools from other states whose associations are affiliated with Illinois, but in intra city games the Chicago schools enjoy complete autonomy.

Principal Butler Laughlin of Lindblom, one of the 10 Chicago schools which have maintained their I. H. S. A. membership the last year, spoke for the amendment.

"The schools of the state need a united stand on educational policies," he said. "We do want a division between Chicago and downstate."

Oppose Age Limit.

Principals Ralph E. Stringer, Robinson; Edsel Smith, Galesburg, and Gene Ihrig, Casey, spoke against the proposed amendment to the age limit. "This amendment affects athletes only," said Ihrig. "It is discrimination, if musicians and debaters can continue to compete while athletes must stop at 19."

Stringer said a survey taken at Robinson High school revealed that 10 per cent of the senior class would be ineligible before the school year is over if a 19 year limit were imposed.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 7.—Purdue's old grads enjoyed themselves immensely while their team was beating Iowa in the homecoming game here two weeks ago, and that gave them ideas. They'll be back again tomorrow to see if they can have just as much fun at the Dads' day engagement in which the Boilermakers encounter Michigan State.

Mal Elward, Purdue's coach, will undertake a new set of conjuring tricks. Every Saturday of the season to date he has been forced to wave a wand and make new players appear where others have disappeared. Today he came up with a young man named Ewell O'Bryan, who is to replace Barry French, who in turn had replaced Pete Timperman at right tackle.

They Work on Down.

That's the way its been going right along. The Boilermakers have worked down only to their third string at tackle, but at left half back they're even farther along. They've gone thru John Galvin, Ken Smock, and Bob Chester. Now it's up to either Marion Carter or Walter Cook. Injuries or illness have eliminated Timperman, Galvin, and Smock quite definitely. There's a chance that French, who has a twisted ankle, and Chester, who was released from the hospital this morning, may get into the game for a short time.

Tomorrow's engagement, which is the fifth in the series between the schools, is expected to be particularly close because the teams have similar records against just about the same caliber of opposition. Each has won two and lost three this season, and neither team looked bad in its defeats. Michigan State was the winner, 20 to 7, in last year's encounter, Purdue having won the three previous engagements.

Defense Day Program.

Michigan State will make another effort to crack Purdue's excellent record on pass defense. The most recently compiled statistics show that the Boilermakers are leading the college teams of the nation in this department. Only seven have been completed against them in five games for a net gain of 98 yards. Thirty-seven have been attempted and three have been intercepted.

The game will be part of a defense day program dedicated to Purdue men in various branches of the United States armed forces. A delegation of 250 officers and men from Fort Benjamin Harrison will join the Purdue band for the flag raising ceremony. There will be brief talks by Dr. E. C. Elliott, president of Purdue, and by Col. Walter S. Drysdale, commanding officer of Fort Benjamin Harrison.

CUNEO ENTRANT RETIRES TROPHY AT HORSE SHOW

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—For the first time in the 11 year history of the event, Wensleydale Pilot, from the Hawthorn farm stable of John F. Cuneo at Libertyville, Ill., today won permanent possession of the Warham Whitney Memorial Challenge trophy for harness horses, feature competition of the third afternoon session of the National Horse show.

The husky brown gelding which Cuneo imported from Ireland three years ago, captured the trophy for the third straight time to retire it.

Killearn Jinx, from the Killearn farm of Alfred B. MacLay of Millbrook, N. Y., was second. Another Cuneo entrant, Wensleydale Wildfire, driven by Cuneo himself, was third.

Gallagher New Commodore of Lincoln Park Boat Club

Emmet T. Gallagher was elected commodore of the Lincoln Park Boat club last night, succeeding T. P. Prost. Other officials chosen were:

Max Deffner, vice commodore; Frank O. Johnson, secretary; Omar Banschbach, treasurer; Louis Roelins, captain; Andrew Schnurr, lieutenant; James Meschewski, ensign, and Albert De Banret, Jack Morrison, Norman Olson, J. A. Hadwiger, and Richard Bundsus, directors.

Booker Ducks One—but There Were Others

Booker Beckwith, Gary heavyweight, ducks away from a right thrown by Bob Pastor in the third round of their 10 round bout in Chicago Stadium last night and the blow lands on his shoulder. But the New York battler hadn't quite found the range. Bob did start to connect later and dropped Beckwith twice to win easily. The defeat was Booker's first in 18 professional fights. North Central Seeks to Halt Millikin Rush

Football teams of North Central college and James Millikin university clash today in Naperville in the second of the series of three round-robin games which will determine the winner of the Illinois College conference championship.

North Central and Lake Forest, battling to a 6 to 6 tie, failed to untangle the three-way title problem last Saturday. Whatever the outcome of today's clash in Naperville, Lake Forest's defending co-champions will have another chance to remain on top in their invasion of Millikin next Saturday if victorious against Augustana in Rock Island today.

Millikin brings to the Chicago area what is regarded as its best team since 1920. The Blue has swept aside six rivals to date, scoring 200 points while yielding only seven. The lineups:

HEIDELBERG AT ELMHURST.

The Student Princes of Heidelberg college, backed by a trainload of rooters from their campus in Tiffin, O., invade Chicago today to oppose Elmhurst college on the latter's field. The contest will be the first meeting between the two sister colleges, which are operated under the direction of the Evangelical and Reformed church.

Heidelberg, beaten only once this season, still is a contender for the Ohio conference title. Elmhurst will attempt to wipe off some of the stain from its 1941 record, which includes two defeats and a tie. Capt. Walter Goletz and four other Elmhurst seniors will be playing in their final college football game.

INDOOR AUTO RACES.

Fifty-two cars will compete in the midget auto races opening the indoor season tomorrow night in the International Amphitheater. Chicago drivers are Tony Bettenhausen, Ray Richards, Ted Duncan, Bob Muhlke, Jimmy Caris, Emil Andres, Mike O'Halloran, and Cowboy O'Rourke.

IF STANFORD DID VOTE TEXAS MAY BE INVITED, IF—

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 7 (AP).—The Times reported 33 Stanford U. football players voted unanimously tonight in favor of inviting the University of Texas to play in the Rose bowl game New Year's day, provided, of course, Stanford is the host team. Coach Clark Shaughnessy expressed surprise when informed of the story. "Maybe the kids were just having fun," he said.

Committee to Pick 60 for Bowling Meet

Day Leads Jackson

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Nov. 7 [Special].—Ned Day, defending champion, defeated Lowell Jackson of St. Louis in the opening 10 game block of their 160 game series for the 1941 national match play championship tonight, 2,100 to 1,746. Day won every game. Based on the Pedersen scoring system, the match now stands 53 points for Day and 34.46 for Jackson. Scores:

DAY—189, 200, 210, 249, 197, 204, 216, 215, 236, 184—2,100.

JACKSON—149, 183, 185, 176, 176, 185, 185, 189, 149, 169—1,746.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The deadline for entries to the All-Star eliminations and championship event, the year's biggest match game bowling competition, is past, and with its passing the tournament committee faces its biggest assignment—the job of picking the field of 60 stars who are actually to compete in the Coliseum during the period beginning Dec. 7 and running eight days.

Secretary Eddie Linsz of the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America, co-sponsor of the event with the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., has well over the 102 entries previously announced, but the complete field will not be known until after Nov. 16, the date on which preliminary tournaments being held in several cities are concluded.

Milwaukee Meet Ends Tomorrow.

The Milwaukee Journal tournament, embracing more than 1,500 Wisconsin bowlers, ends tomorrow, but events arranged to tie directly into the Chicago tournament and being sponsored by the Indianapolis News, Dayton News, and Kansas City Star, will not be concluded until next week.

Yesterday's entries included that of Billy Sixty, Milwaukee Journal bowling writer and director of the Journal's tournament. Sixty is one of Milwaukee's better bowlers and a star golfer as well as a nationally known writer of both sports.

Fort Wayne Comes in.

Two additional entries placed Fort Wayne, Ind., a leading tenpin city of the country, in the list. They came from Eddie Kraft and Everett Scott Jr., son of the former major league shortstop and operator of a recreation center in Fort Wayne.

Mr. Linsz expects to complete tabulation of the entries within a few days. Lists then will be sent to all members of the tournament committee for their study.

BARATTA, SMITH WIN TESTS AT MADISON A. C.

Jimmy Baratta and Francis Smith scored victories last night in a boxing program held by the Madison Athletic club as a test to help select its team to represent the club in the first round of the Chicagoland Amateur Boxing league next week. Stenberg, Michigan Back, Is Ineligible for Season

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 7 [Special]. Bob Stenberg, Michigan reserve full back from Chicago, was declared ineligible today by the eligibility committee of the board in control of athletics because of deficiency in an English course taken while he attended the University of Chicago a year ago. Stenberg failed to take the final comprehensive examination in an English course at Chicago because of illness.

MARQUETTE AND DETROIT CLASH FOR 11TH TIME

Titans Favored Today in Homecoming Game.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 7 [Special].—Marquette university's football team, following successive setbacks by Duquesne and Mississippi, hopes to break back into the victory column at the expense of the University of Detroit here tomorrow afternoon, but the Titans are advance favorites in their annual homecoming and Parents' day game.

Pin Hopes on Madarik.

Detroit has won five games, with Indiana and Manhattan included among its victims, and has lost only to Arkansas. Coach Charles E. [Gus] Dorais has two stars in Capt. Vince Banonis, 208 pound center, and Elmer [Tippy] Madarik, sophomore half back from Joliet, Ill. Madarik has completed 46 passes in 92 attempts for 730 yards. Only two of his heaves have been intercepted.

The Marquette squad, which arrived here today in time for a final practice session, is handicapped. Coach Tom Stidham lost his first string quarter back this week when Bobby Dams withdrew to join the army air corps, and his right half back, Johnny Goodyear, still is hampered by injuries received two weeks ago.

Trainer to Be Honored.

Marquette and Detroit have met 10 times since 1920, with the Titans winning six games, Marquette taking two, and two resulting in ties. Tomorrow's game is being dedicated to M. H. [Dad] Butler, the veteran Detroit trainer. Lineup:

MARQUETTE.		DETROIT.

RUDOLPH BEATS CRANE FOR 5TH BILLIARDS TITLE

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 7 (AP).—Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland won the world's pocket billiards championship for the fifth time here tonight by defeating Irving Crane of Livonia, N. Y., 125 to 65, in 19 innings. Rudolph succeeds Willie Mosconi of Philadelphia. He defeated Crane tonight in a second set-to after Crane had previously beaten him.

In other play-off matches Rurolph won from Mosconi, Mosconi beat Crane, and Crane defeated Rudolph. Then, on the basis of points scored, Rudolph and Crane played another match for the title.

Shades of '89---It's Cornell and Yale Again at Ithaca

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 7 [Special].—Cornell will face Yale here tomorrow with the Big Red favored in the sixth meeting between the universities. The teams first met in 1889, when Yale won, 56 to 6, at New Haven and, 70 to 0, at Ithaca. Relations were not resumed until 1936, when Yale won, 23 to 0. Yale won again in 1937 by 9 to 0, and last year Cornell won, 21 to 0.

A crowd of 16,000 is expected. The game will be homecoming for Cornell alumni. Both teams have been defeated, Cornell by Navy and Columbia, and Yale by Pennsylvania, Army, Dartmouth, and Brown. Yale's only victory was over Virginia, while Cornell has defeated Syracuse, Harvard, and Colgate.

PENN IS FAVORED.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 7 [Special].—Penn and Columbia clash again in Franklin field tomorrow—with Penn the favorite. Prediction of fair weather cheered the Penn team, which could get nowhere in the mud here last Saturday against Navy. A crowd of 40,000 is expected.

Prospects of a dry field raised Columbia's hopes, too, because Lou Little's Lions—beaten twice in five games—will have to rely on speed and trickery on offense.

Both teams are handicapped at center. Columbia's Don Snavely has been lost for the season; Penn's Don Bitler is injured and is not expected to play.

NO HOPE FOR PITT.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 7 (AP).—A crowd of 20,000—smallest of the Pitt home season—was expected tomorrow to see the Panthers attempt to stop Fordham's unbeaten Rams. Both teams were in top physical shape but Pitt's dismal record of five straight setbacks kept down the advance sale, despite a prediction of fair and colder weather. The contest is the last of a series that drew 298,500 fans in the six preceding games, including an all-time record of 78,000 to Pitt stadium in 1939.

MISSOURI VS. N. Y. U.

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—Missouri's Tigers move into the Yankee stadium tomorrow as outstanding favorites to make New York university their sixth football victim in seven games.

Since losing by one touchdown to Ohio State in the season's opener, the Tigers have been rolling fast with such ball carriers as Harry Ice, Bob Steuber, and Red Wade operating behind a staunch line. They reached their peak in whipping Michigan State, 19 to 0, last Saturday.

New York's Violets got by their first two opponents, but since have scored only one touchdown in losing to Texas Aggies, Syracuse, Holy Cross, and Penn State.

PRINCETON CRIPPLED.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 7 [Special].—Twice-beaten Dartmouth will rule a slight favorite when the big green squad enters Palmer stadium tomorrow to engage Princeton before an expected crowd of 25,000.

The Tigers are laboring under one of the heaviest injury jinxes ever to plague a Princeton squad, and today Coach Tad Wieman announced that Capt. Bob Peters, sparkplug of the attack, would be out of the Dartmouth encounter because of a shoulder ailment. Three other key men, Johnny Douglas, center; Karl Harr, end, and Jim Howley, tackle, also will be on the sidelines.

SELLOUT FOR ARMY.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 7 (AP).—For the first time in four years Harvard stadium will be filled to its 57,000 capacity tomorrow when the Army's undefeated football forces, accompanied by 1,000 cadets, march in to battle the Crimson's twice beaten veterans. Army has been made a 7 to 5 favorite over Harvard.

Miss Claire will sing the rôles of Irma, a ballerina, and Musette, a gypsy girl. Igor Gorin, baritone, will sing the male lead of Sandor, and Attilio Baggiore, W-G-N tenor, will be heard as Ladislas, a captain of the guards.

Betty Lou Gerson will take the speaking parts of the characters sung by Miss Claire. This is Miss Gerson's first appearance on the Theater of the Air.

BUSINESS POLLED ON ENDING 'XMAS' AS ABBREVIATION

Should the abbreviation Xmas [for Christmas] be abolished? The Chicago Association of Commerce has sent letters to its member stores and 72 business and civic organizations describing the campaign to "X-terminate Xmas" being carried on by the Orangeburg [S. C.] Chamber of Commerce. The letters ask what the stores think of the idea and if the association should promote a campaign locally.

The association states that the abbreviated form is not impressive and detracts from the real meaning of Christmas. It also observes that business has been accused of commercializing Christmas and suggests that such a campaign would be a feather in business's cap. The Orangeburg chamber explains "that there is but one reason for our observance of Christmas, and when we substitute the unknown quantity [X] we lose that reason. We need now more than ever before to realize the true import of Christmas."

A letter about the campaign appeared in the Voice of the People of THE TRIBUNE on Oct. 22. Subsequent letters from a reader in Oak Park and another in Briggsville, published on Oct. 28, stated that X is Greek for "chi" and represents the English Christ. Etymologically Christmas was Christ's mass, then Christmas, and appropriately Xmas, one said, while the other declared "that it really is the mass that matters."

URGES NEW DEAL TO ABANDON PETS IN WORLD CRISIS

The government of the United States must abandon some of the pet theories it has been foisting up the people in recent years and the people must be prepared to make sacrifices in the interest of national unity for the remarmament effort, Lynn U. Stambaugh, national commander of the American legion, told Alumni chapter of Sigmi Chi fraternity at a dinner dance in Stevens hotel last night.

Stambaugh said the nation is in the midst of conditions that menace the ideals upon which the nation was founded and that it is necessary to prepare to defend the nation against the fate that has befallen so many other democracies.

Many , persons, Stambaugh said will have to sacrifice conscience along with luxuries of an abundant life. Because of what he described as the necessity for uniting behind the government at this time, he said those who in the past have not believed in the leadership in Washington must sacrifice their conscience for the sake of unity. He added that labor and industry also must abandon all ideas of personal gain and unite for the success of the rearmament program.

Yale's Janitors and Cops Vote to Strike Monday

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 7 (AP).—Yale's 300 janitors, campus cops, maids, and other maintenance employés voted tonight to strike Monday because the university won't agree to a union shop clause in a proposed contract with their CIO union. University buildings and the Yale club in New York City will be picketed, John J. Clark, CIO organizer, said.

SURGEONS LEARN HOW TO BANISH STOMACH ULCERS

Boston, Mass., Nov. 7 (AP).—A surgical operation which prevents stomach ulcers from recurring was reported to the American College of Surgeons here today.

The operation is new, not so much in technique as in the fact that it removes from human stomachs the major part of the area which produces the acid of digestion. It is excess of this acid, and probably that alone, the college was shown in a series of animal experiments, which causes this major human digestive disease.

The reports were made by four physicians of the University of Minnesota school of medicine and the Mayo Foundation—Lyle J. Hay, Charles F. Code, Richard L. Varco, and Bernard Lannin.

The operation has been used in a number of human cases, invariably with good results. In nearly 100 per cent of these human cases the production of acid has been cut way down.

Altho the operation removes three-fourths of the stomach, the Minnesotans reported patients have been able to eat anything—that is, they did not find a diet necessary.

ROOSEVELT ASKS QUICK VOTE FOR SEAWAY PLAN

Measure Approved by House Group.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—Declaring the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence power and navigation project vital to national defense, President Roosevelt today said he would like to see congress vote funds immediately for its development.

Mr. Roosevelt put in a plug for his pet project shortly before the house rivers and rivers and harbors committee approved the billion dollar 1942 omnibus rivers and harbors authorization bill. The house action, which included appoval of the 285 million dollar seaway project and the 120 million dollar Florida ship canal, did not give a single penny for any of the hundreds of rivers and harbors projects, but merely put a stamp of approval on them.

Requires Specific Funds.

In order to launch any of the projects congress would have to vote specific funds for construction. Congress has passed such log rolling authorization bills at almost every session in the nation's history.

Altho the bills vote no money they enable congressmen to return to their home districts and point to the authorizations obtained as almost as good an argument for their reelection as an actual appropriation.

Mr. Roosevelt said that the St. Lawrence project, which he has pushed since his days as governor of New York, is important to national defense. The navigation phase of the project is not so urgent, he acknowledged.

The President revived the project, which was considered dead since its defeat by the senate in 1934, on the ground that it is a defense measure in order to short circuit senate opposition. By putting the proposal before congress as a defense measure it needs only a majority of the senate for confirmation as against the two-thirds vote required for ratification of a treaty. The measure is not expected to meet with substantial opposition in the house.

Billions of Authorizations.

During his press conference Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that there was much difference between a congressional authorization and an appropriation, recalling that there are between two and three billion dollars worth of river and harbor authorizations on the books, some dating back as far as the administration of John Quincy Adams.

The house committee adopted the St. Lawrence waterway proposal advanced by the administration almost without change. The language was altered only to permit transfer of the power installations along the St. Lawrence to the New York state power authority on payment of 93 million dollars. The original langauge of the bill would merely have authorized use of these facilities.

The house body changed the wording of the ship canal proposal to provide for a 12 foot barge channel instead of a nine foot channel.

OIL INTERESTS ASKED TO AVOID PRICE INCREASE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Price Administrator Leon Henderson tonight requested crude oil producers, refiners, and marketers to refrain from further price increase. He sent telegrams to all principal producers and purchasers asking them to hold purchase prices to the level prevailing Oct. 1. The step, he announced, would "formalize" relations between the companies and the Office of Price Administration.

Letters were sent to the larger marketers of gasoline and other refined products asking them to make no price advances in petroleum or petroleum products without prior notice and approval by OPA.

These instructions include gasoline, kerosene, burner oil, heavy fuel oil, lubricating oil, and other products. The proposed increases which must be submitted for approval include contract or spot prices of petroleum and its products, including refinery, tank car, tank wagon, barge, retail service station, and other prices quoted by individual companies.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 7 [Special].—Freight traffic thru the Sault locks stood at an all time high today—96,762,140 tons—with a month and a half of the navigation season ahead and every indication pointing to a 1941 total of well over 100 million tons of freight. Bill to Change Census Rules Hit by Moser

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—Rep. Guy L. Moser [D., Pa.] announced today his opposition to the bill for a quinquennial census of industry and business which is pending before the house census committee of which he is chairman.

Rep. Guy L. Moser.

Hearings are being held on the bill which was passed by the senate on Aug. 11. The bill would revise present census procedure by providing for a business census every five years instead of every two years and remove the secrecy imposed on information returns filed by individual companies, allowing government "defense agencies" the privilege of studying individual returns.

"There are a number of provisions in the pending bill contrary to my conception of good government," said Moser in expressing his intention to vote against the bill in its present form.

Opposed by Business Groups.

He declared that not a single industrial concern in communication with him has been in favor of the bill and that, in addition, advertising and other business agencies using the statistics of the census to guide marketing concerns are all opposed to the bill because the statistics of a five year census would have less value than those collected more frequently.

Business concerns fear also that the returns giving individual identification might be used by snooping government agencies for attack by New Dealers such as Leon Henderson, Harry Hopkins, and others in charge of the so-called "defense agencies."

Heretofore the census bureau has jealously guarded against making individual returns available to other government departments or agencies, but the department of commerce is sponsoring the present bill for revision.

Disclosure Rule Indefinite.

The bill does not define what is meant by a defense agency, but as passed by the senate, broadly provides that:

"Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any individual census report or any information contained therein may be used in connection with the national defense program under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed, with the approval of the President, by the secretary of commerce."

While the bill provides a penalty of not more than $500 fine or up to 6 months imprisonment, or both, for disclosure of information in the census returns, it is still believed by opponents of the measure that this is not sufficient safeguard to assure business concerns that the information they provide will not reach competitors or be used against them by government bureaus.

Bill Pushed Thru Senate.

This may lead corporations to withhold certain vital information which would otherwise be provided readily and destroy the value of the census for statistical purposes, it is believed by some.

The bill was pushed thru the senate without opposition. A senate commerce subcommittee headed by Sen. James M. Mead [D., N. Y.], held only one hearing on the measure with only Census Director J. C. Capt testifying on the bill. Similarly, the bill passed the senate without objection or debate. But house consideration has been more deliberate under Moser's direction.

NORTH AMERICAN CAR'S MERGER PLAN ABANDONED

A recapitalization and merger plan proposed by the management of the North American Car corporation was abandoned yesterday after a special meeting of stockholders, previously adjourned twice for lack of sufficient proxies, failed to produce enough votes to make the plan effective.

The plan had involved the merger with the company of a wholly owned subsidiary, Palace Poultry Car company, and the cancelation of preferred dividend arrears by an exchange of shares.

FAIL TO ALTER PRICE BILL THAT IS FACING VETO

Big Upturns in Food Costs Opposed.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Eleventh hour efforts by administration lieutenants to have the pending price control bill altered before it reaches the house floor apparently failed late today despite authoritative word that the measure faces a Presidential veto in its present form.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson and his general counsel, David Ginsburg, called on Rep. John W. McCormack [D., Mass.], majority leader, and Chairman Henry B. Steagall [D., Ala.] of the house banking committee late in the day to discuss the legislation. They were told, it was believed, that little could be done until the house actually began consideration of the measure.

Three Main Objections.

The administration has three principal objections to the bill as it was approved by the committee—the provision forbidding the establishment of ceilings on farm product prices below the 1919-'29 average; the deletion of licensing powers which proponents said were essential to enforcement of the price ceilings, and the elimination of the authority for the government to buy or sell any commodity for the purpose of controling the price or encouraging production of armament materials.

Administration men contend that the prohibition against fixing farm prices below the 1919-'29 average would permit drastic increases in some food prices. Some spokesmen for the farm bloc have contended, however, that the cost of living could not rise more than 2 per cent under the bill as it now stands.

View on Wage Control.

Some legislators expressed belief the controversy over the farm provisions might be solved if an amendment could be written into the bill to provide some regulation of wages. Inclusion of wages has been opposed by the administration from the start on the ground that if drastic increases in the cost of living are prevented, labor will lack one of the major reasons for demanding higher wages.

Some of the leading farm organizations have indicated they would not object to removal of the provision to hold farm price ceilings at the 1919-'29 average if wage control were included.

The licensing provision would enable the price administrator to license firms dealing in commodities for which price ceilings are established. If the price regulations were violated the licenses could be revoked.

RAILROAD AMONG SEVERAL FINED IN ELKINS ACT CASE

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday assessed fines totaling $21,000 for violation of the Elkins act, which prohibits the granting of unfair concessions or rebates to shippers. The defendants and their fines were: Wabash railroad, $10,000, and two of its employés, Sidney King and R. A. Walton, $2,000 each; Pacific Fruit and Express company, a dispatching firm, $5,000; Gerstein and company, former Chicago commission house, $1,000, and its owner, Louis A. Gerstein, $1,000.

The railroad and the express company both pleaded guilty, and Gerstein entered a plea of nolo contendere [no defense]. According to Assistant District Attorney Lawrence Miller, the defendants had granted certain commission men in the Chicago produce market long term credits, as a result of which the favored men were able to do business virtually on railroad credit.

Judge Igoe continued the cases of several other defendants to Nov. 28.

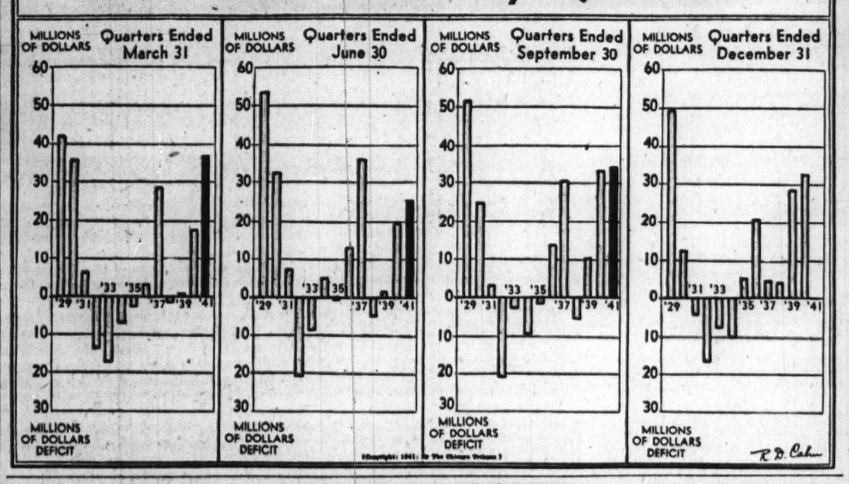
U. S. Steel Profits by Quarters



Bring 185 Tons of Coins Here for Yule Trade

BY LELAND FORRESTER.

Forty-two million coins weighing 185 tons—the biggest shipment ever received by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago—began arriving at the bank's doors early yesterday morning from the San Francisco mint. Seven and a half hours later 30 weary bank employés, picked for their strength, walked out of the vaults after storing away the 6,200 sacks of money that will be released into trade channels in the next five weeks to meet the need for change during the Christmas shopping rush.

The coins, totaling $3,200,000, came by "registered mail" on a special train of seven express cars, protected by 12 postoffice guards armed with riot guns and seven armed mail clerks.

Met by City Police.

The train rolled into the yards of the Burlington railroad at 6:38 a. m., and was met by a sergeant and four men from the traffic division of the police department.

A fleet of 43 five ton mail trucks, arranged in six convoys, began transporting the cargo to the bank about 8 a. m. Each convoy was accompanied by two motorcycle policemen on the way to the bank's Quincy street entrance, where three city policemen and two postoffice inspectors with a crew of five postal guards were stationed.

When the bags were delivered inside the entrance the bank took charge, stationing a line of 15 guards along the way to the vaults.

Every bag was registered separately and was signed for by a representative of the bank at the entrance. Then the 30 picked bank employés—one of them a statistician in the research department—took over the job of stowing the money away in the vaults.

Handle 20 Million Pennies.

Here is what they handled in the following 7½ hours:

Twenty million pennies.
Eight million nickels.
Eight million dimes.
Four million 800 thousand quarters.
One million 200 thousand half dollars.

The pennies were in bags weighing 69 pounds each and containing $100 worth. The silver coins were in bags weighing 55½ pounds each. Each bag of nickels was worth $250 and each bag of the silver coins was valued at $1,000.

Clifford S. Young, president of the bank, and O. J. Netterstrom, assistant vice president in charge of the cash department, were on hand to receive the shipment. Young said the $3,200,000 will fill the needs of trade in the five state 7th federal reserve district only for the next 5 weeks. At least another million dollars of change will be needed before Christmas, Young said. Last year only $1,800,000 of coins was required in seven weeks prior to Christmas.

New Taxes Raise Coin Needs.

Young said that more "change" is needed this year because of an increase in consumer buying, rising pay rolls in armament project centers, and requirements for excise taxes. Cash needs of army camps in the district also are a factor, Young said.

About 55 per cent of the coins will go to banks in Chicago and 45 per cent to other banks in the district outside of Chicago.

Al Beidenweg of the general motor vehicle service of the postoffice department in Washington, D. C., was sent to Chicago to supervise the handling of the coins.

HOME FURNISHING SHOW SETS PEAK IN ATTENDANCE

Buyer attendance at the home furnishings market in the Merchandise Mart, which closed yesterday, established an all time record and exceeded last year's total by 29 per cent, Percy Wilson, managing director of the mart, reported. The preceding all-time midseason record set last May was 7.8 per cent under the new record, Wilson said.

At the fall national furniture and home furnishings show in the American Furniture mart, which closes today, attendance so far has exceeded any other midseason showing on record, officials reported. The largest previous attendance was in 1929, when the total reached 3,277 buyers. For the first five days of the current show 4,262 dealers have registered.

Week's Assemblies of New Cars Show Little Change

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 7 (AP).—Passenger car and truck production this week was estimated today by Ward's Reports, Inc., at 93,585 units, maintaining a level expected to continue thru November. Assemblies last week numbered 92,879; a year ago this week they totaled 123,448.

YOU TOSS AWAY MUCH ARMAMENT IN RAZOR BLADES AND CORSETS!

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—Because steel is the prime requisite of armaments, the American Iron and Steel institute points out that:

American men throw away 3,000 tons of high grade steel annually in used razor blades.

Those tiny staples at the base of match books? One company alone uses 50 tons of steel a year in their manufacture.

Paper clips account for 1,200 tons of steel yearly.

Ten 25-ton tanks could be made out of the steel which each year goes into the steel parts of men's suspenders.

Women's corsets correspond to 25 destroyers a year on the basis of 1,000 tons of steel to a destroyer.

CHARGE PULLMAN BLOCKED USE OF LIGHT RAIL CARS

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 7 (AP).—The United States government charged Pullman, Inc., and three subsidiaries today with restricting the development of lightweight cars in the last 11 years by requiring railroads to use only Pullman equipment.

The government's charges were outlined by Fowler Hamilton, assistant to the attorney general, before a three judge federal court in the government's anti-trust suit against the companies.

He charged that Pullman required railroads to sign an agreement prohibiting use of any other sleeping car equipment and threatened to withdraw the use of its lightweight passenger and sleeping cars when other manufacturing plants began to put new lightweight cars on the market in 1930.

Hamilton told the court the Sherman anti-trust act makes it unlawful for any organization to gain control over an entire market. Whether or not the railroads find the Pullman service satisfactory makes no difference under the law, he asserted.

REALTORS URGE U. S.: LEAVE OUR BUSINESS TO US

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 7 (AP).—The National Association of Real Estate Boards today asked the government to get out of the real estate business and give small business enterprises a break in priorities and arms contracts.

The plea was contained in a statement of policies adopted by delegates to the association's annual convention.

The association condemned, as a "grave menace" and a "negative influence on the further progress of society," any further expansion of government ownership, operation or management of real property in competition with private enterprise.

The association described the promotion and development of real property by a tax supported agency, naming specifically the Federal Housing authority, "for the purpose of creating housing for one class of citizens at the expense of another class of citizens," as a breach in the proper function of government which the association believed should be terminated.

OPA Extends Effective Date of Paperboard Price Rule

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 [Special].—The Office of Price Administration today extended until Dec. 10 the date on which buyers and sellers of paperboard are required to file notices of compliance with the maximum price schedule governing paperboard sold east of the Rocky mountains. Effective date of the schedule, originally Oct. 1, was changed to Nov. 1. The delay was decided upon because the original schedule failed to provide ceilings for "specialty grades."

Brokers Sell Two Firms' Stock After Exchange Close

New York, Nov. 7 [Special].—A block of 15,000 shares of common stock of the Climax Molybdenum company was sold today after the close of the stock exchange by Carl M. Loeb, Rhoades & Co. at 38¾. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane offered a block of 23,419 shares of $5 cumulative preferred stock of Fisher Brothers company at 91. The company operates 250 food stores in the Cleveland area.

Renew British-U. S. Movie Funds Transfer Agreement

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The British treasury and board of trade today renewed for 12 months the agreement under which American movie companies remit to the United States up to 5 million pounds [about 20 million dollars] from revenues derived from the showing of films in the United Kingdom and Ireland.

IBA Asks SEC Registration of All Financing

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—The Investment Bankers association asked congress today to plug the loopholes which it said permitted private financing to escape registration requirements under the securities laws.

R. McLean Stewart.

R. McLean Stewart, IBA spokesman, told the house interstate commerce committee it would be in the public interest to amend the 1933 securities act to require such transactions, as well as public offerings, to be registered with the Securities and Exchange commission.

Says Percentage Is Rising.

He expressed the opinion that if such registration were required, a majority of the issues now going the private route would turn to the public because, among other things, they could get slightly better net prices.

Private industry can not operate on a sound basis unless it has private capital, Stewart testified.

He submitted tables to show that private financing from 1933 to 1940, inclusive, totaled $4,409,853,985, which was 23.11 per cent of the total dollar issue volume. The percentage rose to 43¼ per cent the first eight months of 1941, he added.

Says Public Would Gain.

Investment bankers frankly have a great interest in the trend to private sales, he said, but he expressed the opinion that the general public interest far transcended that.

The securities industry told the committee in a brief filed several months ago that the amendment to make all such issues above 3 million dollars subject to registration would in no way prevent insurance companies or other large institutions from purchasing issues directly from issuers.

Stewart said that from 1934 to 1940, inclusive, 20 insurance companies bought directly a total of $3,125,679,000 of new securities.

PRODUCTION OF STEEL DURING OCTOBER SETS NEW MONTHLY RECORD

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—The American Iron and Steel institute reported today that all monthly steel production records were broken in October with an output of 7,242,683 tons of ingots and castings. The total compared with 6,819,706 in September and 6,644,542 in October, 1940.

October production brought the 10 months' total to 68,793,571 tons, 27 per cent more than the production in the like 1940 period and nearly 2 million tons more than the 66,981,661 ton total for the full 12 months of 1940, itself the industry's record year.

American furnaces operated at 99 per cent of capacity in October compared with 96.1 per cent in October, 1940, when capacities were smaller.

COUNTRY HEADING FOR ALL-OUT RATIONING OF SCARCE SUPPLIES

URGE U. S. TO STOP PILING UP STOCKS OF SCARCE ITEMS

A plea that government agencies refrain from accumulating stock piles of scarce materials beyond reasonable needs was made yesterday by the board of directors and the construction industries council of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

The suggestion was one of several contained in recommendations designed to prevent a stoppage of home building activity and unemployment in the building trades which the board and the council submitted to Mayor Kelly, the city council, the Supply Priorities and Allocations board and the Office of Production Management.

Some of Recommendations.

The association's recommendations included the following:

1. That the SPAB issue a formal interpretation of regulation SPA-9 stating that the order applies only to construction involving scarce material not obtainable without priority assistance, and that it does not apply to construction involving plentiful materials or scarce materials which can be obtained without priority assistance.

2. That government agencies schedule their requirements so that the construction industry can continue to function, and that "bootlegging" of scarce materials be stopped.

3. That the OPM priorities division set up a board to review project specifications and designs to make the most economical use of scarce materials.

4. That priority rules and city regulations be changed to make materials available to home building within the limits of Chicago and other cities where sewer and other facilities are available rather than in outside areas where such facilities are not available.

Readjust Building Code.

5. That Chicago readjust the municipal building code to conform with standards of the federal bureau of standards.

6. That the OPM and its priorities division establish an administrator of construction priority in Chicago and other large cities, with power to approve or disapprove projects before engineering expenses are incurred.

Meantime, at a meeting of the Industrial Management society at the Medinah club, W. Homer Hartz, Chicago area coördinator for the OPM's division of contract distribution, declared that small companies which cannot be adapted to arms work must, "by some method," be permitted to manufacture civilian goods. He urged that small companies be given subcontracts wherever possible.

STEEL INDUSTRY IS SUMMONED TO PARLEY ON ARMS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Representatives of all of the nation's 225 steel mills were summoned by the Office of Production Management today to an Armistice day conference here on the industry's rôle in the armament program.

The meeting, sponsored by the OPM's iron and steel branch, will be addressed by William S. Knudsen, OPM director general, and representatives of the maritime commission, war, and navy departments.

A. D. Whiteside, chief of the iron and steel branch, said Nov. 11 was chosen because it opens National Defense week and because steel is the first ranking defense material.

Continental Can Buys Land Near and in Franklin Park

Continental Can company yesterday took title thru Harold J. Hodgson, district manager for the midwestern states, to 80 acres of land partly in Franklin Park. S. J. Steele, executive vice president, said it was bought from several owners for future expansion. According to revenue stamps on the deeds the price was $80,500. It is bounded on the north by Grand avenue, by 25th avenue on the west, by Fullerton avenue on the south and by the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad on the east.

Survey of Industry's 1942 Material Needs Ordered.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—Rearmament officials today announced plans for eventual direct allocation of most critical materials to industry, shelving the present priorities certificate plan. The changed system would be more successful in keeping essential industries operating, it was believed.

As an initial move, the Supply Priorities and Allocations board ordered a sweeping survey of anticipated demands for critical materials by all industries on a monthly basis in 1942. This would cover both military and civilian industries.

SPAB authorized Donald M. Nelson, executive director of the board as well as priorities director, to obtain the estimates from all industries covering everything from "washing machines to tanks."

More Certainty on Supplies.

This survey, SPAB said, will give greater certainty on supplies to American business and industry as well as provide a clear overall report of the nation's total requirements for raw materials. A similar survey had previously been asked of the military services, maritime commission, and lend-lease agencies.

The present system of preference rating certificates has been found to be inequitable in many instances. Some industries, particularly little concerns, have been shut out because the holders of preferred ratings could stack up supplies of raw materials faster than consumed in production.

Under the priorities system, a company with a high rating is often required to go from one division to another to get its over-all requirements for its product. Under the allocation system, a so-called "end product" division would handle all the raw materials going into the particular product, it was said.

Some forms of direct allocation are already in effect covering aluminum, copper, nickel, synthetic rubber, and cork.

Nelson Explains Situation.

Nelson discussed the situation today in a speech before a construction industry conference conducted by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He assured the industry that the government would eliminate confusion associated with priorities by substituting a system of allocations on armament materials. The OPM aim is, he asserted, to know definitely the needs for materials from all sources so it can be determined at what rate civilian industry can operate after military needs are ascertained. He warned, however, that he did not know how soon the change to allocation could be made, but said "we are at work on it."

"When the demand for materials becomes greater than the supply the whole method of priorities certificates will not work, because it won't necessarily get you the material," Nelson declared.

Simplification Is Sought.

"Certainly a manufacturer, a contractor, or anybody else can do business only on something he has, not on a piece of paper or promise, and some day in the far distant future he may get it. That is why our whole thinking, in order to simplify the system, is to go straight to allocations."

[In New York last night, Nelson told members of the Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America that there would be no plant expansion by food manufacturers during the emergency, except for defense needs. He said he believed food prices had gone about as high as they properly should, and that unreasonable food costs would form the basis for "a runaway inflation."]

To aid small business, Rep. Jerry Voorhis [D., Cal.] today introduced a bill to require prime contractors to subcontract their rearmament orders "in order to prevent the present concentration of national defense business in the hands of large contractors." The bill also would provide that 3 per cent of available scarce materials be reserved for the use of small enterprises employing fewer than 20 persons.

POSTPONE SLASH IN SOUTHEAST'S USE OF POWER

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—The Office of Production Management today postponed for one week the 30 per cent power consumption curtailment previously scheduled to go into effect Nov. 10 in southeastern states. The states affected by the rule are Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama, eastern Mississippi, northwest Florida, and southeastern South Carolina.

The 5 per cent reduction scheduled for North Carolina and the rest of South Carolina was postponed indefinitely. The delay was made possible, OPM announced, because of moderate to heavy rains relieving the power shortage, and increased power deliveries thru the pooling of electricity among utilities.

However, the blackout on illuminated advertising, show windows, and other ornamental lighting will continue in effect in the entire area.

Paul H. Davis & Co. Notes Its 25th Year in Business

Paul H. Davis & Co., Chicago investment and brokerage house, celebrated its 25th anniversary yesterday. Organized as a corporation to deal in investment securities on Nov. 7, 1916, its original associates were Paul H. Davis, Arthur W. Wakeley, and Isaac C. Elston Jr., all of whom are now partners, and the late Dr. George W. Hall. The corporation was changed to a partnership in 1920.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Saturday, Nov. 8, 1941.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

GAYLORD CONTAINER.

What information do you have on Gaylord Container whose stock is on the New York Stock exchange? I am particularly interested in its earnings since its incorporation a few years ago.—F. N.

Answer: The Gaylord Container corporation, St. Louis, Mo., manufactures fibre shipping containers, packing materials, paper bags, wrapping paper, folding cartons, and other related products. Besides two plants in St. Louis and an important pulp and manufacturing unit in Bogalusa, La., the company has plants in Texas, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, California, Wisconsin, and New Jersey. Gaylord Container was incorporated in 1937 as a consolidation of two companies.

The company has 539,221 shares of $5 par common stock and 105,095 shares of 5½ per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock, $50 par, outstanding. At the close of 1940 total assets were $14,531,778 and net working capital was $3,599,124.

Operations have been profitable since incorporation, and sales and profits showed a large increase from 1939 to 1940. Dividends have been paid regularly. Earnings and common stock dividends for years ended Dec. 31 follow:

	Net sales.	Net income.	Dividends.
1940	$16,242,423	$1,391,039	$1.00
1939	13,659,686	662,042	0.70
1938	11,914,593	869,070	1.00
*1937	13,480,341	1,666,145	0.75

*Sales and net income are based on the statements of the consolidated companies. Gaylord's initial dividend was paid in 1937.

Net income for the first six months this year was $606,039, compared with $643,669 in the corresponding 1940 period. Three 12½ cent quarterly dividends and three extras of the same amount have been paid on the common so far in 1941.

The company recently announced it had borrowed an additional $1,000,000 from banks, issuing 2½ per cent notes. Proceeds were to be used to expand the Bogalusa plant. This brought the company's bank loans to $4,000,000. In September Gaylord acquired the St. Louis Container company to meet expansion needs.

MASSACHUSETTS MUTUAL.

I wish to check the financial position of Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company. What are its assets, reserves, and insurance figures?—C. I. L.

Answer: Admitted assets at the end of 1940 were $724,294,000, and net reserves were $530,381,000. Insurance written last year totaled $130,125,000, and insurance in force was $1,989,685,000.

STOCKS DECLINE AGAIN AS NEWS IS UNINSPIRING

Mild Rally Cuts Losses of Many at Close.

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—The stock market worked lower again today. Mild irregularity at the start turned into declines running to a point or more around midday. Improvement cropped up here and there in the final hour, but declines outnumbered gains at the close.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks finished with a net recession of .2 of a point at 40.4. Low priced issues, apparently still under tax selling pressure, accounted for a sizable portion of the turnover. Transfers totaled 701,370 shares, compared with 673,940 Thursday.

Rails Steadier at Close.

Rails steadied at the last but failed to get out in front as carrier managements announced acceptance of the wage awards of the Presidential fact finding board. This picture was complicated, tho after the close when general chairmen of the operating brotherhoods voted flat rejection of the recommendations.

The war news seemed a bit more cheerful but far from convincing marketwise, brokers said, and the usual lightening of commitments for the week-end was a retarding influence. A little hope was inspired by the temporary side tracking of the treasury's multibillion dollar tax proposals, but it was realized the taxing question was far from settled.

Earnings reports and business optimism brought in some support for individual shares. Prospects of severer governmental controls of materials, however, served to dim bullish inclinations in many cases.

CHICAGO VOLUME UP.

Trading of 19,250 shares of Chicago corporation stock, which closed unchanged at ½, boosted transactions on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday to 45,000 shares. Prices were lower at the close, with 22 issues advancing, 50 declining, and 35 closing unchanged.

Other volume leaders were Commonwealth Edison, 4,800 shares, off ¼ to 22; National Cylinder Gas, 900 shares, unchanged at 9¾; Studebaker, 750 shares, unchanged at 5, and Utah Radio, 650 shares, up ⅛ to 1¾.

In the last half hour, after the New York close, Chain Belt, Studebaker, Commonwealth Edison, and Borg-Warner advanced ¼ while Consolidated Oil and Butler Brothers preferred declined ⅛.

EXTRA DIVIDEND VOTED BY MAKER OF CELLOPHANE

Directors of the Sylvania Industrial corporation, New York, maker of cellophane wrapping material, yesterday declared an extra dividend of 35 cents and a regular quarterly payment of 25 cents. Dividends this year total $1.35, compared with $1.25 last year.

The Van Raalte Company, Inc., New York, authorized a year-end dividend of $1.50, against payments of 50 cents in each of the three preceding quarters. Dividends totaled $2.25 in 1940. American Chicle company declared an extra dividend of $1 and the quarterly payment of the same amount.

Henry Holt & Co., New York publisher, declared a 90 cent dividend on the participating class A shares, against a preceding payment of 60 cents on the issue in December last year.

Dividends declared yesterday follow:

WICKARD URGES CUT IN LIMIT ON GRAIN FUTURES

'sks 'Protective' Measure Against War News.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard late yesterday requested the nation's commodity futures markets to reduce by almost half the limits on daily price fluctuations of grain and cotton futures. He proposed the reduction "as a protective measure against price disturbances from wartime developments."

The announcement came on the heels of a 7½ cent advance in soy bean prices on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday to the highest levels in a month, beans for delivery in December selling up to $1.76 a bushel. At the top prices showed an extreme advance of 17¾ cents since Tuesday.

Asks 5 Cent Wheat Limit.

Wickard asked an immediate reduction of daily fluctuation limits to 5 cents a bushel for all grains except soy beans and flaxseed. On the latter two products he requested a limit of 6 cents, and on cotton 1 cent. The existing limits are 10 cents for wheat, rye, barley, and flaxseed; 8 cents for corn and soy beans, 6 cents for oats, and 2 cents for cotton.

Philip R. O'Brien, president of the Broad of Trade, said he could not make any statement last night, as he had not yet received Wickard's message.

Officials of the Commodity Exchange administration said that there had been no unusual price fluctuation in recent days, but that precautionary steps were being taken against any future war developments.

Rains Boost Bean Prices.

Continued wet weather delaying harvesting and reports of crop damage in important producing sections of the soy bean belt stimulated the fresh outburst of buying. The market closed 3¼ to 5½ cents higher, profit taking shaving earlier gains.

Rye and wheat prices were caught in the upswing, rye climbing 2⅝ cents a bushel while the bread grain finished ⅞ to a cent higher. Oats recorded gains of ½ to ¾ cent.

In the wheat pit traders regarded the granting of a billion dollars in credit to Russia hopefully, news of the loan reviving hopes that an export outlet may be developed for the disposal of surpluses. The gain dealers said this also stimulated trading in rye futures. However, buying credited to the Russian loan generally was offset by the unfavorable stand taken by the administration on the price control bill in its present form.

RETAIL BUSINESS RUNS ABOVE 1940, MAINLY DUE TO PRICE UPTURN

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—Business barometers remained stationary this week with the spell of underlying dullness unbroken in trade channels, Dun & Bradstreet said today.

"Retailers still awaited the appearance of cold weather to give impetus to seasonal demand," the agency said. "Sales turnover held above last year's in dollar figures but gains were traced largely to a rise in prices."

Gains in retail trade over a year ago were estimated at 10 to 15 per cent for the country as a whole with the Pacific coast area leading other sections with an increase of 16 to 20 per cent. The middle west gain was 9 to 15 per cent.

LET CONTRACTS TO EXPAND SHIPS, TANK FACILITIES

Chrysler Will Double Size of Plant.

Contracts for expanison of tank producing and shipbuilding facilities costing more than 22 million dollars were let yesterday and advance surveys for a new army camp were ordered.

The war department awarded Chrysler corporation a contract for $18,875,000 to increase tank production. The award covers buildings, machine tools, and equipment which would double the capacity of the company's tank plant. The new allotment increases the total cost of the Detroit tank arsenal to about $38,875,000.

Shipbuilder Gets 3½ Million.

The Maritime commission announced it had made allocations totaling $3,528,050 for expansion of facilities at the Oregon Shipbuilding corporation plant at Portland, Ore. The new funds bring to $12,134,825 total allocations to the corporation, which has contracts to build 43 cargo ships, two of which are scheduled for delivery this month.

Victor Nelson, president of the Globe Shipbuilding company, Superior, Wis., announced the company has been awarded a $5,500,000 contract to build five ocean going tugs for the maritime commission.

Pick Site for Army Camp.

A site near Florence, Ariz., was selected by the war department for a possible future army camp and an architectural engineering contract was let to a Phoenix, Ariz., company for advance planning. The camp, if built, would house 7,000 soldiers and cost approximately $4,507,407, the war department said. The survey is being made under a 15 million dollar appropriation for the planning of posfuture expansion of the army.

ADD COAL CHIEF TO OTHER TITLES HELD BY ICKES

No Shortage in General Supplies Indicated.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Harold L. Ickes, only a few days free of the controversial eastern oil "shortage," bounded back into the spotlight today as President Roosevelt put in his hands the responsibility of assuring adequate coal to keep armament plants humming and homes warm in the winter.

The President made him the "solid fuels coördinator," a post similar to the fuel administrator of the World war, when the nation was put under coal rationing.

While Mr. Roosevelt in his letter of appointment made no mention of a possible coal shortage he did stress that "it becomes increasingly urgent to assure that the supply of solid fuels will be adequate."

Coal Supply Above Normal.

Luther Harr, bituminous coal consumers' counsel, subsequently issued a statement that stocks presently were "above normal," and that "this would seem to indicate that no immediate shortage is likely altho there are certain deficiencies in special industrial uses."

The President told Ickes he would remain the defense petroleum coördinator. Thus he is the supply chieftain for the greater portion of the nation's sources of energy—coal and petroleum. Moreover, as interior secretary he manages one of the nation's largest electric energy operations, thru the huge power dams in the west.

Ickes' Aids Refuse Comment.

While "solid fuels" include coal, coke, and other substances bituminous coal alone is the source of about half of America's energy supply.

Remembering the bitter controversy that attended the asserted petroleum shortage in the east, Ickes' aides declined to discuss the nation's coal situation. The cabinet member, who three weeks ago declared an end to gasoline restrictions in the east, now is en route to the capital from the west coast.

Mr. Roosevelt wrote Ickes that he, in coöperation with solid fuels producers and consumers, was to "carry on such programs as will promote economy, and efficiency in the development, production, distribution, utilization, transportation, and handling of solid fuels, and as will facilitate the operation of the solid fuels industries so as to meet the requirements of the national defense programs."

CEA BARS FIRM FOR 5 YEARS ON GRAIN MARKETS

The Commodity Exchange administration announced yesterday that all grain exchanges must refuse to accept any business from Clarence J. Burns Co., Inc., Aberdeen, S. D., for a period of five years, effective Nov. 10. The CEA also banned the acceptance of orders from Clarence J. Burns, P. T. Burns, Dorothea Burns, and Roy L. Morgan for the same period.

J. M. Mehl, chief of CEA, said in Washington the firm was charged with making false and misleading statements to customers and "bucketing" of customers' orders.

None of those mentioned were members of the Chicago Board of Trade.
